ONE KILLED IN NEW MINE BATTLE

Today

The President's Plan.
Deadlock in Italy.
Getting and Keeping.
The No-Stop Diesel Engine.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE PRESIDENT said a few words, at the end of last week, and immediately, in all of the stock exchanges and business circles of the world, was born a feeling of hope and encouragement.

The President's suggestion comes to this:

"Let all the nations stop hounding each other for money, at this peak of world depression. Let payment of debts among nations, principal and interest, be suspended for one year, including reparations imposed upon Germany."

Uncle Sam makes the proposition with good grace, since EVERYBODY OWES HIM AND HE OWES NOBODY.

The French government probably will agree to the arrangement, with reluctance, if at all, for France must give up more than she will save. However, if all other nations agree, France, for the sake of the general world effect, will probably agree also.

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S plan was greeted with cheers in the Commons, when MacDonald accepted the President's suggestion. That naturally would happen, for the British now pay out more than they take in.

Germany is delighted, and while stock prices went up 2 to 12 points in New York, following a substantial rise on Saturday, increases in Germany were much greater. The mark went to par, stock in the Reichsbank went skyrocketing. Cotton rose $3 a bale, wheat 2 cents a bushel. It was a happy day in many places. Let us hope the happiness will continue.

WHILE THE WORLD is grateful to President Hoover for having said the thing that has lighted the world gloom, at least temporarily, it is understood by businessmen that the President possesses knowledge concerning conditions in Europe that made urgent action necessary.

THE VATICAN and Mussolini's government have reached a deadlock. The discussion turns on the question as to who shall control the education of youth in Italy. The Pope, who speaks of youth as "the most exquisite part of the church," declares that in striking at youth, Mussolini has struck at "the heart of the Pope." There seems at present little hope of an understanding.

Mussolini speaks of the Vatican government as an entirely foreign nation, complaining that meetings of "Catholic Action" on Vatican soil can be compared with his Fascisti holding their meetings in the city of Washington, D. C.

MR. MASON, an editor, wants the best story about "How I Got My Job," only graduates of 1931 classes to answer.

Getting a job is only moderately important. KEEPING A JOB and achieving success where you start, is the big thing.

When James Simpson was young, he decided to work for Marshall Field, because Field was the greatest merchant in the world. He worked for Marshall Field, and is now head of Marshall Field & Co., and owns it.

JOHN S. BURKE, out of Yale, walking along Fifth avenue in New York, liked the looks of the new Altman Building, and said to himself:

"I think I'd like a job there."

He got in, STUCK TO IT. Now, since the death of Col. Friedsam, he is head of Altman & Co.

These are exceptions, but success usually consists in STICKING. If you can't succeed in one place, you probably will not succeed in another.

FROM TIME to time in this column, you have read about the Diesel engine, predictions that it will solve the flying machine problem, reducing costs, ending fire, and predictions that the Diesel engine will make the isolated farmer independent of the power company.

Did you notice the Diesel engine in the annual 500-mile automobile race at Indianapolis? One car, not especially built for racing, had a Diesel engine and it was the only car that went through the race without stopping, or taking on fuel.

It averaged nearly 90 miles an hour, and the total cost for fuel, most important of all, was $1.75 cents for 500 miles.

THE DRIVER could just as well have carried four passengers, and if he had been going to California, the trip for each would have amounted to less than $2. That is something for railroads to think about.

And why don't they, by the way, build light trains, or individual cars, driven by Diesel engines, and thus forestall airplane competition for years to come and make full use of their marvelous rights of way?

UNITED STATES mayors that went on a free trip to France return "indignant at tales of their conduct abroad." Mayor Key, of Atlanta, never said "Prohibition is abominable."

Mayor Porter, of Los Angeles, didn't walk out with his wife at Havre, because he saw men drinking wine to the health of the President of the United States. He left because he thought the party was over.

Nothing has been heard from the mayor who made a speech at the tomb of the French unknown soldier. Silence is always observed at that tomb, but perhaps the mayor thought silence had lasted long enough, like Mark Twain. He saw a sacred light that had been burning in a pagan temple for 1,000 years. "That's long enough," said Twain, and blew it out.

City Gets New State Hospital

PINCHOT SIGNS $2,000,000 HARRIS BILL

Measure Provides Erection Of Psychiatric Institute At Pitt Medical Center

By ED PRENDERGAST
Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 23.—Pittsburgh was virtually assured a new $2,000,000 state psychiatric hospital today with the signing by Gov. Pinchot of the Harris hospital bill.

This measure, sponsored by Senator Frank J. Harris, of Crafton, was given the state executive's signature shortly before noon, in the presence of Senator Harris and representatives of the State Medical Association and of welfare organizations.

The Harris bill provides for the location of the new institution in the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center, Oakland, as part of the scheme of centralization of medical study and service. The land was donated by the university.

SURVEY ORDERED

The bill empowers the Department of Property and Supplies to survey the property, to conduct all the preliminary study necessary to the erection of a 250-bed hospital and the drawing of plans. An appropriation of $25,000 goes with the bill to defray the expenses of the survey.

Legislation to appropriate the $2,000,000 or more necessary for the construction and outfitting of the hospital will be put in at the next session of the Legislature. It is understood that the amount necessary will be placed in the state budget and provided for by the administration.

RESEARCH PROPOSED

The hospital, it was explained by Senator Harris and other proponents of the institution, will be used to study and conduct research of early mental cases. There will be free service, with 150 rooms and additional capacity for 100 daily cases.

Physicians, pointing out the advantages of such an institution, say that the study of early mental troubles is gaining more attention from physicians because the havoc wrought by mental diseases is greater than that of tuberculosis in that it affects a wider group.

It was emphasized that the institution will not be custodian of hopeless patients, but merely treat cases that have a chance to be cured.

Dr. Hammers Testifies in City Food Quiz

John Vachetta, former manager of the Plaza restaurant, of which Bertram L. Succop, deposed director of the Department of Supplies was part owner, today was a witness before the grand jury continuing its inquiry into city purchases. Vachetta, also active in veterans' organizations, was called to testify, it was reported, regarding contributions made by City Council to various veteran groups.

Vachetta was followed by Dr. J. S. Hammers, superintendent of the City Home at Mayview, whose testimony was expected to deal with food purchases there. He was in the grand jury room for 38 minutes. While waiting to be called, Dr. Hammers refused to discuss the situation at Mayview, saying:

"I don't intend to say one word about anything."

The calling of Dr. Hammers followed the lengthy questioning of W. C. Clydesdale, storekeeper at Mayview. Clydesdale was closeted with the grand jurors 45 minutes, the longest period any

OCEAN FLIERS START TODAY

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., June 23.—(AP.)—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty landed their plane on the flying field here today, ate a hasty lunch and immediately prepared to hop o this afternoon for Berlin, ffGermany. They left Roosevelt Field, New York, early this morning.

The fliers, who plan to fly around the world with their first stop in the German capital, joined two others fliers who are contemplating the long flight across the Atlantic, Otto Hillig and Holger Hoiriis.

Hillig and Hoiriis have their plane fueled and are awaiting weather reports before taking off for Denmark, but the impatient new arrivals said they were in such a hurry to get off for Berlin they did not have time to pose for photographers.

New 'Miss Universe' To Join Follies Here

Dorothy Dell, at present the only "Miss Universe" in Florenz Ziegfeld's well known "Follies," is not to have that distinction much longer. There will be two Miss Universes in the Nixon soon.

Mlle. Nita Duchateau, recently proclaimed "Miss Universe" for the current year in the Galveston, Texas, beauty pageant, will arrive in Pittsburgh this evening, to join Mr. Ziegfeld's array of feminine loveliness.

'Ukulele Ike' Wins Contested Divorce

LOS ANGELES, June 23.—(AP.)—Clifton A. Edwards, known on the stage and screen as "Ukulele Ike," won his contested suit for divorce against Irene L. Edwards, but failed in his efforts to set aside a $100,000 property settlement.

FRANCE DRAFTS COUNTER-PLAN ON DEBTS

Provides German Payments And Refund to Berlin's Credit in World Bank

PARIS, June 23.—(AP.)—Information in diplomatic circles indicates France is now working on a definite counter project to the Hoover war debt proposal which will be submitted to the cabinet tomorrow.

This counter plan, it was said today, is based upon Mr. Hoover's principle of helping Germany, but it also takes inito consideration France's desire to keep on with the Young plan and to assist Germany by payments through the Bank for International Settlements.

REFUND PLAN

The underlying idea is that unconditional reparations payments could be received and then paid back to Germany through the Bank for International Settlements.

It was reported that the cabinet at its meeting today agreed to the broad lines of this formula but the details must be worked out and are subject to modification at tomorrow's meeting.

The cabinet discussed two possible answers to President Hoover's moratorium proposal today and both of them were turned down.

CONGRESS CANVASSED

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP.)—President Hoover is making a complete canvass of all members of the Senate and House to ascertain their attitude toward his proposed war debt-reparations holiday.

It was said at the White House

MRS. NICK PILIPOVICH AND HER BROOD . . . THE HUSBAND-FATHER WAS FATALLY SHOT

Mrs. Pilipovich and her fatherless children, pictured at Arnold City today after unarmed Pilipovich, crying "Spare my wife" to deputy sheriffs, was fatally shot down.

WITNESS TELLS OF BATTLE

FAYETTE CITY, Pa., June 23.—An eye-witness account of the battle this morning between miners, deputies and guards was given today by Walter Wozniak, 25, National Miners' Union striker, who saw the shooting of his father-in-law, Bennie Bialon.

Wozniak said:

"There were about 35 of us, including 15 kids, along the road at 5:35 this morning when a truck loaded with miners, and carrying coal and iron policemen, came along.

"When the truck started toward the 'patch' two of them jumped off. That was answered by one of the kids throwing an egg.

"One of the officers threw a tear gas bomb, but he didn't know how to work it and it failed to go off. Then another officer threw one.

"The men started to scatter and a mine official shouted:

"One shot Bennie Bialon, 51. He's my father-in-law.

"Pilipovich was coming out of his store and he was hit and went down yelling. He dropped in his yard and it looked like he was dead.

"Then the other fellows got hit.

"There were eight deputies and all seemed to be shooting. Everybody was yelling and screaming and trying to get out of the way, but they kept on shooting."

Wozniak said he knew the two officers whom he accused of starting the shooting.

Girl-Widow Tells How Guards Killed Mate

Mrs. Nick Pilipovich, 19-year-old wife of the storekeeper slain in today's Arnold City riot, with tears streaming down her cheeks and his five small children gathered about, told this story of how the trouble started:

"I was in the kitchen starting the fire. Nick went out on the porch of the store. I heard some loud talking, and went out, too. A tear gas bomb hit Nick in the chest. Then the shooting started and he fell down. He was not making any trouble. Why did they shoot him?"

Pilipovich has been in business at Arnold City for five years. His first wife died a year ago, leaving five children, Fred, 10, Anna, 8, Charles, 5, Bertha, 3, and Peter, 2.

ARNOLD CITY DEPUTIES WOUND 5 IN RIOT

Storekeeper Slain as He Seeks to Protect Wife; Mine Boss, Coal Police Held

Besides today's fatal battle at Arnold City, the chief developments in the coal strike situation today were these:

1—Investigation into yesterday's fatal fight at Wildwood was ordered by Gov. Pinchot and by the district attorney, sheriff and coroner of Allegheny County.

2—Coroner McGregor, planning open inquest, declared deputies seemed to have been trying conscientiously to enforce the court injunction against violence and picketing at Wildwood.

3—Sheriff Cain declares deputies fired in self-defense and that he stands behind them.

5—Year's contract signed by United Mine Workers and Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation.

Eight of the guards and Mine Supt. Ernest Barnes are being held in the sheriff's office at Uniontown pending the filing of charges.

SLAIN ON PORCH

Nick Pilipovich, Arnold City storekeeper, was shot to death as he stood on the porch of his store, pleading with the deputies not to endanger his wife.

These injured men were treated at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital: John Galla, 39, Arnold City, shot in the arm; Mike Sapko, 47, Arnold City, shot in the arm; Bennie Brown, 51, Arnold City, shot over heart and in kidneys; James Davis, 41, Arnold City, shot in abdomen. The latter two are said to be in a serious

Greta Garbo 'Clears' Report of Marriage

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 23.—(AP.)—What the Smiths are to America, the Andersons are to Sweden, says Greta Garbo, and she ought to know. She came from there.

A reporter asked her to clarify a Copenhagen dispatch which said she would marry a Mr. Anderson, a merchant, there. Miss Garbo said:

"It might as well have been that I am going to marry a Mr. Smith right here in Hollywood."

Woman Wounds Self With Gun, Arrested

Mrs. John Matala, 24, of 194 Steuben street, was to be arraigned today on a charge of disorderly conduct, preferred against her, according to police, after she shot herself in the left shoulder. The shooting, police said, took place in her home last night. Mrs. Matala was taken to the South Side Hospital by West End police, where her wound was dressed.

Pet Cat Attacks And Bites Woman

Attacked by her pet cat, Mrs. Mary Uhlary, 30, of 731 Lockhart street, today was recovering in her home from a bite on the right arm. She was treated at the Allegheny General Hospital. Mrs. Uhlary turned the cat over to the Animal Rescue League for observation.

Doctor Loses Plane Race To Niece's Deathbed

Dr. Harry S. Davies, Washington (D. C.) physician, made an airplane race with death, only to arrive at West Penn Hospital five minutes after his 2½-year-old niece, Anna Davies, died, late yesterday.

Anna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert G. Davies, 1203 Duffield street, had been ill with pneumonia for three weeks. A week ago her condition became dangerous and she was removed to the hospital. Yesterday morning she began to sink and her uncle was notified.

condition. One other, James Netrovick, was treated for minor cuts and bruises at Arnold City.

A group of men from Arnold City were en route in trucks to Pricedale to work when they were intercepted by a group of pickets at the Pittsburgh Coal Company's Arnold City mine.

BOY EGGS DEPUTY

A boy in the crowd which collected is said to have hurled an egg. The guards hurled tear gas bombs and then began shooting, witness reported.

The shooting occurred in front of the store of Pilipovich, who ran to the porch and shouted:

"Spare my wife."

He had hardly uttered the words when he slumped to the porch floor with a bullet through his heart.

Mine Superintendents Ernest Barnes and William Ferguson, it was reported, were directing the transportation of working miners in three trucks, under the protection of the deputies and coal and iron police when the trouble started.

STATE POLICE RESPOND

State police patroling nearby mines, were rushed to the scene and took charge of the situation and began an investigation.

C. E. Lesher, vice president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, said:

"Our Arnold City mine has not been working since December, although the men and their families have been living there and working in nearby mines. Deputy sheriffs generally guard our property."

From National Miners Union headquarters, sponsors of yesterday's mass demonstration which precipitated the trouble at Wildwood, came bitter denunciation of police and officials whom they charged with murder in the death of Pete Zigarac.

Pinchot, Two County Agencies in Probe

While Gov. Pinchot, the sheriff, the district attorney and the coroner probed deeper into the killing yesterday of a striker and the wounding of 12 others at Wildwood, federal immigration authorities launched an investigation with a view to deportation of alien undesirables mixed up in labor troubles.

Gov. Pinchot, in Harrisburg, gave out the following statement:

"I have ordered an investigation into the Wildwood battle and will have today's disorders investigated as well."

Coroner McGregor, after a visit to the scene of yesterday's clash, declared the trouble seemed to have been the result of a conscientious effort of deputy sheriffs to enforce the court's injunction against violence and picketing by the National Miners Union.

PARK INVESTIGATES

District Attorney Park's investigation was still in progress. County detectives were expected to report their findings later in the day.

State police and investigators for the Governor were at Wildwood today. Their reports will go to the Governor.

STRIKERS JAILED

Three more strikers, charged with an attack on two special mine deputies at Harmarville Sunday, were lodged in jail today on informations sworn to by Chief Deputy B. V. Coffey. They were charged with felonious assault and battery. A federal detainer was placed against one of the men.

The men gave their names as Fred Orloff, 35, of Harmarville, and George Morris, 37, and Alex Simon, 26, both of Russellton. They are alleged to have set upon Deputies W. G. Mennear and L. C. Flinn, beating them with clubs. Orloff, an unnaturalized Austrian, was held for immigration authorities. He was in this country during the World War, it is alleged, without registering.

Six women were arrested in Castle Shannon today on complaint of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, who alleged the women hurled stones and mud at company houses. Those arrested were Mary Yankowsky, 55, said to be the ringleader; Julia Aimen, Anna Davis, Alberta Kavish, Rose Sendra and Mary Furick. They were released in $300 bail each pending a hearing.

Terminal Pact Held Move for Peace

The signing of a year's agreement between the United Mine Workers and the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, announced today, was regarded as the first definite step toward peace in the present coal strike.

It was regarded, too, as the first effective step in what seems to be a race between mine operators, state officials and conservative labor to support the United Mine Workers as against the National Miners' Union, the Communist organization which has sponsored and directed the strike, and has figured in all the violence.

The United Mine Workers' contract with the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, signed at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the Terminal company offices, calls for recognition of the U. M. W. A., and the right of the employes to elect one of their number to act as checkweighman at each of the mines. It stabilizes and puts into effect an increased wage scale at four Terminal mines, Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 8.

SCALE RATES

The scale establishes the pick rate from 55 to 60 cents a ton and a uniform rate of $4.50 a day for skilled inside labor and $4 a day for common labor. In the Avella field, the new wage scale virtually grants a 50 per cent increase to machine loaders and cutters and increases the day rate from 50 cents to $1.50 a day.

The contract will be submitted for ratification to members of the local unions at meetings called for tomorrow. These will be closed to all except United Mine Workers, the membership of which has been thrown open for a 48-hour period by special dispensation of the International to accept members without fee. The charter closes again Thursday midnight, according to announcement of union officials, and those desiring membership after this date will be assessed $10 each.

Coroner Orders Inquest, Says Officers Obeyed Court Injunction

Coroner W. J. McGregor, in a statement issued at noon, said:

"Hindsight is better than foresight. It's easy to sit back and theorize as to what should have been done if you had been on the scene. It's easy to criticize after everything is all over and I am not going to criticize any one.

"I am going to hold an inquest at the earliest possible moment and give every one an opportunity to tell his own story on the witness stand and let the jury decide.

"I have talked to practically every one and there seems to be no question according to the information given me that the orders of the court were being violated and defied and that the deputy sheriffs apparently were conscientiously trying to preserve peace and order and to prevent the stoning of miners on their way to work which had been going on violently for some little time before the shooting occurred.

"There seems to be no question that this was a mobilization of strikers and strike sympathizers from various sections of the county, apparently operating on some prearranged plan."

VOTE MACHINE BILL ATTACKED AT QUIZ

Richards Bill Introduced To Legalize One Firm's Device, Witness Says

HARRISBURG, June 23.—(AP.)—John W. Glover, of Philadelphia, today said that the Richards voting machine bill, now before the Governor for his consideration, had been introduced in the Legislature to make the Automatic Voting Machine comply with Pennsylvania law.

Testifying before the Senate Voting Machine Investigating Committee, he charged that the machine, manufactured by the Automatic Voting Machine Corporation, of Jamestown, N. Y., does not comply with the present law with regard to lockout devices and for this reason asserted that the contract between the Philadelphia County Commissioners and the company for the machines was fraudulent because of the lack of the lockout device.

QUIZZED ON EXPENSE

Secretary of the Commonwealth Richard J. Beamish asked Glover whether he had paid all of the expense of his various suits in Philadelphia County to contest the legality of these machines and he replied that he had. Beamish then asked him the nature of his work as a ship surveyor and what his earnings averaged a month.

Senator John Howell, Lackawanna, objected to this line of questioning and Senator Frank Harris, Allegheny, chairman of the committee, finally ruled out the question.

THREE SUITS

Glover said he had instituted three suits as a taxpayer in Philadelphia and had appeared as a witness in court suits involving voting machines in Delaware and Lancaster counties. He asserted that he was not in the employ of or connected in any way with any voting machine company.

Other witnesses who appeared today before the committee were Frank E. Wood, deputy secretary of the commonwealth; S. Proctor Brady, representing the Poole Engineering Company, of Baltimore, which manufactures the electromatic voting machine; Russell F. Griffin, representing the Automatic Voting Machine Corporation, of Jamestown, N. Y., and Norman Kephart, representing the Shoup Voting Machine Company, of Union City, N. J.

MARSHALL OUT FOR JUDGESHIP

The independent candidacy of Attorney Thomas M. Marshall for Common Pleas Court judge was announced today.

Member of the law firm of Marshall & Marshall, he has been an active trial lawyer in the Pittsburgh district for the past 15 years. He was associated in the law practice with his father, Thomas M. Marshall, Jr., who is still a practicing attorney here, and for the past five years was associated with his uncles, the late Rody P. Marshall, and Meredith R. Marshall, now retired.

He said:

"In announcing my candidacy, I believe that my long, varied and active experience as a trial lawyer qualifies me in seeking the office to which I aspire. I am an independent candidate and have formed no alliance with any group or organization."

N. Y. Bank Head Gets Six Years in Prison

NEW YORK, June 23.—(INS.)—Bernard K. Marcus, president of the defunct bank of United States, today was sentenced to from three to six years in prison following his conviction with Saul Singer and his son Herbert Singer on the charge of feloniously misapplying funds of a bank susidiary. Saul Singer was sentenced to an equal penalty. Herbert Singer received an indeterminate sentence, which will mean from six months to three years in jail.

MANLEY WINS RENO DIVORCE

One University of Pittsburgh romance was ended today and another was waiting for the divorce courts of Reno to take their course.

Louis K. Manley, former dean of the University of Pittsburgh's School of Business, was granted a divorce behind closed doors in Judge Benjamin Curler's Reno court late yesterday, dispatches say.

Manley charged that his wife, Sarah Mitchell Manley, had domineering attitude and had called him a "cad" and a "liar."

The Manleys were married at Martins Ferry, O., June 27, 1912. They have two children, Sarah Jane, 7, and David Mitchell, 5.

Mrs. Manley did not appear and was not represented by counsel.

She has refused to comment upon the divorce proceedings from her apartment in Squirrel Hill.

Attorney Samuel Platt said Manley expected to continue his residence here.

Meantime, Mrs. Ruth Houston Hill, who filed complaint for divorce against Erle G. Hill, associate professor of metallurgy at the University of Pittsburgh, June 3, apparently must wait until the end of a 30-day period which the defendant has for appearance.

Dr. Hill thus far has not answered the summons.

DR. CARR GOES BEFORE STARR DEATH JURY

Samuel Untermeyer Appears As Physician's Counsel; Stepfather Also Witness

International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Dr. G. Jameson Carr, ocean going doctor, the man supposed to know more about the past of Starr Faithfull than anyone else, today went before the grand jury investigating the strange death of the Greenwich Village playgirl.

The ship surgeon, who had treated the neurotic beauty at various times, told his story with a lawyer outside the grand jury room ready to advise him.

MEDICAL ETHICS BAR

Dr. Carr engaged Samuel Untermyer, noted New York attorney, who conferred with District Attorney Elvin Edwards and County Judge Lewis J. Smith regarding just how much his client could tell about his professional relations with Starr without violating the British and American medical code of ethics.

Dr. Carr made a special trip from England to aid in the solution of the mystery. He brought with him several letters mailed to him by Starr immediately before her bruised and drugged body was found on the seaside sands of Long Beach.

STEPFATHER SNUBS DOCTOR

Starr was said to have been infatuated with the ship surgeon who discouraged this attitude. She paid a last visit to him on the liner Franconia before it sailed. She stowed away and was put off at Quarantine on a tug.

Other witnesses who followed Dr. Carr into the grand jury chamber included Stanley Faithfull, step-father of the dead girl, who has evidenced a lack of cordiality toward the doctor; Mrs. Jack Barr, of Larchmont, N. Y., who told of her friend, Mrs. Loretto Fitzpatrick, having seen Starr in the Grand Central Station the day she left her home; Mrs. Fitzpatrick; Murray Edelman, taxicab driver, who claims he saw Starr at a steamship pier; T. W. Anderson, Greenwich Village artist, at whose studio Starr posed as a model.

3 Killed in Blast At British Factory

WAREHAM, Dorset, England, June 23.—(AP.)—Three men are known to have been killed and it is feared that others also lost their lives in an explosion today at the Royal Naval cordite factory at Holton Heath, near here.

The explosion occurred in the nitroglycerin department of the factory. The shock was felt many miles away and one man, two miles distant, was knocked out of his chair by its force.

Soviet Rules Wheat Market, Expert Says

GUELPH, Ontario, June 23.—(AP.)—No country in the world can compete with Russia in the wheat market today, Prof. James Dickson, of the University of Wisconsin, last night told members of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists. TAXI SERVICE EXTENDED HERE AS STRIKE RIOTS GROW

DRIVER BEATEN, CAB WRECKED, 9 ARRESTED

Company Plans to Run Cars Until Midnight; East End Drivers Driven From Stand

Operation of taxicabs in widely separated sections of the city until midnight will be inaugurated today, it was announced by officials of the Parmelee Transportation Company as the first of three shifts took up stations in North Side, East End, Oakland and South Hills.

Additional police reserves were to be assigned to duty as the result of the flare-up of violence which marked the tenth day of the strike yesterday. Seven men and three boys arrested in connection with the disorders in which one cab was stolen in Squirrel Hill and wrecked and one driver beaten and another stoned were to be arraigned in Police Court today.

PLAN CABS TO MIDNIGHT

The first shift of drivers went on duty at 8:30 a. m. The second was to start at 10:30 and the third at 2 p. m. This latter group will continue on duty until midnight. In all there will be 148 cabs in operation, according to Paul D. Houston, president of the Yellow Cab Company and head of the Parmelee interests in Pittsburgh.

Attacking Edward Mazlrow, of 822 Anaheim street, with a pop bottle, a crowd of nine strikers and sympathizers forced Mazlrow and J. F. McCabe, Jr., of 405 Second avenue, Carnegie, to leave their cab at a stand at Forbes and Shady avenue, police say, while the demonstrators drove it down Aylesboro avenue, where it was abandoned.

CAB RUNS WILD

Running wild, the cab collided with an automobile of James Howley, of Pontiac, Mich., halting after it had crashed into the gates of the Homewood Cemetery at Aylesboro and South Dallas avenue. Several children in its path narrowly escaped being struck.

Albert Hoffman, 36, of 4611 Fillmore street, was arrested in connection with the incident.

Arthur Hoffman, 36, 4611 Fillmore street, and Raymond Campbell, 24, of 6 Ayers street, arrested in connection with the incident, were held for court, Hoffman on a charge of larceny and Campbell charged with assault and battery. Hoffman also was charged with felonious assault and battery.

MILK BATTLES THROWN

The others were arrested by South Side police after milk bottles and stones had been hurled at a passing cab at Carson and South Sixth street. Held in South Side Police Station they said they were Joseph Kowalski, 20; his brother, Michael, 21, both of 1000 Braddish street; Milton Stasenko, 27, of 36 South Sixteenth street; Daniel Smarash, 22, of 721 Sarah street; Edward Nedsa, 15, of 95 South Eleventh street; Nicholas Palshoff, 15, of 505 Carson street; John Bowkeym, 15, of 1721 Muriel street, and Michael Smerecky, 19, of 606 Cabot way. Michael Kowalski, Smarash and Smerecky, identified by Fred Haddering, taxicab driver, as three men who threw bottles at him, were held on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Ralph N. Parkhill, of Aspinwall, charged with malicious mischief. The others were discharged.

witness has been questioned since the inquiry began.

Clydesdale is reported to be thoroughly familiar with the operation of the warehouse at Mayview and is understood to have been strict with food dealers. He is credited with being responsible for the return of a number of consignments of food which he held were not up to specifications.

EXAMINE BOOKS

Another development today was the examination by Main & Co., Citizens' Committee auditors, of records of the L. H. Parke Company, from whom the city made a number of food purchases, even though they were not the lowest bidder.

The examination was made by M. C. Conick and A. F. Burke. It followed the calling of Miss Bertha Bennett, assistant secretary and treasurer of the Park company into the jury room. Main & Co. made several attempts to examine the books during the dual audit of the Department of Supplies. J. M. Irwin, an official, and Jerry Cronin, salesman of the Parke company, are awaiting call to testify.

E. C. Robertson, assistant sales manager of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, was the first witness when the grand jury convened. He was called, according to reports, to discuss the city's purchases of coal which annually total between $175,000 and $200,000.

COAL CONTRACTS

Informed persons said Robertson was to testify relative to the award of the city contracts for coal to others than the lowest bidder in 1929. It was revealed a few days ago that Mayor Charles H. Kline, to prom protest was made, discregarded the complaint.

He was followed by John Carlin, clerk in Succop's department. Next came Charles Zoller, of Osward & Hess, whose testimony was expected to deal with the charge made earlier in the investigation that city meat inspectors had left city inspection stamps with shippers.

Among the other witnesses today were Robert S. Whitley, of Libby, McNeil and Libby; Otto Rectanus, harness manufacturer; E. T. Waldschmidt, a salesman, brother of City Solicitor Waldschmidt; A. L. Hirsch, of the Contractors Machinery and Supply Company; W. L. Peterman, of the Homestead Ford Agency; M. H. Lynch, of the Royston-Cadillac Agency; Frank Baker, of the Seven Baker Brothers; A. A. Agnew, of the Duquesne Coffee Company; William W. Miller, of the Pittsburgh Harness and Supply Company, and Vincent J. Boylan, of Fallowfield street.

ST. JOHN DOCKS TO BE REBUILT

ST. JOHN, N. B., June 23.—(AP.)—With the western half of St. John harbor in ruin as the result of yesterday's $5,000,000 fire, plans for at least partial replacement were being considered today.

Government property, sheds, houses, elevators, schooners and dories were destroyed. Seven families were made homeless. About 250 men were thrown out of work and many fishermen lost their means of livelihood.

The future of the port, it is believed depends largely on the attitude of the Dominion Government.

Jahncke Gives Four Flags to French Navy

PARIS, June 23.—(AP.)—The French navy was presented with four flags yesterday by Ernest Lee Jahncke, under-secretary of the United States Navy, whose wife and daughter attended the presentation ceremony at the Mount Vernon building of the colonial exposition.

Inscriptions on the flags said they represented the donor's esteem for the pioneer of the French navy who founded Louisiana, in which state Jahncke has his home. The banners symbolize New Orleans, the United States, France, and Louisiana.

INDICT MAYOR IN GANG PROBE

DETROIT, June 23.—(INS.)—The special grand jury's expose of gangland and racketeering today produced a fresh sensation when it was learned that one of the secret indictments returned by the investigating body called for the arrest of Rudolph Tenerowicz, mayor of the suburb of Hamtramck and acknowledged political power here.

A bench warrant was also issued for Fred W. Dibble, president of the Hamtramck Council. The two men, with four former council members, are alleged to have accepted a bribe of $8,250 in connection with the awarding of a school contract, of which racketeers had gained control.

The grand jury has already indicted Robert A. McPherson, deputy chief of detectives, and Prosecutor Harry S. Toy stated that many more "eminent personages" had been secretly indicted.

Former Senator's Daughter Divorced

RENO, Nev., June 23.—(AP.)—Mrs. Emily Johnson Oxtoby, daughter of former U. S. Senator E. S. Johnson of South Dakota, obtained a divorce here from A. P. Oxtoby, Jr. She charged cruelty.

The Oxtobys were married in Washington, D. C., February 3, 1921, and he now resides in Ohio County, W. Va. There are no children.

RUTH, DEFYING HURTS, INSISTS ON SEA HOP

ST. JOHN, N. B., June 23.—(AP.)—Injured when landing after a flight from New York, Ruth Nichols was still intent today on following the Lindbergh trail to Paris.

X-ray pictures today revealed that two vertebrae of her spine were cracked, but her doctor reported that, while the injury was painful, it was in no way serious as the cracked vertebrae are not dislocated and would mend easily and quickly.

Mechanics checked over the plane and said the extent of the damage was great. Despite the girl's desire to continue the flight, it was thought the damage to the ship would cause an indefinite postponement.

HELD AS SLAYING CAUSE

VIOLET EWART, 22 . . . HER AFFECTIONS BROUGHT GUNPLAY?

Miss Ewart, police report, was cause of slaying of Albert W. Kessley, 32, shot when he "made a date." Her boy friend, Frank Gazzo, 23, has been arrested.

GIRL, TWO MEN HELD AFTER KILLING

Love Triangle in Roadside Beer Parlor Blamed by Police for Waiter's Death

A "beer flat" love triangle was blamed by city and county detectives today for the killing of Albert W. Kessley, 32, of Canton, O., who died in Columbia Hospital last night.

The police said Kessley was shot after he attempted to "make a date" with Violet Ewart, 22, of 315 North Atlantic avenue, whom they described as "the girl" of Frank Gazzo, 23, of 7501 Upland street, alleged proprietor of the beer parlor and employer of Kessley.

Gazzo, the Ewart girl and Harry W. Steiner, 59, said to be the janitor of Gazzo's place in Puckety road, Penn Township, were arrested early today.

VICTIM SHOT IN HIP

Kessley, who, police said, was employed as a waiter by Gazzo, was shot in the right hip, the detectives said they had learned, during a struggle for a revolver after Gazzo, the officers say, threatened him when he learned he had "made a date" with the Ewart girl.

All concerned, the sleuths said, denied there had been a jealous quarrel.

Conflicting stories concerning the shooting led to the investigation by City Homicide Detectives Frank Dodson and Thomas C. Mulvihill, and County Detectives Thomas Calig and Samuel Whisner.

BLAMES HOLDUP

Kessley told hospital authorities, the detectives said, that he was shot by a holdup man on the Verona road near Rosedale when he reached into his pocket to give the robber a cigaret.

Investigating at 8110 Frankstown road, the address given by Kessley as his residence, detectives said they learned he had not lived there. A tip took the officers to the Puckety road, where, they said, they found Steiner suffering from an injury of the head. The sleuths reported he denied knowledge of the shooting. The officers quoted Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawton, who lived near Gazzo's place, as saying they heard a shot fired early Monday, and had seen a man carried out of the place.

While the officers were questioning Steiner, Gazzo and the girl returned from East Liberty, where, the sleuths declared, they had fled when they learned of Kessley's death.

Weather Conditions.

Showers and thunderstorms were general over the eastren half of the country during yesterday and last night, and scattered showers occurred over the Canadian Northwest. The showery conditions are due to the relatively low and evenly distributed barometric pressure, a condition favorable to local thunderstorm development. Showers are in progress in scattered places this morning over the Ohio Valley states and the lake region. The rainfall was mostly light, but heavy in some localities and beneficial over large areas.

Temperature changes were slight. The weather is warm nearly everywhere east of the Rocky Mountains.

River Conditions.

Generous rains over the lower Allegheny, the Monongahela and the upper Ohio rivers have checked the fall in the rivers and started slight rises in some localities. Stage at Franklin is 1.6 feet; Lock No. 7, 10.8; Pittsburgh, 10.8; Dam No. 1, 8.7; Dam No. 6, 8.0; Dam No. 10, 9.0, and Dam No. 13, 6.8. The dams are up. There will be little change in the Ohio River stages during the next 24 hours.

HOOVER, FORD HOAX VICTIMS

NEW YORK, June 23.—(AP.)—George Robert Gabor, 25, native of Hungary, was in jail today while federal authorities were investigating his boastful tale of how he imposed on personages.

Acting as his own attorney, he said in court that he had:

Posed as Baron von Krupp.

Induced Henry Ford to give him a new automobile.

Become engaged to Eleanor du Pont.

PREDICTS END OF GANG KINGS

CHICAGO, June 23.—(INS.)—Speaking over a radio network, George E. O. Johnson, district attorney, largely responsible for the indictment of Al Capone on liquor and tax evasion charges, predicted that major gangsters in all American cities were near their end. He said:

"The government's interest in Al Capone is not as great as in the conditions which bred him and the thing he represents. He probably will be the last well advertised gang leader in Chicago and I hope in the country.

"Every large American city has its local Al Capone. For all of them, I believe, we can read the writing on the wall. Civilized society cannot endure gangs or gang warfare."

Danzig Government Acts to Curb Riots

Coolidge Sees Farming As Reliable Livelihood

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., June 23.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

It is long since we have heard much agitation for a movement back to the land. But now when there is distress in industrial centers a home on a farm begins to look attractive.

One reason the appeal subsided was because recently the wage-earner was supposed to be better off than the farmer. This conclusion resulted from the constant demand for farm relief. Some have thought our experience would parallel the English, where agriculture greatly declined and the people, gathering around the factories, imported food. The late James J. Hill thought we would become a food importing nation.

Mr. Coolidge

It is likely to grow more and more apparent that there is no safer place of existence than the moderate-sized farm home. It may turn out that it is not often practical to employ a large amount of machinery and a large area of land in attempting to turn agriculture into the manufacture of some single great staple. But the family that makes the farm an old-fashioned home with diversified crops, fruits and domestic animals sufficient to meet the household needs will still find agriculture one of the most satisfactory forms of existence.

World Felicitates Wales On 37th Birthday

LONDON, June 23.—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales, England's royal bachelor, awoke today with the realization that he was 37 years old and that the world had beaten a pathway of congratulations to his door.

Literally thousands of telegrams and messages of felicitation were heaped on the table at York House. Among the first personal greetings he received were those from King George and Queen Mary and other members of his immediate family.

He treated the anniversary like an ordinary day. After dealing with a mass of correspondence, he motored to Buckingham Palace, where he assisted the King at the investiture of members of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, of which he is prior.

Over all the land and to the utmost reaches of the British Empire the day was signalized by the flying of flags from government and public buildings. Distinguished men and women accorded him recognition by going to York House to sign the visitors' book.

The public seemed to feel that only one thing was lacking in the universal rejoicing over the birthday of its favorite prince—a Princess of Wales. The Daily Express in wishing him many happy returns put it this way:

"Perhaps before he is 38 he may give us a chance of toasting both the Prince and the Princess of Wales."

Summer Music for Parks Awaits Council Action

An ordinance authorizing Mayor Kline and Public Works Director Edward G. Lang to award contracts for band music at parks and recreational centers through the summer was to occupy Council's attention today.

Estimated cost of furnishing the music is $13,110. The Public Works Department introduced the legislation at a councilmanic meeting yesterday.

Councilman Harry A. Little presented a request from the Soho Community Association that the city erect bandstands for the association's July 4 celebration.

President John S. Herron suggested Council postpone the matter until the Finance Committee meeting today, but Little declared quick action was necessary. He offered a motion that Lang be instructed to proceed with erection of the stands, which was passed unanimously.

An amendment by Councilman English was added, to permit Lang to erect other bandstands as long as his appropriation for this purpose lasts.

5 CONGRESSMEN HERE SUPPORT DEBT TRUCE

Erk, Kelly, Campbell, Estep And Sullivan Indorse President Hoover's Plan

Allegheny County's five congressmen today added their indorsements to President Hoover's plan for a one-year suspension of foreign war debt payments, which they hailed as the only logical solution to present conditions throughout the world.

Edmund F. Erk said:

"I am in the heartiest accord with President Hoover's plan. It is a practical and positive step toward solving the problem of restoring public confidence and bringing a renewal of prosperity. In postponing European debt payments America has shown the spirit of a wise and negerous creditor. This act will pave the way for instant response through the increase of industry and commerce abroad and will in turn bring prosperity to our own shores.

"If America had acted otherwise and held aloof, it would be hard to foresee how serious would have been the plight of the whole world. We would have killed the goose that laid the golden egg.

"GENEROSITY" SHOWN

"In extending the time for debt payments we have shown our traditional generosity. We have extended the helping hand, we have inspired hope and our act will bring a return of thrift abroad as well as at home. Most important is the good will which has been rekindled for America. We have pointed out the course for the application of world resources to the restoration of world-wide industry and international peace and we should approach the coming disarmament conference after having set a sincere example of our consecration toward peace.

KELLY INDORSEMENT

Clyde Kelly:

"The President has moved wisely and in the right direction. His action is entirely justified by the conditions which grip Germany today, and I see in it an important contribution to the efforts of all interested heads to overcome the current world economic depression.

"I desire to reiterate my stand however, against any linking of the situation with debt cancellation. Mr. Hoover himself has made his stand on this question sufficiently clear in his statement of Saturday.

"Something must be done to relieve and stabilize conditions in Germany, else a continuation of the world's economic ills will be assured. By taking the initiative in the proposal for a year's moratorium on intergovernmental debts, Mr. Hoover goes a far way towards restoration of business confidence and activity and renders noble service to the countries afflicted.

"I predict that Congress will support him fully."

ESTEP LAUDS HOOVER

Harry A. Estep:

"I think very well of Mr. Hoover's action. I think the psychology of the matter is going to be very strengthening. It will be a loosening of a tremendous amount of money that Europe has been accumulating for the December 15 payment.

P. J. Sullivan:

"I heartily approve the President's position on foreign debts. I believe a moratorium will be a good thing for the entire world. I shall support his stand in Congress."

Guy E. Campbell:

"I regard Mr. Mellon as one of the greatest financiers the world has ever known. I am disposed to go along with him in anything he may suggest."

BACKED BY KENDALL

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Representative Samuel A. Kendall, of Pennsylvania, declared today that President Hoover's announcement urging a moratorium on European debts is the most constructive and statesmanlike position of the present administration. He said:

"The World War left all European nations practically bankrupt. To attempt to force payments now would not only embarrass the debtor nations but would paralyze business, curtail production and reduce to a minimum the purchasing power so essential to prosperity."

Actress Wins Share Of Father's Estate

Vatican Impressed By Hoover Debt Plan

VATICAN CITY, June 23.—(AP.)—President Hoover's proposal for a moratorium on war debts has made a good impression at the Vatican. The opinion expressed here is that any measure which would ease the situation created by war debts and indemnities would help the prosperity of the world.

Washington Expects Whole Question to Be Revived As Hoover Move Sequel

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 23. While President Hoover has proposed suspension of war debt payments for only one year, the belief is widely entertained here that eventually it will work out for two years—and maybe more. Some believe eventually it will lead to reconsideration of the whole aggravating question of war debts.

YEAR TOO SHORT

Several factors contribute to this belief. One is that a period of 12 months is too short a time for Germany to pull herself out of the financial morass in which she has been floundering. Another is that the question of extension of the moratorium will arise next June, just as the two great political parties are squaring away at each other for a hectic presidential campaign.

Neither party could likely risk offending German sympathizers by opposing another year's breathing spell for Germany. And if there is no opposition, Germany will get it.

As to the future of reparations and debts after the two-year period, there is only vast and confused speculation here. There is vague talk of international conferences, which the administration frowns upon.

ALL UP TO CONGRESS

Congress set the terms upon which the allied nations are repaying their war loans to the U. S. treasury, and only Congress can modify them. Heretofore, every suggestion of cancellation or modification has been howled down in Congress overwhelmingly.

If the moratorium proves an economic panacea for the world's ills, Congress might undergo a change of sentiment. But that is pure conjecture. On the other hand, if there is no decided improvement in business, there probably will be another large Treasury deficit next year, as there was this year, and Congress is going to be confronted with the task of getting more funds, i. e., a tax increase.

To raise taxes, and at the same time defer collection of what Europe owes us, or forgive it, is politically almost inconceivable. No party could sponsor such a program.

RANKIN SWEPT BY $50,000 FIRE

The central warehouse of the Hollander Drug Company, Fifth avenue and Harriet street, Rankin, was swept by flamets early this morning, causing a loss estimated at more than $50,000. The fire spread to an adjoining residence, practically destroying it.

Companies from Rankin, Braddock and North Braddock boroughs fought the flames for more than five hours. The blaze attracted residents throughout the valley and was visible from Kennywood Park boulevard and communities on the south side of the Monongahela River.

The two-story frame residence of F. A. French adjoining the drug company was virtually destroyed when flames spread to the roof and swept through the second floor.

Loss to the Hollander Drug Company, left with only the walls of the three-story brick building standing, was estimated by Fire Chief Hubert McKay, of Rankin, at $50,000, and to the French home at $2,000.

FRANCE DRAFTS COUNTER PLAN

that Mr. Hoover had talked to all members of the House and Senate in Washington and had consulted with many of them by telephone.

Those he could not reach by those methods he has telegraphed or cabled.

The White House did not indicate how complete the poll was up to date, but it was said that over 50 per cent of the two memberships had replied.

AWAIT FRENCH REPLY

While action by France on the debt moratorium proposal was expectantly awaited today, it was made known by high authorities at the State Department that France was the first nation notified when President Hoover decided to act.

This information said there had been no preliminary discussion of the plan with any other nation, but that the President had been following the situation in Germany with keen solicitude and acted when the financial crisis indicated that unless he did so at once disaster was imminent. It was added that France was notified last Friday.

Belgium Awaiting Debt Plan Status

BRUSSELS, June 23.—(AP.)—The Belgian government today awaited word from its ambassador in Washington as to whether President Hoover included Belgium when he suggested that the important creditor powers suspend war debt payments for one year.

Officials pointed out that the Belgian budget is drawn up on the basis of German reparations and that the Young plan was a part of Belgian law. It was said in other quarters that approval of the Hoover proposal would increase Belgium's deficit by about $22,000,000.

GERMANY ASKS FRENCH PARLEY

BERLIN, June 23.—(AP.)—Chancellor Bruening said in an interview today he would heartily welcome an informal conference with French officials over mutual problems, "for we certainly have an earnest desire for friendly conversation with French statesmen."

Concerning French adherence to the Hoover moratorium proposal, he said:

"I have the conviction and hope that France will not let this very great moment slip by for pacification of the world, of which rapprochement France and Germany form an important, integral part."

DUCE CONFERS ON DEBT PLAN

ROME, June 23.—(INS.)—Without waiting for the official text of President Hoover's moratorium proposal, Premier Benito Mussolini met with Foreign Minister Dino Grandi and Minister of Finance Antonio Mosconi today to draft a favorable reply to the American suggestion for a 12-month debt and reparations suspension.

The three statesmen met behind closed doors. It was still uncertain this afternoon whether the note would make Italy's acceptance of the proposal contingent upon Germany and Austria dropping their projected customs union.

AIRPORT LIGHT BIDS REJECTED

The County Commissioners today rejected all bids for the lighting system of the new County Airport when one of the bidders, the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, objected that the specifications discriminated against their product. Eleven bids had been submitted.

The Commissioners said that the specifications would be rewritten.

County Engineer Norman F. Brown explained he had used trade names in the specifications as a guide to the character of the product to be furnished, and thought the equivalent of the product could be furnished.

Jailing of Child 'Closed Incident'

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 23.—(INS.)—The case of Roger Perry, Jr., 4, against his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Perry, was declared closed today by Mayor Quenstedt. It is not likely that Chief of Police Holliday will be reprimanded by Gov. Ritchie for locking the child in a cell last Wednesday night at the request of his mother.

PATCHOGUE, N. Y., June 23.—(AP.)—Charles "Broncho" Billy Miller, 78-year-old former Pony Express rider, set out on horseback last night for St. Joseph, Mo., from where he will follow the old Pony Express trails to San Francisco.

BRITAIN CABLES ACCEPTANCE

LONDON, June 23.—(AP.)—Formal British acceptance in principle of President Hoover's war debts proposal was cabled Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador at Washington, yesterday and was delivered to the United States government today, the foreign office announced.

Confidence that the interested governments will accept in principle President Hoover's proposal was voiced in authoritative but unofficial British quarters today.

Russia Calls Hoover Debt Plan Insincere

MOSCOW, June 23.—(AP.)—President Hoover's war debt proposal was attacked in the press here today as insincere and induced by fear for the position of capitalism and the fate of American investments in Germany.

ANNUAL RETAIL SALES HIGH IN PENNA.

U. S. Census Report Reveals People of State Among Best Spenders of Nation

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Pennsylvanians were revealed today to be among the best spenders of the country.

Figures of the Bureau of the Census shows that the net annual sales of Pennsylvania retail stores, based on information obtained in the last national census, amount to $4,039,555,807, or at the rate of $419.42 per capita. The per capita purchase rate for the country was only $407.53.

136,518 STORES IN STATE

The bureau reported a total of 136,518 retail stores in the state in 1929, or 14.2 stores for every 1,000 of population.

All classes of stores are covered in the report, including restaurants, filling stations and other small retail establishments, except strictly service businesses.

The report shows there were 1,549,000 retail stores in the 48 states and the District of Columbia, or 12.6 stores for each 1,000 inhabitants. The average per capita purchases at retail amounted to $407.52, which indicates purchases per family of three to five persons of $1,250 to $2,000 annually.

VARIOUS AVERAGES

The retail purchase rate of the various states varies from a minimum of $172 per capita in South Carolina to a maximum of $681.65 in the District of Columbia.

The average number of stores per 1,000 population varies from a minimum of 8.1 in Alabama to a maximum of 15.3 in Florida, and the average sales per store range from $19,827 in South Carolina to $39,715 in Michigan.

FIGHT ON COAL YARD FAILS

Charging that the Kelley-Maloney Coal and Coke Company is maintaining a nuisance by having a coal yard in Potter street, residents have petitioned Council to have the yard removed.

Accompanying the communication was a report from Thomas M. Bonner, assistant city solicitor, saying an opinion rendered in 1925 decided that Potter street was not a public thoroughfare, hence the city could do nothing about removal of the yard. The complaint was received and filed.

Refrigerator Dealers Open Summer Drive

Salesmen and dealers connected with the Ludwig Hommel Company, distributors of Norge Electric Refrigerators, met last night at the Fort Pitt Hotel to launch an intensive summer sales drive. Factory representatives addressed the meeting. Sales are already showing a healthy increase according to Ludwig Hommel.

Said $2,350,000.00 Funding Bonds 1931 will be dated June 1st, 1931 and will mature in twenty (20) equal annual installments on June 1st of each year. Said bonds will bear interest at the rate of three and three quarters (3¾) per centum per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of June and December in each year, without deduction for taxes which may be levied thereon by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pursuant to any present or future law.

Said $2,350,000.00 Funding Bonds 1931 are issued to provide funds for the purpose of funding existing unfunded indebtedness of the City, consisting of contractors' claims, claims for damages arising from the opening, widening and improving of streets and the construction of sewers, and other floating indebtedness.

Said bonds will be coupon bonds of denominations of One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars and Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars exchangeable at the option of the holders at any time for a registered bond or bonds of the same maturity and of the denomination of One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars or a multiple thereof not exceeding the aggregate principal amount of the coupon bond or bonds surrendered in exchange therefor.

Unless all bids are rejected the said bonds will be sold to the highest responsible bidder complying with the terms of sale. No bid for such bonds at less than par and accrued interest from the date of said bonds to the date of delivery will be accepted. The right is reserved to reject all bids and any bid not complying with the provisions hereof will be rejected. Any bidder may condition his bid upon the award to him of all or none of the bonds for which he bids.

All bidders are required to deposit a certified check drawn to the order of the City of Pittsburgh on a National Bank or Trust Company for two per centum (2%) of the principal amount of bonds bid for. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be allowed upon the amount of the check of the successful bidder and such check will be retained and applied in part payment for the bonds or to secure the City against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of this bid.

The City of Pittsburgh reserves the right to deliver to the successful bidder temporary typewritten or printed bonds, in the form of one temporary bond for each maturity, which shall be substantially in the same form as the definitive bonds, with such appropriate omissions, insertions and variations as may be required. Until their exchange for definitive coupon bonds, the temporary bonds shall be in full force and effect according to their terms and shall bear interest from the first day of June, 1931.

Proposals should be addressed to James P. Kerr, City Controller, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and enclosed in a sealed envelope marked on the outside "Proposal for Bonds." Bids must be made upon blank forms which may be obtained from the City Controller.

The successful bidder will be furnished with the opinion of Messrs. Reed, Smith, Shaw & McClay of Pittsburgh, that the bonds are binding and legal obligations of the City of Pittsburgh.

JAMES P. KERR,
City Controller.

Dated, Pittsburgh, Pa., June 23, 1931.

CITY OF PITTSBURGH
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS,
June 22, 1931.

1. Separate and sealed proposals will be received at the Office of the City Controller, City-County Building, until 9:00 o'clock a. m. eastern standard time, June 25, 1931, and will be publicly opened and read one hour later in City Council Chamber, for making the following public improvements:

INSTALLATION OF SOUND EQUIPMENT IN CONNECTION WITH THE MOTION PICTURE MACHINES.

1. Projectors and Projection Lenses.
2. Projection Screens.
3. Sound Motion Picture Reproducing Systems.

2. All bids must be made upon the prepared form of proposal to be obtained at the Office of the Contract Clerk, 429 City-County Building, on and after June 22, 1931. Proposals containing any additions, erasures, omissions, alterations, additions not called for, or additional bid of any kind may be rejected as informal, and no bidder will be allowed to withdraw his bid.

3. Bids must be accompanied by a bond in the amount of fifty (50%) per centum of the estimated cost of the proposed improvement, duly and legally executed with a surety or trust company which has complied with the city ordinances relating thereto, said bond shall be in the form of bond furnished by the City of Pittsburgh.

4. Blueprint copies of the contract plans and specifications may be obtained at Room 429, City-County Building.

5. The Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works reserve the right to reject any or all proposals, or to accept any proposal which they deem it to the interest of the city so to do.

CHARLES H. KLINE,
Mayor.
EDWARD G. LANG,
Director, D. P. W.

10 FINGERS' BOOKED :-: Foster, Romberg, Herbert on WCAE :-: CRUMIT SINGS

WE NOW PRESENT

By HOWARD L. BROWNING, JR.

Somebody said "School's out," and Darrell V. Martin, your accustomed radio editor, packed up his bags and hit for some place where there's no telephone. It'll take a week or two of stupid editing before he comes to your rescue.

Going to New York for the summer is Irene Jones, known well to Pittsburgh's radio folk as 10 of the Twenty Fingers of Sweetness. All Twenty have been off the air here for some time, resting for the summer.

Irene Jones

Irene will fill a two-piano team with her sister, Mathilde Harding, over NBC. They'll play classical programs. Miss Harding has a long record in back of her, part of which recalls her playing as guest pianist for the Rochester Civic Orchestra. Miss Jones expects to be back in Pittsburgh late in the summer.

Foster, Romberg and Herbert are three worthy names you'll hear if you listen to WCAE at 8:30 p. m. Alfred Wallenstein will play the 'cello-light on the program, a 'cello solo, Massenet's "Elegie." A quartet and ensemble will do reminiscences of Stephen Foster. Soloists and the ensemble will treat Romberg and we hope you—right with "Sylvia." Herbert's "Fortune Teller" isn't the last, for you'll also hear Grieg's "Anitra's Dance," from Peer Gynt.

Earlier, Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson may be tuned in on WCAE, with "I Can't Write the Words," a new song as Frank's chief contribution for the evening. The pair will sign off with Berlin's "When the Midnight Choo-Choo Leaves for Alabam'."

A swell program is that over KDKA at 9 p. m. Schubert's "Serenade" will be a violin solo, and the orchestra will follow with selections from "Robin Hood." We can't swear as to the merit of Alice Mock's "vocal interpretations" accompanying.

WWSW, the new station in the Schenley Hotel, was to have the Cosmo Crooners at 5:45 p. m. for a 15-minute period. You'll like this quartet of collegiates with their popular songs.

Claude G. Bowers, author and politician, was to give a strictly Democratic speech under the auspices of the Democratic National Committee over WCAE at 9 p. m. Frank Ross, baritone, is a real estate broker and a contractor, but sings for Columbia broadcasting on the side. Can't read a note, either.

Housewives and businessmen will hear a statement of the public utilities' side of the power question at 1 p. m. tomorrow. Martin J. Insull, Samuel Insull's brother, will be on KDKA, speaking from a luncheon under the auspices of the Pittsburgh City Post, American Legion.

The Insull story is Horatio Alger-ish. Sam came to the U. S. from a little Scandinavian country poor but bright. He became office boy in the early Edison works in New York. Thomas Alva liked him, so he rose and became chief of the Schenectady works of General Electric before he had gray hair. He branched out, bought himself a few power stations and got into the habit. Today, he's still buying, is often called one of the three most powerful public utilitarians in the country.

Martin, a second brother and their mother were imported early in Sam's career. Martin went through Cornell, became an electrical engineer, joined a fashionable fraternity. Today's he a big shot of the Insull companies.

Harold Barlow is to direct an orchestra presenting Jean Sibelius' finale to his first smyphony in E flat, over WJAS at 9:30 p. m. Sibelius is honored as Finland's premier symphonist, a marked individualist.

Sports broadcasts we're looking forward to include Tommy Loughran's of the Stribling-Schmeling match at Cleveland, July 3, over NBC, and Bobby Jones' last, July 8.

THE LOUDSPEAKER

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, June 23.—The most intelligent speech aired from abroad this year was that of George Bernard Shaw. Shaw doesn't play down to his hearers. He credits them with having something in their noodles.

For that matter, most talkers on the air do not play down to their hearers, differing in that respect from many who are classified as entertainers. . . . Once we heard an entertainer—it was Ray Perkins—wisecrack a plea for "bigger and better motons". . . . Famous detectives and writers of detective stories, airing their opinions of the Starr Faithfull—the name suggests to us a racehorse—case, would be an interesting carful. . . . A start was made in the right direction recently by Val O'Farrell. Others could be summoned—Burns, Pinkerton, Arthur B. Reeve, S. S. Van Dine, Mary Roberts Rinehart.

It remained for Julian Street, author, now best known for the fascinating gastronomic research, "Where Paris Dines," to bring a new note to radio. He disclosed that Burgundy, vintage 1923, was an exceptionally good wine right now. . . . Jenkins, see if you can find Tony's telephone number! . . . A symphony orchestra followed Saint Saen's "The Swan" the other night with "Turkey in the Straw". . . . Give more than one fiddle to "Turkey in the Straw" and it takes on startling dignity—too startling for grandpa's restless hoofs. . . . Father's Day received no drum-beating by the broadcasters. Poor old pappy! He has no friend 'cept his wallet. And we're not so sure about the wallet.

Robert L. Ripley has yet to be caught in a lie. . . . Radio men are bowing to Broadway's golden age. They are leading Fay Templeton to the microphone. But where is Frankie Bailey? And where is that original "Floradora Sextet"? . . . "The listening public," it is Ruth Bryan Owen talking, "is not going to stand very long for the dead quality in a voice reading the written word. It will demand the freshness of extemporaneous speaking." Louder please, Mrs. Owens, and turn your voice toward Washington! . . . At last we have heard the mention of the name of Warren Gamaliel Harding on the loudspeakers. . . . Newspaper contests are governed by elaborate legislative rules. In radio contests find the rules if you can. There aren't any.

The big paddling at Poughkeepsie brought a fair measure of excitement to the front parlors. . . . It's time for Sousa's Band on the air. Indeed, it's past time. . . . Well, we can't have everything. Right now, bands are as thick as crooners. . . . Radio gets 'em all in time. Here is Marion Talley, forsaking her Kansas acres for the studious. There's gold in them thar' tills. . . . Wonder why Queen Mary doesn't face the microphones? . . . Of all American composers past and present, Stephen Foster is most saxophone proof, just as he is most banjo-and-fiddle proof. . . . Wonder how many times the word "love" has appeared in the titles of songs? And "girl?"

* * *

Most dance maestros are men under 5 feet 10 inches in height. . . . Novelty is the chief goal of the radio caliphs. And they stop at nothing, not even Chicago's stockyards. . . . The only automobile in radio that approaches the Hollywood standard in fancy doodabs and trimmings belong to Don Carney. . . . Incidental music would aid the appeal of 75 per cent of the talks heard on the air. . . . Of all the whistlers who take to the ether I am most partial to those of Edwin Franko Goldman's band. . . . Radio studios are reflecting more and more the bustle and glamor of theatrical producing offices. . . . The job of maestroing at the new Waldorf-Astoria is now considered the choicest of all dance band plums.

Sanitary Risk
in carelessly-made substitutes for Kotex

SAFETY should be your first concern in sanitary protection. Health safety. The kind of safety you are certain of in Kotex, the pad that is used in leading hospitals.

But how about those nameless substitutes, of whose makers you know nothing? What assurance have you of their sanitary safety? Who made them? Where? How? Are you sure you'd use them, if you knew their origin?

There's one certain way of avoiding risk. Ask for Kotex. Genuine Kotex. It's immaculately clean—made by wonderful, patented machines from start to finish, in surroundings of hospital cleanliness.

Kotex is splendidly comfortable. It may be worn with perfect safety on either side. Soft, filmy layers make adjustment easy. Treated to deodorize. Readily disposable.

PARLEY STARTS AMENDING OF DOPE PLAN

Conference Beginning Over Again, Using French-Japan Proposal as Pact Basis

By WINIFRED BLACK

GENEVA, June 23.—After three weeks of hemming and hawing, the League of Nations' international narcotic conference is just starting to begin at the beginning all over again.

The Franco-Japanese plan was accepted Saturday. The amendments, which will make something like a practical agreement which practical countries may be able to sign, began to come in yesterday.

The conference will now begin to hang various amendments on it, like so many garments on an old-fashioned hat rack.

BRITON ON COMMITTEE

It is a little curious that Sir Malcolm Delevingne, the British delegate, should be put on the drafting committee for the new agreement. Delevinge has held the whole conference up for three weeks by fighting for the British quota plan which would give Britain a practical monopoly on the dope market of the world.

He has fought every other plan offered, tooth and nail. The Franco-Japanese plan he has denounced in open plenary session, not once or twice, but a half dozen times. He is against it from start to finish—but he is on the drafting committee just the same.

Those who are really interested in reaching some agreement which will really help to put a stop to the illicit traffic in dope are hoping that Delevinge won't make the same strange mistake made by his intimate friend on the American delegation who drafted the American agreement.

DOPE FLOOD LOOMED

The young man who was responsible for that important piece of work left out one word that would have opened the gates to a flood of crude morphine which could have inundated the world.

If the mistake had not been caught at the last minute, the American agreement would have played straight into the hands of those who are hoping to prevent any real change in the dope situation.

Somebody did discover the "mistake" and the only harm the careless young man did was to hold the conference up at least two weeks while the Americans made a new draft.

The delegates are pretty well tired out already and it might be good strategy for some enemy to hold up the conference again until the delegates throw up their hands in despair and go home.

The fight now is no longer even half in the open. Every amendment will have a reason behind it which will not appear on the surface. Most of those reasons will have to do with a trace of money.

HOME DAMAGE LAID TO SEWER

Steps to remedy defects in the sewer system in McCord street, between Burham street and Arlington avenue, are demanded by John Kozmit, of 2700 McCord street. He told Council yesterday that his and other homes were being menaced by backwash of high water and debris during heavy rains because the sewer is too small.

Requests to the Department of Public Works, he said, have brought about no action. Council referred the matter to committee.

Phila. Police Seize Police Locker Rum

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—(AP.)—Police raided other police here and found liquor which led to suspension of five patrolmen.

The raids were made on lockers of officers commissioned to take seized liquor to the district attorney's office. The prosecutor said further investigation of conditions in the station house where the liquor was found will be made.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

EVEN THOUGH very few of them have accomplished much in the last few years, several theatrical groups in Greenwich Village are still attempting to get somewhere in the theater. That nobody takes them seriously but themselves causes them little alarm. They're out to improve the theater—and if they can pick up a little cash on the side, so much the better. Come to think of it, I guess that rule applies anywhere.

What is now the Theater Guild was an outgrowth of one of these Greenwich Village groups. The Guild, however, had great talents among its members when they first began to work together as—if memory doesn't play me a dirty trick—the Washington Square Players. A combination of brains and ability turned this small group into a powerful theatrical organization.

The Village groups of today cannot be placed in the same category. Few of them have a guiding hand. Their casts are rarely composed of anything but amateurs. The plays they do are pretty brutal. Their comedies are generally sad and their tragedies are usually very funny.

Yet they keep going. If one group fails, another springs up overnight to take its place. Goodness only knows from whence the audiences come and how the actors get paid. As a matter of fact the whole thing is pretty much of a mystery to me. Yet they keep going on and on—all for the sake of Art.

Sometimes the strangest things happen on the stages of these little Greenwich Village houses. A few weeks ago, for instance, one of the organizations was running a play that had to do with a very sweet young lady who had fallen heavily for a very naughty young man.

As you might expect, the gentle little flower was being triple-crossed by the collegiate villain. He was making her do things that—alas!—could accomplish naught but put the dear child on the Road to Ruin. The situation was almost as sad as the play.

Think not, though, my friends, that there was no justice to be handed out in this play. Just before the second act curtain, the innocent little flower gets the opportunity of a lifetime. She has found out about the triple-cross and she tells the handsome villain just what she thinks about him—in spades.

"You will never do this to me again, you rat," she screams. "I will never see you again and I will never talk to you."

The villain strolls out with his head bowed low. The girl strikes an attitude. Her curtain line is near.

"Even his picture must come from my wall," she cries. "I cannot look at it any longer."

Whereupon she turns about and plucks the villain's picture from the wall. She dashes it to the floor and falls weeping upon it as the curtain falls, if the curtain-puller is not in the alley taking a smoke. Altogether a very pretty picture, don't you think?

Well, one night the strangest thing came to pass. Shortly before the second act, the stage manager couldn't find the picture of the handsome villain. He raised the devil around the back of the house, but nobody knew anything about it. Finally, just to be of service, he took the first picture he could lay his hands upon and hung it in the proper spot. After all, he probably figured, a picture is a picture.

Knowing nothing about the situation, the leading lady went through her role exactly as she had always done. And everything went fairly well until she reached the line:

"Even his picture must come from my wall. I cannot look at it any longer."

The audience began to laugh. The innocent leading lady, who, incidentally, looked like somebody's grandmother, couldn't quite make it out. She decided to rush things a little and bring the curtain down in a hurry. So she plucked the picture from the wall and fell weeping upon it in short order.

When the curtain had fallen and the audience was still in hysterics, the leading lady discovered what had happened. The picture she had been talking about was one of Calvin Coolidge!

"YOUR recent column about plumbers and trunk lifters who pride themselves on their respective trades," writes S. Feigelman, of Montreal, Que., "brings to mind the time we hired a new scrubwoman in our store.

"She began scrubbing the floors early in the afternoon. Shortly before 6 o'clock she reported to our cashier and asserted that her work was finished. The cashier very promptly told her that the floors couldn't have been properly cleaned in that space of time.

"Great excitement followed that statement. The scrubwoman went into something that verged on hysterics. She glared at the cashier.

"'How dare you say such a thing to me?' she flared. 'Do you think I'm no good? I'll have you understand, mister, that I have been scrubbing floors all my life!'"

P. O. HERE ACTS ON LOTTERIES

Postmaster James B. Anderson today issued a warning on sweepstake lotteries made by Horace J. Donnelly, solicitor of the Postoffice Department. He quoted Donnelly as saying hundreds of thousands of individuals in this country are subject to criminal prosecution for using the mails in circulating information and participating in a foreign sweepstake lottery.

Donnelly was quoted:

"The United States criminal code provides a penalty of a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than two years, or both, for this offense . . . The illegality of the schemes is in no way affected by the representation that in some of the cases a small percentage of the funds goes to charity."

GIRL MUST DIE FOR KILLING

JEFFERSON, O., June 22—(AP.)—Mrs. Maude Lowther, 23-year-old Ashtabula domestic, who killed the wife of her admirer, today is under sentence as the first woman in Ohio to die in the electric chair.

Judge James C. Oglevee, sitting here by assignment from Carroll County, yesterday set Mrs. Lowther's electrocution for October 2.

The housemaid, a former West Virginia girl of Indian descent, sank to a chair, covered her face with her hands and sobbed. She replied "no" when asked if she had anything to say.

During the trial which resulted in her conviction of first degree murder, she had stoically listened to the state demand her life and told a composed story of killing Mrs. Clara Smith, 28, May 29, 1930.

Radio Firm Launches New Ad Campaign

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—An advertising campaign, to last throughout the remainder of the year, was announced today by officials of the Philco Radio Manufacturing Company. The campaign is to be launched as evidence that American buying power is on the upgrade, officials declared. National advertising copy for 1931, according to the announcement, will show a 29 per cent increase over that of 1930. It was pointed out that the 1930 schedule showed an increase of 74 per cent over that of 1929.

Mine Head Killed In Elavator Crash

WHEELING, W. Va., June 23.—(AP.)—Clarence Morrison, 45, an official of the Valley Camp mine No. 3, was killed yesterday when an elevator in which he was riding fell to the bottom of a shaft. His neck was broken.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 23.—(AP.)—Conley Stephenson, 21, Huntington, drowned while swimming in the Guyandot River near Martha. The drowning was witnessed by his bride of four months, formerly Ethel Vale, of Rainelle.

Deputies Let Jurors Have Liquor; Jailed

LOGAN, W. Va., June 23.—(AP.)—Ed Taylor and Frank Edmondson, former Logan County deputy sheriffs, pleaded guilty to contempt of court and were sentenced by Judge Naaman Jackson yesterday to serve 10 days each in the county jail.

The pleas were made in contempt proceedings instituted by Attorney General Howard B. Lee, who charged the two men, acting as custodians of a murder trial jury, permitted the jurors to have liquor, to gamble and to visit various rooms in the hotel in which they were quartered.

Scientist Thinks Trip to Moon Possible

LONDON, June 23.—(AP.)—People who believe it possible to reach the moon from the earth have a supporter in Dr. Charles Kipfer, who accompanied the Belgian scientist, Prof. Auguste Piccard, on his recent balloon trip into the stratosphere.

Dr. Kipfer, now in London, told the Herald that airplanes, driven by rockets, would play a great part in the future development of aviation, and added he wouldn't be surprised by a flight to the moon.

Lawyer's Embracery Trial Postponed

Trial of Attorney Frank J. Zappala, of the Plaza Building, for embracery, in an alleged case of attempted jury fixing, listed for this week in Criminal Court, has been postponed until fall because of the absence of Judge James H. Gray, who is to be one of the chief witnesses for the state, and because Attorney Charles J. Margiotti, associate counsel with Charles B. Prichard, for Zappala, is engaged in a murder trial in Kittanning.

EAGLES TAKE 3 NEW APPEALS

Federal Judge R. M. Gibson today allowed three Eagle lodges to take appeals to the United States Circuit Court from the padlock decrees of June 10. The lodges were ordered to close for three months, with permission to reopen, provided they posted $1,000 bonds against further violations of the prohibition laws.

The lodges affected are Aerie No. 390, Charleroi; No. 532, Monongahela, and No. 533, New Kensington. It was alleged the District Court had erred in allowing the government agents to testify. The petition said they had gained entrance by use of fictitious membership cards.

NAUTILUS FIGHT FOR LIFE LINE REVEALED

Wilkins Relates Desperate Efforts to Secure Safety Link With Battleship

By CAPT. SIR HUBERT WILKINS

By Radio via American Radio News Corporation and Radiomarine Corporation.

ABOARD THE SUBMARINE NAUTILUS, Queenstown, Ireland, June 23.—Towed by the U. S. S. Wyoming, the Nautilus is safe in Cork harbor after a stormy, harrowing 17-day crossing of the Atlantic from Provincetown, Mass.

The Nautilus and her brave crew of 19 men have found haven following what we had predicted would be the most dangerous stage of the projected voyage under the ice to the North Pole.

Yesterday's story told how the battleships Wyoming and Arkansas steamed to our aid when accidents to our starboard engine and port motor had left us wallowing dangerously in heavy seas 1,000 miles from the Irish coast.

PLUNGE IN SEA

We rose and fell full 20 feet with each big wave so that the battleship dared not approach too close. A gun flashed, we saw a burst of smoke, and a life line shot out from the side of the battleship, snarled in the air, and fell short of us. Then another gun shot from a sailor's shoulder spat fire. This time a wavering light line towed by the projectile swung high up and over our bow.

Capt. Danenhower, Quartermaster Clark, and Master Diver Crilley rushed for the line and held it fast. Soon a stouter rope was pulled in and made fast.

All available hands now came on deck and as the Wyoming paid out her line the men manned the rope. But before a line sufficiently strong for towing could be pulled aboard the battleship had drifted far away. The weight of the rope became too heavy for us to lift. Then the draw line slipped and slithered its burning way through our fingers. When it had nearly gone overboard we managed to take a turn around the ice drill and we had it secure again.

CREWS EXHAUSTED

All hands strained at the rope. Reckless of personal safety, as many of our men as possible hung far out over the line to exert their strength on the hawser. Then in an unusually heavy surge it gave way, carrying two men with it. They managed to hold fast until their comrades hauled them in.

With all made fast, everyone went below except a single deck watch. We were peeling off our sodden garments when a rattling on the conning tower attracted our attention. The watch shouted:

"All lines have parted."

Again we drifted out of control and helpless. Our five hours work had been in vain.

Tomorrow I shall continue the tale of our desperate battle to reach port. Meanwhile, the crew is eager for shore leave; the Nautilus rests in quiet waters, her staunch seaworthiness proved.

Probe Slaying of W. Va. Man On Wedding Eve

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., June 23.—State troopers and a dozen county officers have gone to the Lane Community Church neighborhood 19 miles north of Sutton to investigate the slaying of Delbert Knicely, 22, mountaineer farmer, Sunday. He was to have been married yesterday.

Knicely was shot down by a rifle bullet fired from a ridge across a valley. The shot passed through an open window and pierced his head. Officers are working on a theory that jealousy prompted the murder.

Beer Runner Buried In $20,000 Coffin

NEW YORK, June 23.—(AP.)—Encased in a German silver coffin said to have cost $20,000, and preceded by 85 carloads of floral offerings, the body of Daniel Iamascia, Bronx beer runner slain by police last Thursday morning, was buried in St. Raymond's Cemetery yesterday. Iamascia was a bodyguard of Arthur (Dutch Schultz) Flegenheimer.

SHIPPERS PLAN RATE STUDY

30 Persons Ill After Eating Sandwiches

EDGELEYN, N. D., June 23.—(AP.)—Thirty persons are ill, four seriously, from ptomaine poisoning caused by chicken sandwiches served at a church luncheon. Dr. J. E. Scanlon said he believed hot weather caused poison to develop in the home-prepared food.

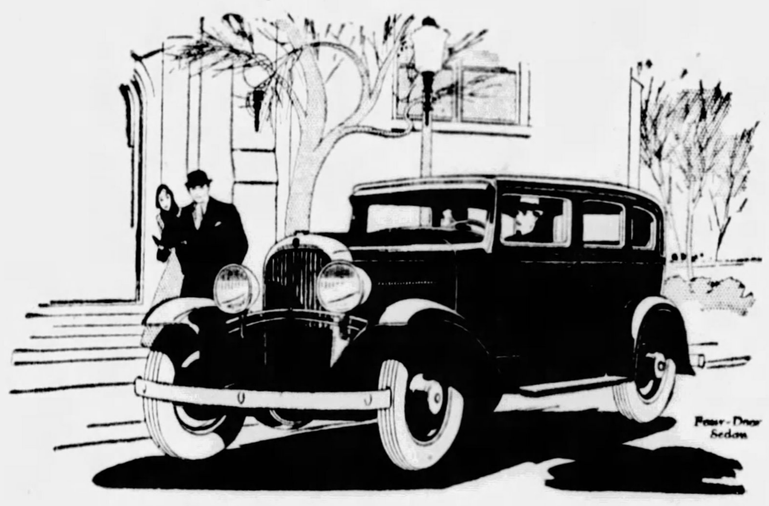
CUNNINGHAM'S CASE UP FRIDAY

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—(AP.)—Thomas W. Cunningham, sheriff of Philadelphia and treasurer of the Republican State Committee, will appear before the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia Friday and answer to an indictment charging him with contempt of the United States Senate.

In the investigation of campaign expenses in the senatorial campaign of 1926 in which William S. Vare was elected to the Senate only to be refused a seat in the Senate later, Cunningham refused to tell the Reed committee the source of $50,000 he contributed to the Vare fund.

His refusal was reported to the Senate and the case sent to court. Cunningham, according to the plans of his lawyers, will "surrender" to the Federal District Court clerk here Wednesday and enter bail for his appearance in Washington Friday.

ADVANCEMENTS IN FISHER CONSTRUCTION make the new OLDSMOBILE BODIES STRONG, QUIET and SERVICEABLE



Many pronounced advantages of the new Oldsmobile's finer Fisher bodies will be apparent as soon as you examine the car.

You will discover new grace and beauty. From every angle you get an impression that the car is longer and lower. In addition, smart new tailoring and appointments add to the attractiveness of body interiors. And deeper, more restful seat cushions contribute to greater riding comfort.

But there are other advantages of the new Oldsmobile's coachwork by Fisher which are not so quickly apparent—advantages that become increasingly important as the months and miles go by. These advantages are the direct result of new features developed by Fisher designers and engineers.

A new type of steel bracing employed throughout the combination wood-and-steel body framework adds materially to strength and durability. The elimination of wood-to-wood contacts at body joints assures unusually quiet operation under all conditions of travel. New insulation makes body interiors warmer in winter and cooler in summer. And a new method of anchoring body to chassis gives greater strength and solidity to the car as a whole.

These specific features of Fisher coachwork construction add definitely to the new Oldsmobile's desirability . . . and they contribute in no small way to the greater value which this fine car now provides.

Pity Often Turns to Hate In Loveless Marriage

Is it safe to marry without love?

Ione wanted to know. Once when trouble and shame swept over her bowed head, and all the world turned away from her, Joe stood by, faithful as a rock . . . Told her he loved her, and wanted to take care of her for keeps. But although she appreciated his kindness and goodness, and hated the thought of hurting him, she hesitated—because she didn't love him. And finally she came to us for advice.

MARRIED WITHOUT LOVE

"Dear Sally Martin:

"I have read Ione's letter, and I believe you advised her wrong. I'll tell you why I think so. When I was 19 years old, a young man asked me to be his wife. I knew that he was a very fine fellow and I liked him, but I didn't love him. He said he loved me, and he did.

"Although I didn't love him, he offered a means of escape from my dreadfully unhappy home conditions. So I told him just exactly how I felt. I said that I didn't love him, but I would marry him if he wanted me to—and I told him why.

"And so we went to housekeeping and homemaking. He was wonderful to me . . . loving, and gentle always, and patient with me. It was a courtship after marriage, and I learned to love him deeply. It only took a year.

NEVER REGRETTED

"You can learn to love after marriage, as well as to hate. Hate does come sometimes. I'll admit. But hasn't love the same chance?

"I have been married for 15 years now, and we have four beautiful children . . . and I adore my children.

"Once in a while he tells me that he still can't quite understand just why I did marry him, but he says he is mighty glad I did.

"I hope that Ione goes ahead and marries her man. From what she says about him, I am sure he must be the same kind of a good kind man my husband is.

"After we were married for ten years, there came a time when my husband stood at one side of the bed, and I at the other, while our child lay dying between us. It was in those hours of Gethsemane that I realized the depths of pure gold in the soul of a fine man. And since then, I have very nearly worshipped him.

"I have never regretted my marriage. In fact I have often blessed the day I decided on it. So that, my dear, is why I do not agree with the advice you gave in your answer to Ione. Love may come after marriage.

"HAZEL."

Sure it can, Pal . . . sometimes . . . And it may grow to be a great beautiful thing, just as it has grown for you.

CIRCUMSTANCES

But remember, you had all the "makin's" of Romance with your man, even if you weren't "in love." You respected him, liked him, needed him. And he was able to meet your need. Love was almost sure to come, under such circumstances.

But when a girl doesn't respect the man she is about to marry—

Or, worse still—because she is sorry for him—

Then there isn't one chance in a million that her marriage can succeed. For her pity will soon grow into impatience—then into open hate.

That's my slant on it. How about yours, Stranger? Would you marry a man—or a woman—you didn't love?

Think it over, and let's have your answer.

Lovely Girls Remind Us of Beautiful Flowers, Declares Fay King

By FAY KING

Lovely girls remind us of beautiful flowers.

The golden girls with the blue of summer skies in their eyes, and the whiteness of fleecy clouds in the skin, remind us of the rare pale orchids.

The velvety dark beauty of the vivid brunettes with the sparkle of the starry night reminds us of rich red roses.

But there are countless other girls, a little less lovely, whose prettiness is just as pleasing.

They remind me of the friendlier flowers we regard with so much affection.

They are the daisies, buttercups, bluebells and marguerites that brighten the fields and meadows of the world.

Veritzen Insists on Putting Promises in Writing

Was Philip Veritzen psychic enough to hear the little voice in my consciousness which was insisting that he put his promises to Mary and Noel in writing? Or, was he distrustful of his own capricious and variable nature? I was never to know, but when Noel and Mary had incoherently thanked him for his munificence, he turned to me and said quietly:

"May I have paper and a pen? I am a most variable person, and I want to put it out of my power to rescind anything I have just said."

Noel spoke quickly, anxiously: "Does that mean, sir, that you wish us to sign an agreement not to marry until you give us permission?"

"That would be the surest method of making a mess of things that I know," he said. "No, I shall require no written or oral promises from you. I am turning your love affair over to Mrs. Graham's guidance, and I am sure you think as I do, that the queen can do no wrong."

"I've always thought that, sir," he said with a smile at me. "I'm willing to do whatever she says."

"And will little Mary watch the straight and narrow path Auntie marks out?" Dicky's lovely young niece queried. "Just watch me!"

She punctuated the words with a strangle hug, and when she had released me I sent her to the desk to arrange pen and paper for Mr. Veritzen's use. He sat down immediately and dashed off three separate short notations which he signed and brought over to me. They were in explicit, uncompromising terms, and the first renounced the elder Veritzen's right to control Noel's legacy from his mother, the second was the gist of a contract with Mary for training as a future Veritzen star, and the third was the option for Noel's work (with a munificent sum quoted) of which he had spoken.

"Read these over and see if you approve them," he said. "Then if you all sign these first two, as witnesses, I will leave them in your care. This option, Noel, I do not wish you to sign until you have consulted some other authority."

"Do you think, sir," he asked tensely, "that I could possibly give my work to anyone but you, if you were willing to take it?"

Mr. Veritzen's brilliant eyes were misty as he folded the paper and handed it to me.

"If you will keep it with the others for the present," he said, a bit unsteadily. "How about them? Are they all right?"

"Indeed, yes," I returned, "they are perfect."

"Thank you! Now!" he threw back his head with a certain joyous abandon. "I can begin to enjoy Christmas."

"The party from The Larches!" Mary exclaimed.

"Is it possible?" Mr. Veritzen asked, his voice uncertain, hesitant—"is there any place where I could be alone for a little while? This—this—has meant so much to me, that I do not want to see—people—for a little while. But the rest of you must go of course."

"They'll be in here, of course," I said, "but there's a little room off this which I use as a sort of domestic office. It is comfortable, with a fireplace in which there is a fire ready to light. And a door from it opens on a little side hall from which you can reach the side veranda. "Noel, take your father in there, and see that he is comfortable."

"Take Mary in there first," Mr. Veritzen said imperatively. "I wish to see Mrs. Graham alone for a second."

I got to my feet as the door closed behind them, and he looked down at me with a tender meaning smile.

"I haven't told you, yet—I have no chance now—will you find the opportunity to come to that little room for a minute or two when you have greeted your guests, and thoroughly mixed your social pudding? I must see you."

There was assurance in his voice and something else, elusive but unmistakable. I had feared it ever since he had mistaken my cry that "I could not bear it," to mean that my disappointment in him meant more to me than my concern for Noel and Mary.

I would have given much to have been able to refuse to see him again—alone, but I heard the merry voices in the hall, and knew that at any minute they might burst into the library. So, fighting again the wave of dizziness, which had threatened all evening to engulf me, I motioned Mr. Veritzen toward the little room to which Noel and Mary had gone, and said in low tones:

"I will come in there as soon as I can. But it may be a long while."

He bent to my hand and kissed it.

"I shall wait there until you do come," he said, "no matter how long it is."

Household Hints

Grained woodwork should not be washed off with soap and water. Clean and polish it by rubbing with a cloth dipped in turpentine.

Sew a slip of strong mosquito netting for the feathers when making pillows. Slip the first pillow into the ticking and fasten the ends with clasps. This the feathers are easily removed for airing and the ticking for washing.

One of those heavy paper shopping bags, suspended on two hooks in the cellarway—or some other out-of-the-way place—will be just the thing in which to store wrapping paper and bits of string, which you have a feeling may come in handy some day.

To determine when the jellying point has been reached in making jelly, put a little on a cold plate and draw a path through it with the point of a spoon; if the path stays and the jelly does not run together, the jellying point has arrived.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

To divorce a double chin anoint with a heavy cream, pick up the flesh in tiny folds, roll firmly between thumb and first finger. After five minutes apply witch hazel. Rub with ice while the head is thrown backward and the chest lifted.

Stubborn cases of headache, backache, continued fatigue, poor circulation, spinal disorders or jumpy nerves may result from wearing of ill-fitting shoes and spiked heels. More troubles than these originate in the feet; among them can be included the frowning face and the grouchy disposition. High heels cause pain in leg muscles, pains that are often mistaken for rheumatism or neuritis.

Twice a year have the tartar removed from the bases of the teeth. Despite the daily brushing, tartar will form. It can be removed only by means of the dentist's instrument.

Convenient beauty kits make traveling easier. The woman in the Pullman dressing room doesn't spread her belongings all over the place, but keeps them together in a neat, compact container. Here's a hint when traveling. Moisten a towel the night before, wrap it in a dry towel. In the morning cleanse the face with the moist one in your berth; follow with a cleaning with cold cream. There will be a saving of much time and inconvenience.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Balance in Daily Diet Is Health Essential

I have frequently referred to the importance of a balanced diet. Today I want to explain more fully just what is meant by this term.

Dr. Copeland

A balanced diet must carry the following factors:

First, sufficient calories to furnish heat and energy. The energy foods are the fats, starches and sugars.

In addition it must contain inorganic salts, iron, phosphorus, lime and iodine. These elements are essential for the proper working of the body. Health cannot be maintained when they are lacking in the diet.

The food must also supply tissue-building elements. These substances are contained in milk, meat and eggs.

It is essential that there be sufficient food and a variety of food. There should be plenty of the necessary vitamins. Vitamins are most abundant in fresh fruits and vegetables. No diet is a balanced diet without the supply of vitamin-containing-foods.

There are foods too, that are of value as "ballast" or "roughage." They contain indigestible material such as cellulose, the fibre of vegetables. This cellulose serves as a stimulant to proper elimination. It hurries the elimination of the waste products of the balanced diet.

A balanced diet should provide approximately the same fuel value each day. This means that a person should not overeat one day and fast the next day. The body is a furnace which should be stoked regularly and equally each day.

Good health cannot exist when the recognized food requirements are ignored. Since this program of food supplies and balances the needs of the body, it is aptly spoken of as a "balanced diet."

A balanced diet insures the full enjoyment of health. It protects against disease. It promotes growth and development.

Answers to Health Queries

MRS. WM. D. Q.—What is the cause of rickets?

A.—Rickets is due to improper diet and sometimes unhygienic surroundings. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

* * *

M. G. C. Q.—What are some of the nerve-building foods?

2—Is it harmful to smoke two cigarets daily if one is more or less nervous otherwise?

A.—Eat of a well-balanced diet and the nervous system will be properly nourished and taken care of. Eat more fruit and vegetables, avoiding too much meat, as well as excessive tea and coffee.

2—Not necessarily so, but might be a good idea to stop the habit entirely, at least for a time and see whether or not there are any results.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Mourning in the Heart—Not Costume

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

How long should a woman of 38 go in mourning for her mother? Is it still customary to go all in black?

Now that the sumer is here I would like your advice as to whether it is necessary for me to wear all black? I feel this way about it . . . I mourn with my heart, not with my clothes.

My mother died in April of this year. READER.

You have, dear friend, answered your own question with the perfect statement, "I mourn with my heart, and not with my clothes." That is what the modern world feels . . . and quite right it is. And this is why we no longer, or at least very seldom, see women swathed in heavy mourning clothes, or heavy, sorrowful-looking crepe veils, or hot-looking dresses of heavy material. This makes them uncomfortable and makes an observer uncomfortable. Very few people, nowadays, wear this kind of heavy mourning, and very few people wear mourning for the long periods of former days. The individual determines the kind of mourning and the length of time it is to be worn.

The new black and white combinations, with lightweight materials, are perfect. Or dark clothes, not necessarily accenting the black at all. And all-white is as deep mourning as all-black, remember.

Greeting the Hostess

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When a woman caller has been seated by the servant should she stand to greet the hostess as she enters?

DOUBTFUL.

Yes, it is natural for her to do this.

By All Means, Obey Your Sensitiveness

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a clerk in a drug store. I have been there for nearly two years. The thing I am worrying about is this. I do a lot of reading in my spare time, and when a traveler enters the store, and the manager asks him to come into the back room, should I (I am usually in the back room reading) stay where I am and continue reading, or go out in the front shop until he has left? I think it is all right to remain where I am reading, as I happen to be there when he enters. Sometimes I feel very uneasy if I stay there, but yet I do not like to be seen standing around in the front shop. I should be very pleased if you would kindly inform me as to which is correct as soon as possible. A. P.

This is a good question, and I am glad that you asked it. By all means obey your sensitiveness about this, and when your employer enters the back room with a guest, rise and at once go to the front room, so that the manager can have the privacy of the back room to talk with his guest. If you do this, you won't "feel uneasy," and neither will the manager and his guest.

Is a Present Necessary?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have received an invitation to a wedding. Is it necessary to send a present? READER.

Receiving an invitation of an announcement to a wedding does not mean buying a present. One sends—or should send—a wedding present for the same reason that one sends any other kind of present; because one wishes to send it.

'PLAYBOY' TELLS HOW GIRL DIED

NEWPORT, R. I., June 23.—(INS.)—Elliot R. (Pinky) Hathaway's remarkable story told from the witness stand of how pretty 20-year-old Verna Russell met death in the midst of a "petting party" in his parked automobile in a lonely lane was subjected today to a severe cross-examination when the "playboy" resumed the stand at his trial for murder.

In calm, nonchalant manner, "Pinky" gave his version on what transpired on the fatal night of March 23 when he and Verna were sitting in the rear seat of his car in Winward lane, Tiverton, R. I. He said they had been drinking gin, kissing and hugging. He handed her a ginger ale bottle and she began to choke.

She evidently had knocked an artificial tooth down her throat with the bottle, strangling herself, he explained.

Florida Senate Votes 8-Cent Gasoline Tax

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 23.—(AP.)—A bill that would place a tax of eight cents a gallon on gasoline in Florida was passed by the State Senate yesterday.

The measure, providing an excise levy of two cents a gallon in addition to the prevailing six-cent tax, is sponsored by the administration of Gov. Doyle E. Carlton. The House has not acted upon it.

Acidine Helps Digestion More Than Anything Else

ACIDINE is the only known remedy which contains Japtase, that in laboratory tests digests 800 times its weight of certain heavy, starchy foods which cause trouble. It neutralizes burning acids, soothes irritated stomach linings, stops gassy headaches, sleeplessness and nervousness in acid conditions. ACIDINE also fortifies you against colds by reducing acidity.

CADMAN RAPS MODERN MUSIC

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—(AP.)—Music from breakfast until far into the night and a moderate amount of business was on the program for delegates to the biennial convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs as it entered its second business day today.

Delegates were told that modernistic musical compositions, while amusing, were not good music; that the "talking screen" was playing a leading role in the development of a national music, and that parents too often exploit the musical talent of their children while the nation neglects her musical artists.

Modernistic music was criticized by Charles Wakefield Cadman, composer, who said it lacked the "repose and emotion" necessary to good music. No musical work, he said, completely interprets the American scene.

Fall Tested to Find Fitness for Prison

EL PASO, Tex., June 23.—(AP.)—A thorough physical examination of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, is under way at William Beaumont General Hospital here with indications it would not be completed for several days.

The examination was ordered to decide whether he is able to go to Washington for commitment to prison under a year's sentence imposed on his conviction of accepting a bribe in leasing the Elk Hills, Cal., naval reserve.

Musmanno to Visit Reserve Officers Meet

Capt. M. A. Musmanno, Republican candidate for judge of County Court, is scheduled to attend the annual convention of the Reserve Officers Association of the U. S. Army, Friday and Saturday, in Erie.

Musmanno has been selected chairman of the committee that will draft a constitution for the state organization of the association.

Civic Leaders Approve Policy of Frank & Seder Lower Prices to Hasten Return of Normal Conditions . .

Mrs. Enoch Rauh

Director of Public Welfare of Pittsburgh

. . . thus voices her approval of the new Frank & Seder policy to lower price, as a step toward restoring normal conditions . . .

"Your new policy of lowering prices in order to stimulate buying, and thus help to restore normal conditions, strongly appeals to me as a commendable undertaking, and one worthy of the support of every Pittsburgher.

"Your success has been closely linked with the progress of our city, and that success has been largely attained by policies such as the one you are about to inaugurate. I am happy to see you take the initiative in a movement of this useful and timely character. You have my best wishes for unqualified success."

5 HELD IN DOW ROBBERY

Five youths were held for court by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in Morals Court this morning in connection with a holdup and robbery of Dow's Drug Store, Smithfield and Diamond streets, yesterday morning.

They are Sam Medved, 20, 208 Four Mile Run road, arrested early this morning; Andrew Superior, 19, 717 Forward avenue; Dominick Chiappino, alias Sam Cohen, 21, 4352 Chatsworth street; Richard Hirchman, 18, 1621 Westfield avenue, and John Krall, 18, 329 Four Mile Run road.

William Grimm, manager of the drug store, and Theodore Barna, a clerk, identified Superior and Hirchman as two of the men who forced them at the point of a gun to carry the safe containing $945 down from the balcony and down Smithfield street into a waiting car. They said the robbers took $26 from the cash register.

Train Wreck Kills 1, Passengers in Panic

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 23.—(INS)—A member of the train crew was killed and a panic occurred among passengers yesterday when a Denver and Rio Grande passenger train crashed into a slow-moving freight train just outside the city limits here.

James J. Landers, 50, engineer of the passenger train, was killed. None of the passengers was reported seriously injured, but a number were shaken up.

Second Guessing Held Wise In Tests

CINCINNATI, June 23.—(AP)—Your second guess is pretty nearly always twice as good as your first.

Dr. Edna E. Lamson, professor of child care and training of the University of Cincinnati, advises students to "think twice" before recording their answers in college quizzes.

After studying the "true false" examinations of 1,511 students, Dr. Lamson found that "chances are two to one the second judgment will be correct."

Likewise, it pays to be dubious, she found.

STORM DAMAGE IN AMBRIDGE

An electrical storm, accompanied by heavy rains, tied up traffic, flooded cellars, and caused damage estimated at several thousand dollars in Ambride last night.

Dirt and debris washed from hills above Duss avenue covered the street from Fair Oaks to the Legionville Bridge for a depth of nearly a foot in many places. Cellars were flooded and automobile and street car traffic impeded.

TORMENTING CORNS CEASE TROUBLING

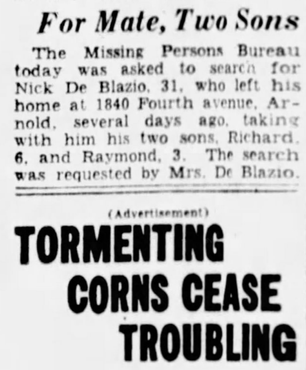
Why endure the torture of a corn—why ruin your fun and make your work a burden—when there is such a trustworthy way to end the pain and drive away its cause?

Rightly, naturally, you are afraid to chance harsh, rapid-fire "cures" and infection-inviting paring. But millions can tell you of a safe, sane treatment that brings relief without risk.

For 31 years these millions have used Blue-jay corn plasters to end corns. Instant relief comes the moment Blue-jay cushions the tingling spot and stops the chafing pressure. And that same moment Blue-jay's mild medication starts softening and loosening the corn.

Ask your druggist today for Blue-jay—the sensible treatment, made by Bauer & Black, noted surgical dressing manufacturers. Keep them handy—stop corns at the start! 25c a box.

She Had Nervous Prostration



"It helped to Save My Life"

"I REALLY believe that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped to save my life.
"Owing to bereavement I was reduced to nervous prostration.
"I could hardly bear anyone to speak to me and I had to lie down most of the time.
"Nothing seemed to help me until I read about your Vegetable Compound. From the very first it helped my nerves and I slept better.
"Your medicine is all you claim for it."—Dora Hohstadt, 220 North Main Street, Memphis, Missouri.

AMUSEMENTS -:- Second Week for 'Follies'; New Film: River Play -:- SOCIETY DRAMA -:- Star to Do Romantic Role With 'Heavy' Moments

'Tempest and Sunshine' Is A Showerbath for Sin, A Halo for Virtue

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Down in old Kentucky, where the shade trees wave in the balmy breeze, where the good old mammies make hoe cakes and mince pies, where board costs $1.50 a week and villains are always foiled, is laid the scene of "Tempest and Sunshine," the thrilling drama enacted on Capt. Menke's showboat, the palatial Golden-rod, during this week.

George Seibel

I went to Montrose last night and I am a better man today.

After the worldliness and wickedness of the sinful Follies, here was a bath of purity and peace.

I feel refreshed, regenerated and newly sanctified. After four acts of "Tempest and Sunshine," one knows that every cloud has a silver lining and that darkness is followed by dawn. No matter how desperate the deceits of the evildoer, vengeance will overtake him. Though the heroine is driven from home in disgrace, she will return and marry the handsome hero.

The hero was going to marry the heroine's spiteful sister. But the drunken scoundrel who had forged the heroine's name to some love-letters addressed to the villain, showed up just in the nick of time, and the hero speaks the fateful words: "Something has happened!" And then he marries little Sunshine.

YET THEY ARE SISTERS

Sunshine is the good sister. Tempest is the wicked one. Sunshine, played by Virginia Dale was cute and golden-haired, an angel made of yellow taffy. Tempest, acted by Frances Golden was a spitfire with sleek and sable tresses, a tiger moulded out of black licorice.

Though Sunshine had eaten five dishes of ice cream at a party, she was very spiritual. When the hero teaches her to draw, and she can draw a heart, it is his heart she draws to her. It took them 45 seconds by my split-second Jules Jurgensen to get engaged. Somebody in the audience yelled, "Kiss her!" but the hero was spiritual too. Played by Robert Graham, he made us feel that Sir Galahad and Parsifal were just poor also-rans.

How he tears up the incriminating forgery and throws the scraps into the villain's face, after Sunshine has cried out in tragic tones, "I hate him!" One act later the hero believes the same forgeries, but that is because heroes are trusting and villains are cunning.

The villainies of Hugh Stanton, played by W. D. McKenzie, have ancient Iago looking like Old Dog Tray. This villain actually produces a bottle of Kentucky rye, which is against the Eighteenth Amendment, and wraps it in a $20 bill to bribe the drunken never-do-well, played by Albert Graybill, to commit the forgeries.

ONE-SIDED AUDIENCE

Perhaps he was figuring on gaining the sympathy of the audience, for a little earlier, when the good old Kentucky Kernel, played by Billy Florer, had profanely extolled Kentucky rye, the audience roared with rapture and smacked its thirsty lips.

It was a sympathetic audience just the same. When somebody offered the heroine a gift, one man in the parquet shouted an enthusiastic "Hurrah!" They booed the villain and hissed the unhappy Tempest when she declared, "I hate everybody!" And they laughed at the comicalities of the two darkies played by Harry Rollin and Blanche Gardiner, who were put in to prove it really happened in Kentucky.

They weren't really needed. Everybody could tell it was Kentucky, even without the waving palms and the Bourbon rye. Didn't everybody say "reckon"?

The authors of the drama are unknown to fame. Shakespeare is reported to have written "The Tempest," but who added the Sunshine and the Moonshine?

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

A. Reader, the well known contributor to many publications, writes—with the best of intentions, no doubt—a cupla letters to this department pooh-poohing Mr. Ziegfeld's claims to having in his new "Follies" all of the "most beautiful girls in the world" or even the pick of 'em.

"Mr. Ziegfeld," writes Mr. Reader, "can walk Fifth avenue, in Pittsburgh, and in a short time find more actual beauty than he has in his 'Follies.' I am not trying to say he doesn't have some wonderful talent, but if he bases his claim on beauty, he should move to Pittsburgh and find some real beauties."

We can find no fault with Mr. Reader's sentiment, especially since it proves that he is just what the Sun-Telegraph is always exhorting everybody to be—a Pittsburgh booster. Our local girls sure rate high in pulchritude. Not trusting our own judgment about others, we sent a lady scout to check up on the gals in the Nixon after receiving Mr. Reader's two letters, and she reported that she never saw so many pretty girls on the stage at one time. So there you are.

Small Timer, pulling a sample of feminine hosiery from his pocket and mopping his brow with an elaborate gesture, says a man never knows what he can do until he tries, whereas a woman knows exactly what she can do when she cries.

Bill Robinson, who has a grand mastery of those money-feet of his, picked 'em up and laid 'em down on the Stanley stage yesterday, the first of a special two-day engagement in that theater. Bill's toe-tapping often has been commented upon as just about the height of perfection in his particular field of the art of dancing. Besides, he has a pleasing personality that makes his quiet comedy most ingratiating.

Block—"You mean 'dumber than I.'"

In Lead

Carole Lombard, who is to be the bride of William Powell, Pittsburgh actor, plays the feminine lead in "I Take This Woman," on the Penn screen Friday.

'Follies,' Opening Second Week in the Nixon, Again Amazes

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"The Follies of 1931," revisited last night in the Nixon, revealed that this latest edition of the pioneer revue of the American stage still is a lot of show for the money. Too much, in fact, for those who crave the solace of their beds before 1 a. m. With an hour cut from the running time of a week ago, it managed to let down the final curtain shortly before 12. Yet the long production is so amusing, so gorgeous, so colorful, so beautiful in girls and so generous in its presentation of talent that it is doubtful if any person present regretted having to remain longer than is customary for attendance at an ordinary revue.

This, of course, is an intimation that the latest production of the old master, Florenz Ziegfeld, is not an ordinary revue. Make it stronger. Say it outright—the "Follies" is no ordinary revue.

THE ORDINARY WINS

Yet it is the ordinary things done in an extraordinary way that stand out prominently and make the biggest hit with the audience. If one accepts applause as the criterion, the most satisfactory thing, as indicated in audience reaction, is the dancing. Of course an all-dancing show would become as boresome eventually as a one-course meal. But dancing, interlarded as it is here with many other things does not become tiresome in the "Follies." Just the opposite.

Before the week is out, Mr. Ziegfeld probably will do as he has been doing—changing, cutting and inserting until he finally gets the exact pattern to suit him; but there is no doubt the dancing will remain as is, because the audience likes it. It is but repetition to state that Hal LeRoy, tall and agile boy, and Mitzi Mayfair, petite and graceful girl, are among the most marvelous dancers ever to step on the Nixon stage.

DANCING APPEALS

To see Hal do his eccentric steps and to see Miss Mayfair's easy manner in difficult rhythmic movements is a revelation. Pearl Osgood, too, in a solo number and a couple of duets with young LeRoy, wins success as a capable dancer and a most charming young person. Buck and Bubbles, Negro comedy steppers, are as big a hit as any of the delightful hoofing group.

The comedy, which is of the highly sophisticated order for the most part, gets many laughs but the response is not as hearty as for the dancing nor does it compare with the admiration for the many beautiful things of the "Follies." Outstanding in the matter of production, the four-scene sequence, "Broadway Reverie," remains the high spot, and the vehicle whereby some of the best things in the whole show are presented. The setting representing Rector's alone evokes instant demonstration through its beauty.

SUGGEST TABLEAUX

The most striking ensemble is mustered at "Buckingham Palace," introduced with a song "Changing of the Guards," by the male chorus.

Among the scenes appearing to be definitely out since last week is "The Grand Guignol," a skit acted in French and given to the audience through interpreters. The opening night audience thought it rather unfunny. The same may be said of a new skit presented last night. It was not on the program, hence we do not know the title, but it showed Jack Pearl getting cured of hiccoughs that persisted even after he had shot himself as a means of obtaining relief.

RIFE WITH TALENT

The "Follies" is veritably rife with high-class talent. Harry Richmond appears in the midst of everything and gives satisfaction in all that he does. Helen Morgan also is prominent and has an appealing song in "My Bill," which she sings sitting—not on a piano, but on the little runway jutting from the stage. Jack Pearl carries most of the comedy scenes. A real artist of the old school is Jack. Ruth Etting gets her best response from the audience in the singing of "Harvest Moon" and "Cigarets, Cigars."

Charlie Chan At Best in Warner

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Charlie Chan solves another murder mystery in the Warner.

"The Black Camel" is an entertaining mystery melodrama. It is an improvement on its predecessor, "Charlie Chan Carries On," in that its situations are less hackneyed.

Mr. Oland, as the proverb-reciting sleuth, Mr. Chan, is at his best in this one. His performance is convincing and his philosophy is refreshing. But he has no monopoly on the accents, as Bela Lugosi, who used to be Dracula, and Victor Varconi also are in the cast.

There are many light comedy moments that contrast well with the darker melodrama. The story moves along with vim and vigor, and holds an element of suspense all the way.

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, June 23.

Future plans of this star have been more or less muddled with announcements of new stories for him appearing in rapid succession. But all the purchases are held up in lieu of "The Thirteenth Guest," which starts immediately after Cortez finishes in "Mad Marriage," opposite Helen Twelvetrees.

The story is an original by Lou Serecky, who, in addition to being the author, will watch his brain-child filmed, acting in his executive position of associate producer.

Ricardo Cortez

Cortez will be seen in a romantic role, but not without his "heavy" moments when he philanders with the wives of his associates.

Aside from the selection of the star, the story is at a standstill as regards further casting or director. Even the title will be changed, as some author has a published novel which gives him first claim to the name.

LOIS LEAVING

Following the completion of "The Midnight Cruise," Lois Moran will bid Hollywood goodbye for a few months, to continue her stage career.

Man Held as Boy Auto Victim Dies

THREE INJURED IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Patrolman on Duty Struck By Car; Four Motorists Arrested as Reckless

Injuries suffered when struck by an automobile, early today caused the death of Robert Barlog, 5, of 937 Coal road, Munhall, in Homestead Hospital. The accident occurred Wednesday. Ralph Treusch, 20, of 249 Home street, Homeville, driver of the machine which struck the boy, was to be turned over to the coroner today to post bond pending an inquest.

John Watterson, 62, and George Brown, 57, both of 623 Hale street, were removed to Pittsburgh Hospital late yesterday suffering injuries received when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a truck at Murtland avenue and Kelly street. Charles Brown, 28, of the Hale street address, driver of the automobile, and V. E. Love, 40, of 1215 North Lang avenue, the truck driver, were arrested on reckless driving charges.

Struck by an autmobile while directing traffic in the Boulevard of the Allies at Wood street, Traffic Patrolman Walter Mullen was removed to Mercy Hospital late yesterday. He suffered bruises and a probable fracture of the left leg. Two motorists who are said to have been involved in the accident, were arrested on reckless driving charges.

UNION STRIKERS PICKET PLANT

Following the announcement of a 10 per cent wage cut, striking members of Local No. 24, Amalgamated Lithographers of America, are picketing the plant of the Bankers' Lithographing Company, Forbes street, according to W. Arch Scott, president of the local.

The strike at the plant was called June 19 after three conferences with officials regarding the announced cut in wages had been held.

114 Mafia Facing Long Prison Terms

The trial marks the end of a veritable reign of terror which lasted for years. The charges against the prisoners included 43 murders.

Trade Board Sees Vote Machine Work

Hit by Lightning, We Get Bill for The Electricity

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Hoover debt plan made stocks play leapfrog again.

Now there is an air of optimism that is almost stratosphere.

It's about time. We're all under the same tree in the same thunderstorm.

But seems strange to get struck by lightning and also to be handed a bill for the electricity.

Germany doesn't have to pay anything for the next two years. Those Berliners are smart. They just trundled the wheel barrow upside down like the student in the nut factory.

So Andy gave them two years to pay nothing and borrow more.

What do we care? When the frankfurters are gone we'll eat the mustard.

The debt plan made an instantaneous furore in Europe. Why bite the hand that's feeding you when there's more meat on the calf of the leg?

FEAR FOR LIFE OF CAFE MAN

Believed to have been a victim of foul play, Harry Lee, 35, of 425 East Ohio street, manager of the Original Coffee House, is being sought by police and the Missing Persons Bureau.

Mr. Lee

According to Lee's wife, and W. J. Ford, owner of the restaurant, Lee had $101 when he left his place of business Sunday night. He is said to have been threatened on several occasions by a gang of men who have caused disturbances in front of the restaurant. He is the father of two small children, Bruce, 2 years, and Donald, 3 weeks.

Condition of Poison Victim Favorable

Said to be suffering from the effects of poison tablets accidentally swallowed, E. Kobe, 35, a resident of a Shady avenue hotel, was reported to be in "fair condition" today at the Pittsburgh Hospital. When admitted to the hospital late yesterday, Kobe said he had taken the tablets in mistake for a headache remedy.

Boy, 7, Drowned In Swimming Pool

Linwood Williams, 7, Negro, of 411 Arch street, Carnegie, was drowned when he went beyond his depth in a swimming pool near Rosslyn Heights, according to police. The body was recovered by John McCabe, 26, of 619 Arch street, a short time later. Efforts to revive him, made by a trio of Boy Scouts, proved futile.

GANG ROBS MAN AFTER CRASH

Six youths who took $7.50 from Martin L. Stewart, a Negro, of 101 Third street, Duquesne, to pay for alleged damages to their automobile in a collision with Stewart's car, were being sought by police today.

The accident occurred early today in Homestead but the robbery is said to have taken place in Hays.

SCHOOL BOARD SCORES DELAY BY STRIKES

Building Projects Held Up by Feuds Among Workmen; Will Award 2 Contracts

Resolutions protesting against the strikes which are holding up school building construction, and demands that the unions settle their difficulties were to be considered today at a meeting of the Board of Education. At last night's meeting of the board's property and supplies committee, Marcus Aaron, president of the board was authorized to draft the strike protest. The motion for the resolution was presented by N. R. Criss and was seconded by Charles A. Fisher.

The committee recommended that the board award today the contracts for the Larimer School addition and for the new H. B. Davis School in Squirrel Hill. The Navarro Company was the low bidder for the Larimer project at $148,000. Low bid on the Davis School was submitted by the Hodder Construction Company at $77,400.

During the discussion of the strikes which are holding up school work, James Bonar, superintendent of buildings, stated the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers Union would vote tonight on whether to accept a wage scale agreement offered by the Building Trades Employers' Association.

Discussing the delays, President Aaron said:

"This is no time for lockouts or strikes. This board has awarded contracts for $3,000,000 or $4,000,000 of construction this year, and it is now being tied up. Contractors and trades unions not directly involved in the strikes are being penalized, as well as the taxpayers. People want work and can't get it. Such strikes are not necessary and are against public policy. We should demand that the employers and workers get together and end such nonsense."

Pastor Made Sheriff For Murder Trial

ARMORE, Okla., June 23.—(AP.)—A Presbyterian minister will perform the duties of a sheriff when the trial of W. E. Guess and Cecil Crosby, former deputy sheriffs, opens tomorrow for the slaying of two Mexican students, Emilio Cortes Rubio and Manuel Garcia Gomez.

The minister is the Rev. John S. Price, pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian Church here, appointed as special sheriff for the trial by John B. Ogden, district judge, after Elmer Byrd, sheriff, disqualified himself because of his former official connection with the two defendants.

Editors May Carry Pistols to Mexico

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 23.—(AP.)—Louis Castro, Mexican consul in Phoenix, said today American newspapermen entering Mexico next August to attend the annual convention of American press members to be held in Mexico City will be permitted to carry a side arm and "50 rounds of ammunition."

$30,000 WHARF FUND REQUEST IN COUNCIL

Action Due on Lang Plea For Appropriation to Improve Parking Lots

Request of a $30,000 appropriation to begin wharf improvements at the city parking lot on the Monongahela River, between Market street and Exchange way, was to be acted upon today by Council's Committee on Finance.

The request was made yesterday by the Department of Public Works.

Grades will be re-established at the site and the surface will be repaved with used brick from the Noblestown road. A large amount of the money would be used for truck hire in hauling the brick from the roadway project to the downtown, Public Works Director Lang informed Council.

The State Highway Department is co-operating with the city in repaving Noblestown road. Lang made a survey of the site and ascertained the brick could be used for the wharf improvement.

Later Lang hopes to broaden his program of wharf improvements to include the parking lots along the Allegheny River at Duquesne way.

Improvement of the wharves has been asked by various civic organizations and by citizens.

EAST LIBERTY BOMBING

The Blasts Were Directed at 'Private Clubs'

WRECKAGE OF FRONT PORCH AFTER BOMBING AT 5933 BROAD STREET IN EAST LIBERTY

HOUSES ROCKED BY MORNING EXPLOSIONS

Blasts Shake Homes Close To East Liberty Stores; Alleged Proprietor Held

Gangsters believed to have been brought here from New York by East End racketeers are blamed by police for the bombing early today of two alleged "private clubs" in Broad street, East Liberty. The fronts of the two places at 5933 Broad street and 6243 Broad street, were damaged. Both are within a few blocks of the East Liberty business district.

The theory that the bombings were the work of New Yorkers was exploded. A truck with a New York license passed the place just before the explosion, but later it was found and no connection with the blast discovered.

HOMES WRECKED

The first explosion occurred shortly before 5 o'clock, the blast wrecking the front of the two-story dwelling at 5933 Broad street. The front porch was blown away and windows in nearby residences shattered. The house was unoccupied.

Windows in two buildings across the street also were shattered. Police arrested Robert Rodgers, 35, of 5931 Broad street, and who, they said, is a janitor in the alleged club. Police said he was unable to tell them the identity of the owners.

ONE ARRESTED

The second explosion occurred at 6243 Broad street, another two-story dwelling remodeled into what police term a "private club." When police arrived they found a man sweeping the broken glass from the sidewalk. This building was only slightly damaged.

Officers questioned the man cleaning the sidewalk, and they say he told them he was a janitor. Later they arrested Dave Martin, 46, alleged operator, on a charge of keeping a disorderly house.

Rodgers was held for further investigation at a hearing this morning before Magistrate Charles Papale in East End Police Court. He said he was employed by a man known to him only as Jacobs. Magistrate Papale fined Martin $100 or 60 days in the workhouse.

Windows in homes on both sides of the place were shattered, as well as those in a factory across the street. Police estimated damage to both establishments at $800.

BLEDSOE TRIAL MARKS TIME

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 23.—Testimony concerning weather conditions and the introduction of automobile photographs occupied today's trial of R. C. Bledsoe, former county detective, charged with the murder of Elmer Younkin.

Yesterday witnesses testified that six or seven days before his death Younkin was in the auto when it plunged over a hill.

R. H. Patterson, former railroad engineer, testified Younkin had told him after the first crash:

"If I had been hurt, I would have got a lot of money. 'Captain' has got a lot of money on me. If I got hurt I was going to Ford Hill and start a butcher shop and grocery store."

Train Kills Man Lying on Tracks

Efforts were being made today by morgue attaches to learn the address of William Fleckenstine, 51, who was fatally injured when struck by a train at Reduction. He died in the McKeesport Hospital a few hours after the accident.

According to the morgue report, the victim had been seen lying on the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad a short time before the train struck him.

Pittsburghers Named By Epworth League

Frank Sheets, of the North Side, was re-elected president of the Allegheny district of the Epworth League at the district convention which closed last night in the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Beaver, Pa. Harvey Cook, of Pittsburgh, was elected a vice president; Helen Patterson, of Bellevue, secretary, and Fred Rowland, of Sharpsburg, treasurer.

At yesterday's session the principal speaker was United States District Attorney Louis E. Graham, who spoke on "The Sin of Causing Others to Stumble."

His wife took his picture down and hung in its place that of another man, before she deserted him, according to the testimony of Charles Hill Ewing, 36, paint salesman, 224 Maple avenue, Edgewood. He was granted a divorce from Florence Goodman Ewing, 31, 1119 Walnut street, Turtle Creek, by Judge W. Heber Dithrich in Common Pleas Court.

They were married January 21, 1928, and she left him February 15, 1929, Ewing testified. He said:

"She took a photograph of mine down. The next morning I found this man's picture on the bookcase where mine had stood. Mine had been folded up and turned face down.

"She said it was her property and there was nobody big enough to take it down. I took it down and folded it and handed it to her.

"She came home at 2 o'clock in the morning and told me she had been to a bridge party, that it was none of my business where. She cooked my meals, but would not eat with me."

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 23.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph.

Here we go again — America running true to form fixing some other country's business for 'em just as we always do. We mean well, but will wind up "in wrong" as usual. When some nation wants us to help 'em out, they use the same old "gag," that we should exert our "moral leadership," and we, like a yap, believe it when as a matter of truth no nation wants any other nation exerting a "moral leadership" over 'em even if they had one. If we ever pass out as a great nation we ought to put on our tombstone: "America died from a delusion that she had moral leadership."

Yours, WILL.

GETS 10 YEARS ON GUILTY PLEA IN SLAYING

Jury Ordered to Free Second Suspect by Judge; Third Case Nears Jury

Elias Lewis, Negro, 30, of 4506 Lorigan street, was sentenced to serve from 10 to 20 years in the penitentiary today. He pleaded guilty yesterday before Visiting Judge Charles D. Copeland, of Westmoreland County, in Criminal Court, to the murder of James V. McDermott, white, 36, 384 Thirty-ninth street, April 22, following a fight in a Thirty-fourth street speakeasy between several white men and several Negroes. Lewis was sentenced to serve from 10 to 20 years in the penitentiary today.

Ogsby Roy, Negro, 35, of 5428 Harrison street, also indicted for the murder, stood trial. Judge Copeland directed the jury to find him not guilty.

It was testified Roy knocked McDermott down but did not follow when the latter got up and ran. Lewis, who had not taken part in the fight, pursued McDermott and attacked him with a knife, it was testified.

Lewis, who had made a confession to police, said on the witness stand that he had been drinking and did not know why he killed McDermott.

The murder trial of Frank Sipps, 40, 810 Mulberry street, McKeesport, for the death of Walter W. Simpson, 732 Fifth street, McKeesport, in a stabbing affray May 12, was expected to go to the jury late today.

BOY, 7, INJURED PLAYING BALL

Struck on the head with a bat when he ran in front of another boy while playing baseball, Harry Gormasik, 7, of 2505 Lebanon street, is confined to the South Side Hospital in a critical condition. He is thought to be suffering a fractured skull. The accident occurred at the playgrounds at South Twenty-sixth and Josephine streets last night.

Gormasik was hurt when he ran in front of Mike Peratsch, 15, of 6 Kosciusko way, who was batting a ball, witnesses said.

OFFERS CALF TO PAY FINE

A live calf in lieu of dollars and cents has been offered Benjamin G. Eynon, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, in payment of a fine of $13.50. The tender of the calf was made by a woman farmer-motorist living near Canton, Bradford county, who was stopped by the highway patrol for alleged defective headlamps. After reciting financial difficulties, the woman wrote Eynon as follows:

"However, if I must pay the fine, I am afraid the only way I can do so is to give you that amount, either in eggs, milk or calves. We have one nice calf that is worth just that amount, at the present price of veal, but since there is hardly any market for them I could not possibly sell it in time to pay the fine.

"The only thing to do would be for you to send for it. If that would be impossible we might arrange to deliver it to the Justice of the Peace, but there our responsibility would naturally end as far as the calf is concerned. With milk at less than 2 cents a quart, and eggs at 18 cents a dozen, the calf is the best buy. Please advise us if this would be satisfactory."

Commissioner Eynon replied that the Department of Revenue regretted that it could be of no assistance as the matter does not come under its jurisdiction. He suggested that it be referred to the Justice of the Peace who heard the case.

Mile of New Rail Placed by Pennsy

A special crew of 100 men yesterday laid a mile of the new 152-pound steel rail at Donohoe, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. This is the first of the new track which is to be laid on the division between Pittsburgh and Altoona, and is the heaviest rail used by any railroad in America.

ENGLE ADMITS POWER FIRM PAYMENT

Former Youngstown Traction Commissioner Testifies to Receiving $10,000 in Cash

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 23.—(AP.)—Harry Engle, former city traction commissioner, under cross-examination yesterday in Prosecutor Ray L. Thomas' trial for blackmailing him, said he had asked John T. Harrington, former president of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Power and Light Company, for $1,200 to reimburse him for "salary" paid in 1924 to Clyde W. Osborne "as law director."

Osborne at that time was city law director, and also was acting as attorney for the power company in a fight against buses here.

DENIES SHARING FEES

Asked if he had not split fees with Osborne, Engle replied that he "never made Osborne split any fees."

Engle admitted that a claim he says he submitted to Harrington in 1929 included $19,000 for legal services a major portion of which he planned to pay Thomas, although he did not approach Thomas until 1930 with a proposal that the prosecutor help him collect from the company under an alleged contract by which he was to manipulate public affairs for the corporation.

ADMITS GETTING $10,000

Engle testified that after receiving $10,000 in 20 $500 bills at the New York office of R. P. Stevens, another former P-O president, he kept the money for weeks in a dictionary at his home, later investing it in stocks. Other cash payments, he said he obtained from the company were kept either on his person or in a safe in his office. None of the payments were deposited in banks, he said.

Engle admitted having asked C. S. MacCalla, another P-O executive, for concessions at an amusement park run by the company, but denied that he had demanded that MacCalla sign a ready-prepared contract and denied that he bore any ill-will because he was not given the concessions.

The state contends that Thomas blackmailed Engle in demanding that Council oust him as commissioner because of his demands on the company.

Four Arrests Made In Raid, Beer Seized

Two men and two women were arrested by North Side police in a raid last night on a residence at 1012 Galveston avenue. The police reported arresting Mrs. Millie Neller, as the occupant of the house, and two men and another woman as visitors. The raiders also reported confiscating 800 bottles of home brew.

PLAN TO MARK OLD PEN SITE

Approval of a plan to erect a bronze memorial tablet in North Side Park to mark the original site of the Western State Penitentiary was expected to be given the Pennsylvania Historical Commission by City Council today.

The plan has the backing of the City Art Commission.

Children Start Row, Father of 8 Is Slain

LOS ANGELES, June 23.—(AP.)—A fight between two small boys drew their fathers into a quarrel yesterday and as a result, sheriff's deputies said, Ignacio Quintero, 46, father of eight children, was shot to death.

NEW ZEALAND, TOKIO SHAKEN

LONDON, June 23.—(INS.)—A prolonged earthquake today shook down chimneys, water tanks and numerous houses in the towns of Wairoa, Nuhaka and Morere, on the north island of New Zealand, according to dispatches received here from Wellington.

After the first severe shock, minor vibrations were felt at intervals for the next four hours.

TOKIO, June 23.—(AP.)—An earthquake perceptible to human beings for more than one minute, shook Tokio this afternoon. As far as could be determined, there was no damage.

Mt. Yakegatake, in Nagano prefecture, erupted twice today. Mt. Asama, near Karuizawa, also in Nagano prefecture, began erupting yesterday.

WATER BATTLE TO MARK MEET OF FIREMEN

County Association to Wage Mock War at Sharpsburg; Bellevue Plans Carnival

Water battles tonight were to feature today's session of the seventeenth annual convention of the Allegheny County Firemen's Association in Sharpsburg. The convention opened Sunday night with memorial services for deceased members.

More than 100 pieces of fire fighting apparatus will be in a parade through streets of the borough Saturday afternoon. Awarding of prizes for winning companies in the parade will be made at 9 p. m. in the carnival grounds.

Bellevue volunteer firemen will be hosts to volunteer companies throughout the county at the opening of their annual carnival at Cray's Field, Lincoln avenue, on July 16.

Visiting companies will parade through the borough in competition for prizes. James Greenough, Jr., is general chairman.

City Pumping Station Employes Ask Raise

An increase in wages of $1 per day is asked for all oilers, firemen and helpers at the city pumping stations in a communication addressed to Council by the International Brotherhood of Firemen, Oilers and Helpers.

The communication points out that similar requests were made for the past two years, but nothing was ever done about the matter. The employes have not been given a salary raise since 1924, the letter said. Council took the matter under advisement.

in Studebaker's famous

DICTATOR EIGHT

The Eight that gives you amazing smoothness proved by Torsiographic tests

THE thrill, delight, and welcome thrift of Free Wheeling are yours in all their meaning in Studebaker's famous Dictator.

The Dictator Eight gives you such fine car refinements as dual carburetion and manifolding, full-power exhaust muffling and carburetor silencing.

"Rounded" Performance

The Torsiograph, one of the most nearly infallible of automotive laboratory instruments, records accurately the vibration of any rotating shaft. The closer the record chart approaches a true circle, the more nearly perfect the balance of the crankshaft. At the left are shown the Torsiographic records of The Dictator Eight nine (9) bearing crankshaft and those of two other eights of double The Dictator's price. Notice the smooth roundness of The Dictator graph contrasted with the irregularity, or "humpiness" of the other two.

What a background for the latest and greatest Studebaker contribution to motoring—Free Wheeling with positive gear control!

The Dictator gives you thrilling speed, with the quiet, unhampered flight which Free Wheeling brings. You shift noiselessly at any pace, ignoring the clutch entirely between second and high. Traffic officials have hailed Free Wheeling as a distinct contribution to public safety.

You save money when you buy The Dictator and every mile you drive it. Free Wheeling gives you 10,000 miles of travel for 8,000 miles of engine work—a 15% to 20% economy in gasoline and oil.

Go Free Wheeling in this smoothest Eight of its price class. You will be convinced that The Dictator is the Eight for you.

STREETWORK PROGRAM UP TO COUNCIL

Lang Submits Lengthy List Of Paving, Widening and Sewer Projects for Action

A program of street improvements, sewers and widening operations on a number of thoroughfares was before City Council today.

Seven grading, paving and curbing jobs, five sewers and three widening projects are contained in the list prepared by Public Work Director Edward G. Lang and his engineers. They include:

Construction of sewer on Carey way, from west of South Twenty-first street to existing sewer on South Twentieth street.

The ordinance was to be laid before Council's committee on Finance today.

DIRIGIBLE NEAR DISASTER

CHICAGO, June 23.—(AP.)—The 200-foot Goodyear dirigible Mayflower successfully fought a wind, rain and lightning storm early last night while the city's fire and police department hurried to render aid in the disaster which many believed eventually would end the blimp's career.

The airship was caught in the violent storm as it cruised over the North Side near Lake Michigan. Buffeted by wind and rain, one motor of the plane went dead and the pilots, Charles Brannigan and R. H. Hobensack, headed for the Cubs' baseball park, the only open area in the vicinity.

Hundreds of persons who saw the airship fighting the storm telephoned the fire and police departments. Rescue apparatus followed the craft as it finally rode out the danger and headed for the Curtiss-Reynolds Airport, where it landed safely.

Besides the two pilots, the airship bore James Royal, a mechanic, C. A. Green, representative of the company owning the ship, and a 12-year-old stowaway, Robert Stimpson.

Pittsburgh Stage Sister-Act Broken by Marriage!

The Pittsburgh stage team, veteran of 10 years in revues and vaudeville since both were graduated from St. Paul's Cathedral School here, broken up by the marriage in New York of Miss Betty, now Mrs. Francis C. O'Connell. Miss Helen may follow.

CUPID PARTS SISTER ACT

Cupid stepped across the footlights to break up a Pittsburgh sister act when Betty Ward became the bride yesterday of Francis C. O'Connell, of New Haven, Conn., at a ceremony performed in St. Malachy's Church, New York.

Betty and her sister, Helen, had been appearing professionally as the Ward Sisters for 10 years, since shortly after their graduation from St. Paul's Cathedral School here. In vaudeville and musical revues they had traveled over the country and had appeared in Pittsburgh theaters.

Helen, who is living with her mother, Mrs. Mary Ward, in New York, is undecided as to what she will do, now that she has lost her lifelong stage partner.

Maybe, she hints, she will follow in Betty's footsteps.

Sentenced 2 Years For Manslaughter

Pleading guilty to voluntary manslaughter, Fred Zarius, 43, who gave his address as Improvement of the Poor, was sentenced to two to four years in the penitentiary this morning by Visiting Judge William T. Darr, of Jefferson County. Zarius was charged with the death of Arhip Letwenko, 45, of 232 McKean street, who died May 14, following an alleged altercation with Zarius.

TWO BOROUGHS AID JOBLESS

Unemployment relief for a number of Coraopolis and Tarentum residents was provided with the start of building projects and street improvements in the boroughs yesterday.

Employment for 35 to 45 jobless men for more than two months was assured with the start of the repaving of State street and Fourth avenue and the resurfacing of one block of Mill street in Coraopolis. Borough Council recently voted a $30,000 appropriation for the work as an unemployment relief measure.

Construction of the new $75,000 clubhouse of Post No. 85, American Legion, was started at East Seventh avenue and Lock street, Tarentum. Funds for the building were raised in a public campaign.

Widow Left Bulk Of $50,000 Estate

Disposing of his $50,000 estate Albert Fennimore Cooper, left $5,000 to each of three grandchildren and the balance in trust for his wife Agnes D. Cooper. At her death it is to be distributed among his children, John F. Cooper, Mrs. Irene C. Kerr and Mrs. Rosella C. Potter and W. Lawrence Cooper, the latter named trustee for his mother, and executor of the estate.

73 Cases Reported For City Quarantine

The City Department of Health today reports these new cases in quarantine: Scarlet fever, 11; diphtheria, 1; measles, 19; chicken pox, 7; whooping cough, 5; mumps, 27, and pneumonia, 3.

Leaps from Bridge On Dare, Youth Injured

AMBRIDGE, Pa., June 23.—Edward Stawski, 20, was seriously injured when he jumped 30 feet from the middle span of the Ambridge-Aliquippa Bridge into the Ohio River on a dare by friends, it was reported to police. The youth was rescued and removed to his home.

PINCHOT VETOES DENTIST AD BAN

HARRISBURG, June 23.—Gov. Pinchot today vetoed 25 bills, among them that of Representative Kahle, of Clarion, to prohibit the use of advertising by dentists. The Governor explained:

"There would be no objection to the bill if it were merely designed to prevent fraudulent advertising by the quack and the charlatan, but in its present form it would be an unwarranted and capricious interference with private business."

He failed also to approve a bill of Senator Buckman to create an advisory committee for the licensing of persons to practice chiropody in Pennsylvania and the bill of Mrs. Mary T. Denman, Westmoreland, to give Pennsylvanians preference for employment on state contracts.

2 Millionth Phone Installed in Britain

LONDON, June 23.—(AP.)—Great Britain's two millionth telephone was installed yesterday in Buckingham Palace for the personal use of King George.

JOBLESS, ILL, 2 END LIVES

Unemployment and ill health were given as the reasons for two deaths reported as suicides to the coroner's office today.

Joseph J. Wittman, 33, of 4 Spring street, Etna, a clerk at the Spang-Chalfant mills, shot himself in his bedroom early today, according to information furnished the coroner. He had been in ill health, it was said.

The body of a man believed to be George Hudha, 60, of 339 Miket street, Toledo, O., was recovered from the Monongahela River at Homestead today by Harry Lowe, near his houseboat. Hudha disappeared from the home of his brother-in-law, Paul Stropka, 141 Eugene street, Homestead Park, Sunday.

Zbyszko Absolved After Street Fight

NEW YORK, June 23.—(AP.)—Wladek Zbyszko, a wrestler, who saved a pedestrian from a beating by a taxi driver, has been freed of a charge of assault.

The driver, Samuel Kleinberg, narrowly missed striking Simon Ottinger as he was walking along the street. The driver said Ottinger threw a cigar at his face when he berated him for carelessness. The driver left his machine and, Ottinger said, started beating him. Zbyszko, driving by at the time, got out and hurled the taxi man to the street.

CITY ATTORNEY MEASURE VETOED

Pinchot Holds Legal Advisor Unneeded in Controller's Office: Solicitor Upheld

HARRISBURG, June 23.—Gov. Pinchot has vetoed Senator Mansfield's bill to provide for the appointment of a legal adviser to the Pittsburgh City Controller. Had the bill been signed it would have permitted the Pittsburgh City Controller to name an attorney independent of the city solicitor. The measure was an outgrowth of the investigation of alleged irregularities in the Department of Supplies at Pittsburgh.

In his veto message, Pinchot said:

"The city solicitor is the responsible law officer of a municipality. All departments of the city government apply to him for legal advice, and expend monies appropriated on the strength of the advice received.

"If, after the city solicitor advises that an expenditure may lawfully be made, an outside attorney employed by the city controller may lawfully advise the controller to take a contrary position, all persons extending credit to the city and entering into contracts with it would do so at the risk of being compelled to institute legal proceedings to collect moneys due them, notwithstanding an advance ruling by the city solicitor that the expenditure was proper."

The bill of Senator Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., to extend the time for registry assessors in Allegheny County to complete their canvass also was vetoed. The measure was designed to change from the fourth Monday in May to the second Friday of June the time for the assessors to complete their work. The Governor held the bill unconstitutional.

PUPIL FINDS FATHER DEAD

Returning home from school at noon today, Jennie Esposito, 11, found her father, Peter Esposito, 44, of 577 Lenora street, dead on the kitchen floor of their home. Dr. Louis G. Iznelzi, of 109 Meadow street, summoned to the scene, pronounced the man the victim of a heart attack. Esposito's wife had died six years ago, neighbors said, and he and his daughter lived alone.

ADD HEALTH TO HOT BREADS

Hot breads are tempting. But often they lack roughage. The absence of bulk from foods often results in constipation.

But now you can have hot breads with roughage. Simply add a cupful of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to the recipe. This delicious cereal furnishes the bulk needed to assure proper elimination. You will find many appetizing recipes on the red-and-green ALL-BRAN package.

Equally tempting as a ready-to-eat cereal with milk or cream. Two tablespoonfuls daily are guaranteed to prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In severe cases, use with each meal.

ALL-BRAN also furnishes needed iron for the body. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Debuts aren't the only news of social importance these days, nor buds the only feted ones, the June bride is still the fairest flower of the month of roses, and today I can tell you of another who was wed on Saturday.

The Robert William Teners, of Forest Glen, Coraopolis Heights, announce the marriage of their daughter, Catherine, to John L. Manley. And the Manleys are to reside in Coraopolis Heights.

* * *

During the final days of June society's attention will be turned to June buds. For the last few years Pittsburgh has had this gala season, and a delightful period it is in social life.

3 Debuts In June

There'll be three June buds this year, Martha Yost, Polly Schoyer and Cecelia McCormick. Martha will make her bow at a tea on Friday given by her father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Milton Yost of Edgeworth, at the family home. Polly will make her curtsy to the social world at a tea her parents, the William E. Schoyers, will give tomorrow afternoon, and Cecelia, a week from today when her father and mother, the John Schoenberger McCormicks of Darlington road, will give a tea at Fox Chapel Golf Club followed by a dinner and dancing.

Aiding Martha at her coming out party will be Betty Higgins, Lois Tack, Cecile McCormick, Polly Schoyer, Lucretia Billings, Caroline Mitchell, Marguerite Borntraeger, Lucille Todd, Virginia Doyle and Elinor Reed, all sister buds. Georgianna Collins, who'll be a bud in 1932, and Virginia Jones.

Aiding Polly Schoyer will be Virginia Doyle, Katharine Frazer, Elinor Reed, Lucretia Billings, Martha Yost, Cecelia McCormick, Caroline Mitchell, Lois Tack, Lucile Todd, Rita Borntraeger, Nancy Scott Craig and Eleanor Barry, of Evanston, Ill., who'll be the Schoyers house guest.

Yesterday afternoon brought another garden wedding to grace the month of brides and roses. Mary Rhodes, daughter of the James Dickinson Rhodeses, of Sewickley, who's been notably active in Junior League art activities, was the bride.

Sewickley Girl Wed

She was married yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in the garden of the Rhodes' summer home, Bryn Awell, at Alder Creek, N. Y. The bridegroom was James Lincoln Lowery, son of Mrs. James L. Lowery, of Utica, N. Y., and the officiant was the Rev. Dr. Alleyne Carlton Howell, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Sewickley.

The ceremony took place before an altar erected at one end of the garden, and approached by an aisle of white satin ribbons and flowers.

Her mother's wedding gown was worn by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. The gown was of old ivory duchess satin, made with a high bodice, an off-the-shoulder neckline and brief sleeves. The skirt was gored, ending in a brief train, over which cascaded a long tulle veil, caught with orange blossoms. She wore lace mitts, too, another heirloom, and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of orange blossoms and lilies of the valley.

* * *

Mrs. George Achilles Harder, of New York, her sister's matron of honor, wore cream georgette, made with short puffed sleeves, a high-waisted bodice and a tiered skirt. Her hat was of deep blue straw, trimmed with cream georgette, and her bouquet was of cornflowers and dark blue lace flowers.

Bridal Party

Melus Edward Rhodes, younger sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a similar costume, and Mrs. Rhodes, mother of the bride, chose black flowered chiffon and a picture hat of black straw, and Mrs. Lowery, mother of the bridegroom, chose French blue lace and chiffon with a hat to match. Both wore orchids.

Marklove Lowery was his brother's best man. A supper and a reception followed with tables arranged around the tennis court.

* * *

After motoring through the Adirondacks, the Lowerys will be at home in Deerfield, N. Y., where they've taken Llyn Mawr as a summer place for the remainder of the season. After November 1 they'll be at home in Kemble street, Utica, N. Y.

To Live In Utica

Among those from Pittsburgh at the ceremony were Mrs. Alleyne Carlton Howell, Wardwell Howell, Mrs. George E. Tener, Mrs. James Todd, Mrs. Samuel Grant Cooper, the Frank R. Dravos, Priscilla Brown, Neale Brown, Mrs. Edward D. Gilmore, Mrs. George Cass Hutchinson, the Richmond F. Balls, the Theodore E. Brays, the George Phelps Rhodeses, Mary Carroll, Marjorie Kimball and Priscilla Hall.

* * *

Honoring Peggy Milligan, who'll wed Myron H. Wilson, Jr., Saturday, Katherine Collin will give a treasure hunt tomorrow at 5:30 o'clock at the home of her grandparents, the George Hubbard Clapps, Sewickley.

* * *

The H. W. Wickenhisers, of Coraopolis, announce the marriage of their daughter, Margaret, to Charles A. Cooper II, son of the Frederick M. Coopers, of Coraopolis, which took place on Saturday. The youthful Coopers will reside in Coraopolis.

COTTON FROCKS POPULAR FOR FORMAL OR INFORMAL WEAR

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, June 23.—The way in which we have all cottoned to cotton is remarkable. Cotton fabrics seem to be what everyone has been waiting for, judging by the frequency with which they are observed as part of the mode at so many different occasions and times. For we are wearing cotton frocks for sports, street, formal and informal afternoon wear, and at night. A decided success has been scored by organdy, for this lovely fabric is easily one of the highlights of the season. For formal and informal evening frocks it is unsurpassed just now. Its fresh, crisp, youthful look makes it stand out against a background of lame, satin, chiffon and other popular evening stuffs. Its engaging air of simplicity has given way to a degree of sophistication that is most delightful, and so it may be worn this season by the more mature woman as well as debutante. Organdy for afternoon clothes, too, is important here and many of the leading houses have used it in plain and embroidered versions for some of their nicest models.

* * *

MADAME SCHIAPARELLI is one of the designers who seem terribly intrigued by the divided skirt and so she has used it—well disguised, of course—for some of the afternoon frocks. Shown is a model with cleverly placed pleats to conceal the separation in the divided skirt, which is a feature of the dress, even if it isn't at all prominent. The material is heavy white crepe figured with a light design in black tracery. There is a twisted sash of black crepe passing through a galalith ring at the base of the fichu and knotted at the right side.

* * *

LUCILE USES embroidered organdy for the summer ensemble here sketched. The color is a delightfully cool shade of green with white dots. White organdy makes the short-sleeved underblouse, the fichu and the pipings bordering the scallops. A three-tiered underskirt peeps out in front between the open side pieces of the skirt proper. The little bolero is removable.

Pattern 1983
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

Neither fussy nor elaborate, yet dainty and feminine, and most attractive in one of the charming flowered chiffons or sheer crepes in vogue this season. A graceful cape collar finds its way to the waistline in front, displaying a vestee of lace or net. A slender effect is further achieved by the downward point of skirt flare. Sleeves are included with pattern 1983. Other fabrics you'll find decidedly smart are dimity, batiste, lawn, voile and handkerchief linen.

Obtainable only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4½ yards of 39-inch fabric. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

AIR TOUR FUND ASKED OF CITY

Despite a recent ruling from the city law department that Council was not permitted by law to make donations to conventions a request for $300 to help defray expenses of the National air tour through Pittsburgh, was before the body today.

The money, Harry C. Fry, Jr., representative of the City-County Air Board said, would be used to help defray entertainment expenses when the aviators stop here on their cross-country tour.

Fry said the County Commissioners had agreed to pay $300 and the Aero Club of Pittsburgh $600.

LATEST GOSSIP

Opening their Malibu home Sunday, Lilyan Tashman and Edmund Lowe gave a house-warming that included luncheon, tennis and swimming. Thirty-five guests were invited, but that had nothing to do with the actual attendance. . . Mildred and Harold Lloyd are all excited over Mildred's brother, Jack. Last week he received the gold medal awarded the best all-around athlete in the prep school he attended. . . At last Carmen Barnes has started working in her acting capacity. The authoress, who got her acting opportunity by selling Paramount a story, made her debut before the camera yesterday in "The Road to Reno." . . . Almost every department in the Radio lot was affected Saturday when lay-offs were handed out left and right. The studio expects to be going under full production again within 60 days. . . . Will Rogers' ankle has finally mended, and he has tossed away the cane. Polo caused the injury, and although Will did not hold up production on his picture the studio are hoping that he forgets the game when they start his next. . . . As soon as he finishes "Lullaby," Jean Hersholt will go to Washington to confer with the ambassador of Denmark regarding the Olympic games. Jean has been appointed by the King to represent Denmark in the coming games. . . . Jetto Goudal is proudly displaying a diamond clasp, a gift from Europe from Norma Shearer and Irving Thalberg.

SOUTHPAW NEW AID IF HITTERS BRACE

THOUGH ANOTHER OF the costly fielding bobbles which George Grantham is turning in at second base with monotonous frequency kept Charley Wood's fine pitching from amounting to anything more than wasted effort, there is some consolation for Pirate rooters in the evidence that Wood is finally back in his form of last fall. The young lefthander was a keen disappointment in the spring and was on the verge of being shipped back to the sticks, but the effectiveness he showed in his first start in seven weeks offers the hope that he is going to be a slab asset after all.

Charley Wood

The blame for the disappointing showing of the Buccaneers cannot be laid at the door of the pitching department, but if the club ever perks up in its batting continued good flinging will be necessary to make the hitting improvement count, and it will help the general cause of the crew a whole lot in pulling away from the shadow of the cellar to have another capable southpaw available as a working mate for Larry French. There is still time for Wood to do the club a heap of good this season and it looks as if he is ready to start delivering.

HOWEVER, NOTHING THAT Wood or any of the other hurlers can do will be of any avail if there isn't an early brace on the offensive to break the Pirate run famine. Pitching is rated 65 per cent of baseball, but it's a total loss when the eight other players in the lineup can't make even a reasonable approach toward contributing the remaining 35 per cent.

In spite of pitching that was above par in the main, the Pirates up to today had lost 16 of their last 22 games, and of their last 12 engagements they had won only two. In their last seven games they had scored only 13 runs. Thevenow in particular has continued to be a blank at bat. He batted safely in only one of his last 20 games, and in that period made only two hits in 54 times at bat for the emaciated average of .037.

THE SUCCESS OF the White Sox in upsetting the A's and knocking a half game off their lead while the Senators were loafing marked only the sixth time this year that Donie Bush's club has beaten an eastern team.

On the other side of the book the Bushmen have been beaten 20 times by eastern opponents. They have lost nine out of 11 to the Macks, six straight to the Senators, three straight to the Yankees and two out of four to the Red Sox.

ANOTHER WINNING STREAK of five in a row by the flying Macks was interrupted when they bowed to the White Sox, the first defeat they have suffered this season on a western field. It was only the seventh game lost by the White Elephants in the last 43 played, an average of a fraction better than five victories for each defeat. Moving into St. Louis today, the A's had not been defeated twice in succession since April 20 and 21, when they dropped a pair to the Yankees.

Billy Sullivan, Jr.

THOUGH USED ONLY in pinch-hitting roles since he was given a short trial in the outfield recently, young Billy Sullivan has impressed White Sox rooters as a fine prospect for the club on which his father used to star as a catcher, and which he also managed in 1909.

One day after young Sullivan had been graduated from Notre Dame he signed a White Sox contract, and one day after that he was playing right field. He didn't stay in the lineup, but the Sox chiefs are confident he will eventually be a regular.

THE JUNIOR SULLIVAN has played ball in some places that even his older mates haven't visited. He went to Cuba and Panama with a team of picked collegians and also played summer ball on the Pacific Coast. Scouts for the Yankees and other clubs tried to get him, but he joined the Sox because that was his father's wish.

At that old Billy insisted that the boy graduate before signing with any club. He wanted his son to be a ball player, but more than that he wanted him to complete his education. The youngster is to return to Notre Dame for post-graduate work that will bring a degree in law and it is written in his contract with the Sox that in the next two seasons he will not have to report until June.

THE IMMEDIATE FUTURE of the fight game as a whole is going to depend largely on the Schmeling-Stribling tangle in Cleveland next week—not so much on the outcome as on the kind of battle the principals put up. A heavyweight championship scrap always has a far reaching influence. If the Cleveland fight is a bust as a spectacle, the ring sport can hardly escape a slump, for the remainder of the outdoor season, at least, but if Schmeling and Stribling put up a colorful exhibition strewn with thrills the glove business all around may be expected to show new life.

JUST BECAUSE THE opening day of the annual Wimbledon tennis tournament saw Henri Cochet, French ace and ranking No. 1 player of the world, go down to defeat in straight sets at the hands of Nigel Sharpe, a comparative unknown, it does not necessarily follow that France's Davis Cup team is going to be weakened this year.

If memory serves, this same Cochet was beaten in the singles by Wilmer Allison, one of the American entrants, in the 1930 edition of this same Wimbledon tournament, but as an indication of the kind of tennis he was going to play later in the season it turned out to be a bum steer.

FOR WHEN THE Davis Cup challenge round arrived, Cochet stepped up and beat George Lott in the singles in straight sets, helped Jules Brugnon win the doubles, and then walloped Bill Tilden in his other singles match.

Maurice McLoughlin, Jr.

Davis Cup aspirants, therefore, whether the United States or England wins the right to play France for the trophy, would better not attach too much importance to the fall of Cochet at Wimbledon or to the report that illness has left him sadly off his game.

BASEBALL ISN'T THE only sport in which sons are aiming to follow in the footsteps of once famous fathers. Tennis is the latest. Out in Pasadena, Cal., Maurice McLoughlin, Jr., son of the game's outstanding star of a generation ago, is showing skill as a juvenile that promises big things for him later on. The youngster is 11 and has been competing in junior and midget competition, and gives evidence of native ability that promises to land him among the topnotchers after due course of development. His father, the "Comet," was one of the world's greatest in his day. When only 20 he was sent to Sydney with Melville Long to play Norman Brookes and Anthony Wilding for the Davis Cup. He won the United States singles championship in 1912 and 1913 and was ranked No. 1 player of America in 1912, 1913 and 1914.

PIRATE, ROBIN GAMES OFF

VAN RYN, WOOD GAIN THIRD ROUND

By F. A. WRAY
International News Service.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 23.—With beautiful weather again prevailing, the annual Wimbledon tennis tournament entered its second stage today.

Sidney B. Wood, the promising young American star, encountered little difficulty in his second round match against A. G. Crossley, of Britain. A magnificent service and perfectly placed forehand drives enabled him to eliminate the Britisher in straight sets, 6-3, 6-0, 6-2. Wood's only fault lay in his experimental drop-shots when Crossley played close to the net.

John Van Ryn, American Davis Cup star, defeated A. Merlin, one of France's young hopefuls, 6-2, 6-4, 6-1, to advance to the third round.

H. W. (Bunny) Austin, England's favorite for the Wimbledon throne, advanced to the third round of play with a surprisingly easy three set victory over H. Satoh, of Japan. The scores were 6-1, 6-3, 6-0.

Nigel Sharpe, who yesterday upset Henri Cochet in a first round match, continued his careful play to win from a fellow countryman, H. B. Purcell, in the second round. The scores were 6-0, 6-3, 6-2.

MRS. VAN RYN WINS

The task of setting the pace for the American entrants in the women's singles fell to Mrs. Van Ryn, wife of the Davis Cup player. She defeated Miss E. R. Clarke, of England, 6-3, 6-3, in her first match of the tournament.

The first big thrill of the women's matches came when Senorita Lili d'Alvarez, the brilliant Spanish star, took the court against Mrs. Randolph Lycett, of England. Attired in a "trouser-skirt"—the first of its kind seen during the tournament — Senorita d'Alvarez won the match, 2-6, 6-1, 6-2.

Mrs. L. A. Harper, of Oakland, Cal., the United States' ranking woman tennis player on the 1930 list, defeated Mrs. M. A. Thomas, of Great Britain, in a first round match, 6-3, 6-4.

BOUSSUS VICTOR

Christian Boussus, France's young star, advanced easily to the third round with a three-set victory over H. S. Lewis Barclay, of Great Britain, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3.

Jiro Satoh, Japan's ranking star, defeated G. Lyttleton Rogers, who yesterday conquered Gregory Mangin, of the United States, in a second-round match. The scores were 4-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2.

COLLEGE NET PLAY HALTED

HAVERFORD, Pa., June 23.—(AP.)—All matches scheduled for today in the intercollegiate lawn tennis championship tournament at the Merion Cricket Club were postponed on account of rain.

Eddie Jacobs, Pitt captain, gained the third round yesterday by defeating Joseph Case of the University of Pennsylvania, 6-2, 6-1.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: PROF. THEODORE NICHOLAS GILL, FAMOUS ICHTHYOLOGIST—Prof. Theodore Nicholas Gill (1837-1914) performed his amazing feat of memory in Buffalo when the American Association for the Advancement of Science was meeting in that city in August, 1896. Prof. Gill, who occupied the chair of zoology at the George Washington University, is famous for his extensive work and numerous papers on systematic ichthyology. When the advisability of Latin nomenclature for fishes was questioned, Prof. Gill proceeded to quote 25,000 Latin fish names, most of them containing 20 or more letters. AL BRAUN LOST THREE FIGHTS IN ONE NIGHT—Braun was booked to meet Dick Demery for a 10-round go at Huron, S. D., April 7, 1931. In the seventh round, Braun became confused and struck the referee, who returned the blow and knocked out Braun. The crowd booed the referee out of the ring, but, before leaving, he awarded the decision to Demery. Braun and Demery wanted the fight to go the full 10 rounds, and, in the end, the decision again was awarded to the latter, Braun thus losing three fights in one night in the same ring.

MAX TO START FINAL DRIVE

CONNEAUT PARK, Pa., June 23.—(AP.)—Max Schmeling, world heavyweight champion, lean, brown and in perfect condition, spent yesterday away from the boxing gloves and on the golf links while resting up preparatory to starting his final training drive today for his title fight with Young Stribling at Cleveland a week from Friday night.

Schmeling is scheduled to box today with his sparring partners and again tomorrow. He will take to the golf course on Thursday and spar again Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Just what he will do in the way of boxing after Sunday, Manager Joe Jacobs has not announced.

Schmeling, who weighs close to 190 right now and expects to fight at 189, is being carefully trained to guard against overwork and the resultant staleness. Critics at this camp say they never have seen a better-conditioned heavyweight champion.

STRIBLING ON EDGE

GEAUGA LAKE, O., June 23.—(INS.)—With Young Stribling giving every indication that he is about ready for his tussle with Max Schmeling in Cleveland's Stadium, July 3, there was a movement on foot in the Stribling camp today to apply the brakes to the contender's training schedule so that he will not overwork.

Boxing regularly for three solid weeks, the longest preparatory training that he ever has taken for a fight, Strib has reached the point known as fighting trim. He has been displaying nervousness and temperament.

Well, This Makes A Good Yarn, Anyway

LONDON, June 23.—(AP.)—In the deluge of debt discussions, politics and what not the following golf story found its way through, via Reuters, from Broken Hill, Australia.

It seems there were two Australians playing over the Broken Hill course.

At the short seventeenth, the first golfer holed his tee shot. He was jubilant.

"Here's one for a half," said golfer number two as he teed up and swung. His ball landed on the green and trickled in.

In the memory of the oldest memory of the royal and ancient, it was golf's first hole halved in one.

OLD ORCHARD, Me., June 23.—Walter Dumser made a hole in one here yesterday. Here's how he did it: His drive hit a rock, caromed onto the wrong fairway, bounced over to the proper green and rolled into the cup. It happened at the Old Orchard Country Club.

MEADVILLE, Pa., June 23.—Johnny Capebianco, pro at Culbertson Hills, Edinboro, made a hole in one on the 229-yard fourth hole at the Meadville Country Club yesterday.

WILLIE HOPPE WINS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—(INS.)—Although no longer champion of the balkline billiardists, Willie Hoppe today had shown San Francisco fans that he still retained his old wizardry. In two 200-point matches here last night Hoppe defeated Welker Cochran, present 18.2 balkline champion, 200 to 89 and 200 to 38, registering a high run of 108.

SLATS TO GET TITLE SHOT

The bout is scheduled for Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, August 12.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Rains of the morning caused a cancellation of the doubleheader scheduled for this afternoon between the Pirates and Robins. In making the announcement about noon the Brooklyn officials stated that two additional bargain bills were carded. The two clubs will pair off in a dual fight tomorrow, the other doubleheader being listed for Sunday, August 23. The two games of tomorrow will wind up the Pirate activities in Greater New York for this trip.

The Buccos are slated to move to Philadelphia tomorrow night to be ready for a four-game series that gets under way at the home of the Phillies on Thursday afternoon. The Buccos and Quakers are down on the books for a doubleheader on Saturday. On Sunday the Rovers will move across the Delaware River to Camden for an exhibition brush with an independent club.

SLATED IN BOSTON

The Ensmen will spend the most of next week in Boston. Four battles are carried on four afternoons, beginning with Monday. The Pittsburghers are due back at Forbes Field one week from Saturday, which is the Fourth of July, to take on the Cardinals.

Southpaw Charley Wood pitched like a champion yesterday as he worked his first complete game of the season, but his mates threw him down and the youngster lost a brilliant 10-inning clash to William Watson Clark and the Robin cast. The score was 3 to 2.

Wood carried a one-run lead into the eighth round. The curve ball star had two men out and none on in the eighth when Grantham fumbled Herman's grounder. Babe swiped the middle bag and Bissonette singled to force a deadlock.

BUCS OUTGUESSED

Fresco Thompson outguessed the Pirates' infield in the tenth as he scored the winning run. Clark opened with a single that hopped queerly over Suhr's head. Frederick bunted and Wood, in his eagerness to make a play on the head runner, missed the ball and both Robins were safe. Thompson ran for Clark. Charlie was so

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

CLEVELAND, June 23.—After half a century in baseball, man and boy, I've finally heard of a ball club that enjoys a road trip. It's the Pirates. Back in Pittsburgh the fans turned buttermilk when the team wobbled, and instead of giving the old college yell to brace 'em up, they gave 'em an augmented anvil chorus with the bleachers and grandstand singing bass. When they were in a losing streak I understand the Pittsburghers even hissed them through megaphones. So you can't blame the Pirates for enjoying train rides far from the raspberry patch. They can at least play a game of ball without feeling they are villains in a play.

Soggy Fairways Handicap in College Golf Tournament

A'S BAFFLED BY CHISOX ROOKIE

Associated Press.

A year ago Vic Frasier was spending most of his waking hours following a brace of mules down the cotton rows on his farm in East Texas. He had jumped the Chicago White Sox some months previously for the simple reason that he had found himself lonesome in the mid-west metropolis.

Yesterday the husky young righthander turned the Philadelphia Athletics back with six hits and helped his teammates bat out an 8-to-2 victory over the world champions. The White Sox, it appears, are about to be rewarded for their patience with Frasier. He had perfect control yesterday, issuing not a single pass and striking out three Athletics.

ROOKIES TROUBLESOME

Rookie pitchers, incidentally, have handed the A's two of their four defeats this month. Wallace Hebert, the Browns' southpaw find, stopped them 10 days ago.

Yesterday's defeat cut a half game from the champions' lead as rain held the Washington Senators idle at Cleveland. The third-place New York Yankees fell further back in the race, the result of a 14-to-10 drubbing from the St. Louis Browns. Lou Gehrig's two homers went for naught.

The St. Louis Cardinals continued to encounter grief in the East. Jumbo Jim Elliott, pitching his third game in five days for the Phils, handed the National League leaders their fourth defeat in their last five games. Homers by Chuck Klein and Pinky Whitney featured the 7-to-3 triumph.

HORNSBY STARS

Rogers Hornsby hit his eleventh homer of the year with two on to help his Chicago Cubs plaster the Giants, 11 to 4, and climb within a game and a half of second place. Hack Wilson also did his specialty, and Hemsley hit one in the ninth.

For the second time this year, fancy base running by Fresco Thompson enabled the Brooklyn Robins to pull out with a tight one. He stole third base in the tenth inning and scored on Babe Herman's roller to Grantham to give the Flatbush flock a 3-to-2 decision over Pittsburgh.

LOCAL GRID STAR DIES

By JESS CARVER

The boys along the avenue and on the force are in mourning today—mourning the passing of Carl Kiel, more familiarly known as Benny, a good police officer and one of the best sandlot and professional football players this city ever has produced.

Benny had his fling at the college game, too, but it wasn't tough enough for him. He was a hard guy when it came to football (although a mighty nice chap otherwise) and he liked his football rough and tough.

HEART FAILED

Ben died last night in the West Penn Hospital from a heart ailment. He'd been confined to his bed for a month, although few of his friends, aside from the boys on the force and at No. 15 station, knew anything about it. He made the fight for health and life as gamely as he made his many fights on the gridiron, but it was one chalk line he couldn't cross.

Kiel attended Geneva in 1923, playing center on the team coached by Tom Davies, the former Pitt all-America halfback star. As a center, and especially as a defensive player, he hadn't a peer in the district. He "liked it," you see, and good centers have to like it. He could take it, and boy, oh, boy, how he could give it.

Carl was famous enough during his short term as a collegian, but it was as a member of the leading district sandlot elevens that he made his real rep. He played for most all the prominent elevens hereabouts; for the Strip teams, McKeesport and McKees Rocks outfits and various other independent elevens.

ON FORCE EIGHT YEARS

Kiel had been a member of the police force for the past eight years. He had patrolled the downtown and Hill districts, and for a time was on the detective force. Then he was transferred to No. 15. During the past school year, he completed a course in accountancy at Duquesne University, nad planned to enter that field at the first opportunity. His home was at 7148 Kendron street. Arrangements for the funeral services and interment will be made today.

Injured Racer's Condition Fair

TRENTON, N. J., June 23.—(AP.)—Little change is reported in the condition of Gordon Condon, 26-year-old auto race driver, of Altoona, Pa., who was seriously injured when his machine went through a fence at the Langhorne Speedway on Saturday. He is in Mercer Hospital suffering from a fractured skull, broken shoulder and two fractured ribs.

It is declared that while his condition is still critical, he is gaining strength and has a fair chance to recover.

COX AND BURKE SHARE LEAD

SCIOTO COUNTRY CLUB, COLUMBUS, O., June 23.—(AP.)—Billy Burke, of New York, and Wiffy Cox, of Brooklyn, led the field in the race for positions on the American Ryder Cup team today with a total of 181 for the first 45 holes of the 72-hole skirmish.

Hopes of Al Watrous, of Detroit, faded when he took a 40 cut today for a 45-hole total of 192. Willie Klein, of New York, had about the same game, taking a 39 for 190.

Henry Ciuci, of Bridgeport, Conn., who shot 36 holes in 151 yesterday, and Densmore Shute, Cleveland, who carded 149, rounded the first turn today with par 36's, running their 45-hole totals to 187 and 185, respectively.

Olin Dutra, husky Los Angeles entry, who landed 12 strokes from the top with a weak 157 yesterday, came back fighting on the first nine today, leveling the course with a 34, two under par, for a 45-hole total of 191. Ed Dudley, of Wilmington, Del., new Western Open champion, also got back on his game and played the distance in par 36 for a 186 total.

Craig Wood, of Buffalo, scored par 36 for a 186. Frank Walsh, Chicago, lost three strokes to par on the first three holes, getting a 39 for a 188.

clever in the clinch that Wallie Gilbert could not bunt, so he flied out without advancing the runners. Wood was working on Herman in a skillful manner when Thompson took advantage of our dull infield to steal third. He scored a moment later on a drive off Wood's glove.

Lloyd Waner put the Pirates out in front in the fourth when, with the bases loaded and two out, he clicked a single to left to score two runs. Three singles gave the Robins a run in the first round.

Buc Leaders Leave Tonight for Meeting

OLD CYCLORAMA SCENE OF NEW BOXING CLUB

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

A new boxing club is being formed in Pittsburgh to make its bow along about October, after the closing of the outdoor campaign. It had been planned to function this summer, but certain obstacles arose which delayed action and caused the promoters to abandon this early idea.

The new club will be built on the site of the old Cyclorama, at Irwin avenue and Beach street, on the North Side, and will seat about 6,000 fans, it is said. Art Rooney, of the North Side, former Star athlete, now a sponsor of baseball and football teams, is to be interested in the project, and it is understood George Engle, of New York, manager of Frank Klaus and Harry Greb, both local products, when they were middleweight champions, already has been engaged as matchmaker.

The Cyclorama building was used for roller skating and other enterprises. Boxing bouts were staged there upwards of 25 years ago. Basketball also held forth within its confines many, many seasons back.

Motor Square Garden will operate as a boxing arena again next season in the Moose Temple, downtown, and Promoter Apples Meyers says he will be back. There also is talk again of bouts in Duquesne Garden.

Between Rounds

The card for Hickey Park, Millvale, Thursday night, has been completed with the rematching of Carl Cesko, Uniontown middleweight, with Anson Green, Negro, of Homestead, who recently fought a grueling battle in the Meyers Bowl. Ray Kiser and Joey Goodman are in the main bout. Jimmy Guthrie and Billy Bruns in the semi-final and Joey Spiegel and Matty Oldach in the second event.

Bernard Kelly, Jr., just back from Michigan, reports that mosquitos have put the outdoor boxing season in Grand Rapids, Saginaw and other towns there on the fritz.

King Levinsky and Ace Hudkins will meet in Chicago on July 1 instead of June 30, as at first announced.

The tip is out that Slim McClelland, of Detroit, will be the referee of the Max Schmeling-Young Stribling heavyweight championship bout in Cleveland, Friday night of next week. He ranks as one of the best in the land and recently was named by the N. B. A., to handle the Freddie Miller-Eddie Shea tussle in Cincinnati.

JEBY TO BOX TERRY.

Joe Lucas, of Detroit, and Battling Bulihan, Filipino, will box the eight-round main bout of a show in Cleveland Friday night. Other battles on the card are Pete Mazzeo vs. Sergio Radam and Frankie Bauer vs. Harold Krill.

Archie Bell, recent conqueror of Jimmy Thomas in a bout here, boxes Vidal Gregorio, the Spaniard, in one of two feature preliminaries to the Justo Suarez-Billy Petrolle battle in Madison Square Garden, New York, Thursday night. Billy McMahon and Phil Rafferty are in the other eight-rounder.

Jackie Rodgers will resume training today for his postponed battle with Chico Cisneros, at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, next Monday night. The show originally was scheduled for last night, but was set back because of an arm injury suffered by Cisneros.

Walter Pickard, of Indianapolis, and formerly of Youngstown, is working out daily at the Pittsburgh Lyceum while awaiting a call to action against any of the heavyweights. He scales around 186 pounds. Among those he has boxed are George Cook, Harry Fay, Frankie Wine, Pat Freeman, Len Darcy, K. O. Christner, Joe Packo, Bud Doran and Benny Bonstone. Rosy (Kid) Baker, Indiana welterweight, is here with him. Both are under the management of the heavyweight's brother, Dan Pickard.

EDWARDS VS. KELLY.

Benny Bass, the junior-lightweight champion, boxes Joey Kaufman at Atlantic City Friday night in his final start before he meets Kid Chocolate with the title at stake in the Phillies Park, Philadelphia, July 15. Chocolate, by the way, will do his training at the Leiperville (Pa.) jinx camp for that melee. Johnny Kilbane prepared there for his bout with Benny Leonard and was knocked out and Georgie Rodock, Paul Ogre battling Marty McHale and Joe Gerboski taking on Bus Mason in preliminaries.

VAN WIE LEADS IN TOURNEY

CLEVELAND, June 23.—(AP.)—Honors in the qualifying round of the women's national invitation golf tournament at Kirtland Country Club here yesterday went to Miss Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, whose 39-38—77 lowered by two strokes the women's course record and gave her first place by a four-stroke margin.

Miss Mary K. Browne, of Cleveland, shot 41-40—81, for second place. Miss Peggy Wattles, of Buffalo; Miss Fritzie Stifel, Wheeling, W. Va., and Miss Ada MacKenzie, of Canada, were tied for third with 82.

WASHINGTON PARK MUTUELS

LOCAL STARS AMONG LATE STARTERS

OLYMPIA FIELDS COUNTRY CLUB, Chicago, June 23.—(AP.)—Golfers from 32 universities fought soggy fairways and water-filled traps today in search of qualifying places in their thirty-fifth national tournament.

Intermittent rain last night added to troubles bred by yesterday's storm, which caught many competitors before they turned the final nine.

There was no sun in contrast to yesterday's bright, hot day. Under the conditions it was expected scores would average several strokes higher than during the first of the two qualifying rounds yesterday, when 44 got under 80.

LEADERS IN TIE

George T. Dunlap, Jr., of Princeton, the defending champion, had a first round of 78, and Lawrence Moller, of Notre Dame, the 1930 runner-up, was in danger of not qualifying as a result of turning in a shaky 80.

LOCALS LATE STARTERS

First off the tee in the opening round yesterday, Pennsylvania players will stage an uphill fight to get back among the leaders in this afternoon's round.

Five men in this contingent were well up among the leaders yesterday as a result of finishing early in the day, but as the later starters posted their scores the Pittsburgh district and Penn State golfers were crowded down the list. Nevertheless, the five men, Capt. Murray, Bill Nacios and Freddie Brand, Jr., of State; Sam Parks, Jr., of Pitt, and John Denny St. Clair, of Kiski, playing for Williams, stand a good chance of getting under the wire in the qualifying bracket.

Nacios, the first of the 110 players to finish, and St. Clair, led with 76 each. Brand had 77, Parks 78 and Murray a 79. Nacios and St. Clair are in a seven-way tie for fourth place.

Parks is scheduled to be the first Pennsylvanian off the tee today, but he will not start until after noon. The cards of Pittsburgh district players yesterday:

CARDS GIVEN SHAKEUP

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—(AP.)—Defeated in four of their last five games, largely due to weak hitting, the National League Championship Cardinals will undergo a batting order shakeup.

Manager Gabby Street announced Sunny Jim Bottomley and Charley Gelbert would be back at their regular positions, first base and shortstop, respectively, and four of the other players will shift positions in order of appearance at the plate.

In the shakeup, Sparky Adams will drop from the lead-off position to sixth place, trading positions with Pepper Martin. Frankie Frisch and George Watkins also will trade positions, Frisch moving up to second and Watkins down to third. Bottomley will hit fourth, his old spot, with Chick Hafey in his customary fifth. The catcher will continue to hit seventh, with Gelbert eighth and the pitcher last.

Hoax Keeps Primo Out of Boston Ring

BOSTON, June 23.—(INS.)—Under orders from the State Boxing Commission, Capt. Thomas Bligh, of the state police, today launched an investigation to clear up the mystery surrounding the non-appearance of Primo Carnera, of Italy, in three exhibition bouts as a feature of the boxing show at Braves Field last night.

Eddie Mack, promoter of the show, to whose lot it fell to announce to a heckling crowd of 4,000 the absence of the principal drawing card, blamed the mixup on three fake telegrams, alleged to have been signed by Mack, Eugene Buckley, boxing commissioner, and a Boston newspaperman, received by Leon See, Carnera's manager, explaining that an injunction had been obtained against Carnera appearing here and that the show had been postponed. Mack branded the telegrams as a malicious hoax.

State Ring Body Gets New Power

HARRISBURG, June 23.—(AP.)—Gov. Gifford Pinchot yesterday signed a bill by Representative Rhys, Luzerne, prohibiting the issuance of permits for amateur boxing and wrestling matches when they are to be conducted for individual profit and restricting the issuance of such permits to bona fide amateur athletic associations as approved by the state athletic commission.

STOCKER WINS PRO EVENT

Bill Stocker, assistant pro at Stanton Heights, gave Old Man Par a great tussle yesterday in winning the third tournament of the season of the Assistant Professionals and Caddiemasters' Association, held at Stanton Heights.

Stocker was out in 36 and in in 37 to score a fine 73, one above par. His score was one stroke better than the 74 turned in by Edmond Onoretta, assistant pro at Schenley. Sam Mellon, of Oakmont, was next in line with 77, and Paul (Toots) Erath, Edgewood caddiemaster, had a 78.

R. T. Hambleton, with an 83, won the Franklin Blackstone prize, emblematic of the 1931 championship of the Pennsylvania Society, Sons of the American Revolution, yesterday over his home course, the Pittsburgh Field Club. Hambleton succeeds George L. Craig, Jr., of the Allegheny Country Club.

Dr. H. R. Decker won the John L. Walker prize for low net with a score of 96-28—68.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company linksmen staged their annual tournament at St. Clair yesterday. Frank Schwartz and Paul Roberts tying for the lead with 68s. Schwartz had the best gross score, 77.

The Bond Club tourney, at Fox Chapel, was won by Clarence Stanley, of Fox Chapel, who turned in a card of 35-40-75. Bert Grubbs had a low net score of 94-25—69.

The Hotel, Club and Restaurant Golf Association staged its weekly tournament at Chartiers Heights yesterday, but the players decided to throw their cards away and play the event over again next week. The rain and soggy turf conditions spoiled the affair.

BERG VICTOR BY KAYO

NEWARK, N. J., June 23.—(AP.)—Jack (Kid) Berg, British lightweight contender, won by a technical knockout over Tony Lambert, of Newark, in the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night. Lambert absorbed a steady beating, and the referee finally stepped in to halt the bout when the Newark lad no longer could defend himself. Berg weighed 139, Lambert 140.

At Englewood, N. J.—Howard Artt defeated Rodney Parra, 8 rounds.

SENIOR LINKS STARS CLASH AT OAKMONT

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

The Western Pennsylvania senior golf championship tournament got away with a bang this morning at the Oakmont Country Club. The elderly golfers, after waiting a week for their tournament, due to torrential rains, were eager to step on the gas and show the younger golfers that the game does not entirely belong to them.

This district is fortunate enough to have as its seniors' champion Dr. George T. Gregg, who also is national champion in that class. His throne of honor is in jeopardy today, for two of the foremost veterans west of the Alleghenies are out to unseat him.

Among the early finishers the following scores were turned in:

W. B. Hewitt, 102-22—80; Frank Slocum, 103-17—86; James W. Barber, 111-24—87; J. G. Vilsack, 120-30—90.

TITLE IN DANGER

Prime contenders for Dr. Gregg's crown are George A. Ormiston, pride of the Oakmont links, who has been secretary of the West Penn Golf Association since most of the younger stars of today were in their cradles, and Robert W. Smith, of Greensburg, who started to play golf in Westmoreland County away back in 1898.

The championship of Section II of the team league of the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania is at stake today at the Country Club of Pittsburgh. St. Clair is playing the Country Club, Butler is meeting Longue Vue, and Westmoreland is competing against Alcoma.

The Section I matches slated for today at Oakmont have been postponed to Friday, out of deference to the seniors' tourney there.

INSURANCE MEN PLAY

The Pittsburgh Insurance Club is having a big day of it at the Chartiers Heights Country Club, and the Co-operative Club of Pittsburgh is competing at the Stanton Heights Golf Club.

Tomorrow the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania stages a one-day tournament at the Alcoma Country Club.

The Grogan Cup matches are slated at Highland tomorrow, also. The home club has a slight lead over their Shannopin rivals.

CLUB CADDIE TEST TODAY

The Allegheny Country Club is entering the field today for the fourth annual William Randolph Hearst Trophy junior amateur tournament, which is to be conducted by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph at the Schenley Park municipal links, Tuesday, June 30.

Caddiemaster Jim Bruno, at Alcoma, has again postponed his test, due to the soggy condition of the course, and will qualify his boys Tuesday morning.

Yesterday the Shannopin, Butler, Pittsburgh Country Club, Valley Heights and Thornburg caddie teams came into the fold. Caddiemaster Andy Petrolia, at Schenley Park, which won the beautiful plaque last year, will qualify his boys Thursday morning.

Thursday is an important date—it marks the last day entries will be received for the big event. Get yours in immediately unless you care to take a chance on being overlooked in the listings.

VETERAN BOXER DEAD

VALGER BACK IN RING

NEW YORK, June 23.—Benny Valger, former clever Jewish featherweight of France is back in the United States trying to make a fresh start in the ring at age of 33. He says he lost his boxing savings in the garage business.

RAZOR AD-VENTURES by don herold

MYSTERIOUSLY—7,392 men in 102 cities received a gift safety razor without name or price. They were asked to try it and to report on its faults and virtues.

6,991 of them voluntarily reported that they preferred it to any razor they had ever used. This razor was later named Gem Micromatic.

I have a lot of real man-to-man respect for a company that goes to all this trouble to test a razor before putting it on the market. And I happen to know that the manufacturers have spent years and a fortune perfecting the new patented Gem Micromatic Safety Razor.

A game that may decide the first-half title in the Commercial and Industrial League features the sandlot program for the district this evening. The clash will bring together the Riecks-McJunkin and Reliance Life nines and will be staged at Langley High School Field.

Reliance, undefeated to date can sew up the first-half pennant by turning in a triumph this evening, while a victory for Riecks will toss the chase into a tie. B. & O. stopped the Milkmen earlier in the season, the setback being the team's only defeat.

PITCHERS ON EDGE

The Reliance hurling job will be given to either Bill Gormley or Dutch Spencer, either of whom appears capable of handling it in fine fashion. Manager Bill Stuhlfire has Eddie Imhoff groomed for the mound assignment for Riecks.

Both aggregations will be well supported from the sidelines, both boasting hefty bands of adherents. A nifty rooting duel is in prospect.

The Homestead Grays are to appear at the Dormont High field against the Dormont County Leaguers in an independent game. Jimmy Bradley, the pitcher who last season stopped the Grays after they had won 22 straight games, is to do the twirling for Dormont.

One game will be played in the West Penn League. Linwood visits Turtle Creek with third place at stake.

Dutch Winters is going to send Hurst to the mound to try to stop Linwood, which has been going at a great clip. Bentz will throw for the Lincoln avenue boys.

In the City League, Hank Daly and his Homewood nine will try to come closer to sewing up the first-half championship by trimming the North Side Civics. The Civics, playing in and out baseball, may put a crimp into the activities of the East Enders. Gus Otey may turn the trick.

Otey has beaten Homewood once this season, but very few pitchers are able to turn the trick twice in a row.

BUICKS FACE THOMAS

Johnny Dunsky will send his North Side Buicks into action against the J. L. Thomas nine. Both clubs have been playing in and out baseball throughout the first half.

The Buicks started out like a whirlwind, but injuries and a little bad luck stopped the Dunsky rush. The Thomas club lost the last meeting at Pleasant Valley. Sammy Leon pitched a stellar game, only to see his mates throw away the ball game.

This week will wind up the first-half races in many of the leagues, but not one winner has been named in any of the circuits. Honus Wagner claims great races in the Washington County, Westmoreland and Monon Valley loops, and the West Penn and Commercial and Industrial find the races still thrilling the fans.

The Steel City has the St. Elizabeth nine heading the parade. The East End Cardinals and the Saints have two games yet to play. These games will decide the first-half titles.

PARKERSBURG JOINS M.-A.

Another shift has been made in the makeup of the Middle Atlantic League. Hagerstown has given up the struggle, and the Marylanders' franchise has been awarded Parkersburg. The West Virginians will inaugurate their league play by meeting Scottdale Sunday.

With Hagerstown out of the circuit, the 12-club league resolves itself into a predominately West Virginia affair, seven of the clubs being from the Mountaineer state. Maryland has one and Pennsylvania boasts four, Altoona, Johnstown, Scottdale and Charleroi.

West Virginians expect the league to be cut down shortly, and it is freely predicted that by July 10 the circuit may be an all-West Virginia affair.

Yesterday Beckley secured an even break in a dual bill with Charleston. Beckley won the first game in easy fashion, 12 to 6, but dropped the second, 8 to 4. The even break enabled the team to gain third place in the standing, Scottdale losing and dropping to fourth.

Cumberland lost ground by losing to Clarksburg, 7 to 6. Huntington, behind Weaver's three-hit pitching, defeated Scottdale, 3 to 1, in six innings, and Johnstown walloped Wheeling, 7 to 2. Other games on the card were rained out, as was a scheduled second game at Cumberland.

Mrs. Thompson Opens Defense of Title

BALTIMORE, June 23.—(AP.)—The Maryland women's state tennis championship tournament moved through its first and second rounds at the Baltimore Country Club with 54 players competing, 16 of them from out of the state. The defending champion, Mrs. DeLloyd Thompson, of Washington, Pa., drew a bye in the opening round and defeated Miss Frances Walker, of Washington, in the second, 6-2, 6-1.

SEEDED NET STAR LOSES

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Delayed, but by no means disheartened by yesterday's inclement weather that curtailed the lengthy program of man-to-man contesting, district and out-of-town racquetiers square off again this afternoon with high hope of pushing men's singles competition in the forty-third annual Western Pennsylvania tennis championships into a complete fourth-round bracket.

First-frame matches in men's doubles are likewise on the bill, but women's singles, originally slated to get under way this morning, have been postponed until tomorrow because of certainty that the rain-soaked Stanton Heights turf will be unplayable till the luncheon hour.

JONES, BOSSON TIE

One first-round men's singles tussle—that in which Ollie Jones, Bridgeville blond, and John Bosson, slim Charleroi lad, stand at 10-10 initial set deadlock—still remains for disposition, with seven second-stanza affairs as yet unplayed and only two third-canto engagements thus far realled off.

Billy O'Loughlin, diminutive P. A. A. fence-buster, smacked the seeding dope horribly askew with crushing forehand attack that swept Fred Rudisill, York ace and No. 2 on the select list, to 6-3, 0-6, 6-4 defeat and secured family vengeance on the eastern luminary for reversal administered by him to Brother John O'Loughlin in the 1930 West Penn event.

Champion Bill Haseltine joined the youngest O'Loughlin in round four by virtue of 6-1, 6-2 triumph over Jack Lauler, another P. A. A. satellite.

FAVORITES VICTORS

All told, 16 decisions, including five defaults, were registered in the course of yesterday's mixing—this despite terrific morning rains that held up starting until 4 p. m. Aside from Rudisill, seeded debaters breezed through without exception. Dr. Dave O'Loughlin, Sam Harbison, Frank McClintock and Haseltine winning.

The summary:

FIRST ROUND

Upper half, Louis Lazar won from Edmon Mckeson by default. Robert Schmertz won from Charles Stone by default. Malcolm Has won from J. Altman by default. George Moreland won from Charles Miller by default.

SECOND ROUND

Upper half, Leonard Reed won from Robert Schmertz by default. Edgar Alcorn defeated W. H. Spindler, 6-2, 6-3. Charles Bond defeated Burwell Cummings, 6-2, 6-3.

Lower half, Dr. David L. O'Loughlin defeated A. J. Brooks, 6-2, 6-0. William E. Thompson defeated A. A. Bialas, 8-6, 2-6, 8-6. McCook Reed defeated C. S. Mails, Jr., 6-0, 4-6, 6-1. Stewart Snodgrass defeated Charles J. Ramsburg, 7-5, 6-2. Frank S. McClintock defeated Dr. Charles H. Cochran, 8-6, 6-0. Sam Harbison defeated H. M. Rinehart, 6-2, 6-2. Frank S. Smith defeated Jack Evans, 6-2, 6-4.

THIRD ROUND

D.-E. Grid Stars Get Coaching Jobs

ELKINS, W. Va., June 23.—(AP.)—Alvin Wagner, of St. Paul, Minn., a member of this year's graduating class at Davis and Elkins, will coach the Walkerville District High School next year. Wagner was a backfield star on the college football team for four years.

MARKS TOPS SCHOOL FIELD

GREENWICH, Conn., June 23.—(AP.)—Wilson Marks, of Kiski School of Saltsburg, Pa., scored a 77 over the links of the Greenwich Country Club yesterday to lead the field for the first 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying round of the eastern interscholastic golf tournament.

Marks' 77 was a stroke better than Charles Mayo, Jr., of St. Paul's School, medalist last year. William Chapin, of Lawrenceville (N. J.) School, was third, with 79. The only other score that broke 80.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, June 23.—Reaction was the outstanding characteristic of the bond market today. However, the downward movement was not uniform. A fairly large number of issues were either steady or firm. Activity decreased noticeably.

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column; United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars:

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Decline — Local Market Steady

STOCK MARKET LIST RECEDES MODERATELY

Prices Decline at Start, Rally for Time Only to Turn Off After Midday

NEW YORK, June 23.—(AP.)—Today was largely a day of anti-climax in the financial markets, as they calmed down after the bullish spree in celebration of the proposal of a foreign debt holiday.

The action in prices, however, was moderate, in view of the violence of the advance of the past two sessions, and in the New York stock market the copper shares managed to extend their advance. Trading dwindled to moderate proportions.

The day in stocks began here with declines of a point or two, despite further strength in London and Berlin. The market rallied for a time in the morning, but turned very heavy after midday. Losses of 2 or 3 points appeared in such issues as American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Westinghouse and J. I. Case.

On the whole, the action of the stock market was in keeping with expectations. There is an inclination in brokerage circles to expect the market to settle down to a narrow trading range for a time, pending quarterly dividend and earnings announcements. There are several important dividend meetings this week. Tomorrow's include Westinghouse Electric, Baltimore and Ohio, Delaware and Hudson and Pennsylvania Railroad.

After yesterday's export sales of 11,000,000 pounds, the price of copper was marked up today from 8 to 8¼ cents, as foreign buying continued in good volume.

The action of the Interstate Commerce Commission in asking the railroads to file particulars as to their proposals for a revision of freight rates was interpreted at first glance as threatening considerable delay in granting relief, but Chairman Pelley, of the eastern committee, dispelled anxiety on that score, explaining that this action had been expected, and the particulars probably would be filed within 15 days.

Local credit conditions were a little easier, with some call money offered at 1 per cent outside, while the official rate held at 1½. The flight of capital from Berlin appeared to have been checked at last, and the Bank for International Settlements was understood to be assisting the Reichsbank through purchases of German acceptances. It was disclosed at the Federal Reserve that no credit had been requested here as yet.

Indiana Standard In Oil Agreement

NEW YORK, June 23.—Four oil companies, headed by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, have entered into an agreement to pool development and producing operations on a 1,000-acre tract of proved land in East Texas, reports in Wall street said. The Standard Oil and Gas Company, subsidiary of Standard of Indiana; Continental Oil Company, Simms Petroleum Company and possibly the Atlantic Refining Company were said to have completed negotiations for unitization of their properties in Northern Gregg and Southern Upshore Counties.

Northern Pacific To Show Decline

CHICAGO, June 23.—Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific, said there has been no change in business conditions throughout the railroad's territory and May revenues will show a decrease of about $1,414,000 from the $6,667,880 reported last year. Net operating income, he said, will be about $40,000, compared with $560,189 in May last year.

Use of U. S. Cotton Drops During May

NEW YORK, June 23.—The world used approximately 943,000 bales of American cotton in May, compared with 1,026,000 in the corresponding month last season, the New York Cotton Exchange Service reports. Total consumption during the 10 months ended May 31 was about 9,285,000 bales, against 11,261,000 bales in the like period last year.

Loans Have Decreased For 9 Consecutive Weeks

Decreases in brokers' loans have been shown now for nine consecutive weeks. In this period the total has dropped $430,000,000, or 23.2 per cent, from $1,849,000,000 on April 15 to $1,419,000,000, the new low record just reported. Even more impressive is the fact that in the last 53 weeks there have been 40 decreases, 12 increases and one week with no change. The drop in this period was $2,579,000,000, or 64.5 per cent, or from $3,998,000,000 to the latest figure.

These figures seem to indicate that a tremendous amount of deflation has been going on, confirming the belief in some quarters that in the recent few weeks many stocks may have been passing into stronger hands. While these influences are admittedly constructive, they may not be felt until other vital considerations, such as the business trend, are of a more cheerful nature.

Briggs, aided by orders for the new Plymouth models, has been increasing its working force and plant activities recently. Reports have it that Briggs will supply all the bodies for this new car. Predictions have been made that earnings in the current quarter will better those for the preceding three months when net equaled 2 cents a share. It is maintained that the declaration of the regular 37½ cents dividend a few days ago was a reflection of the management's confidence regarding the immediate outlook, despite prospects of a reduction in automobile production generally.

Many important dividend meetings will be held in the next week or so and the street is quietly waiting to see what form the actions will take. If there are some unexpected developments in this connection doubtless the stock market may be affected for a time. By far the most important of these meetings will be that of Westinghouse Electric, the directors of which are scheduled to meet on Wednesday. There has been much speculation in the financial district for weeks regarding the action to be taken on this stock.

Judging from various comments made in the past few days, many market observers are of the opinion that the latest market recession may be the result of an early attempt to discount publication of poor earnings reports for the second quarter. The general view is that many of the statements will be unsatisfactory because of the lull in business during the period. In the past the market often discounted such developments when they were known far in advance. Consequently, when the actual news became public the market acted much better than most interests anticipated. This situation may be repeated in the current instance.

One of the conservative observers in a commission house expresses the belief that the principal characteristic of the market during the summer will be its ability to stand up under adverse developments and to ignore news which ordinarily might have had a depressing effect. He believe that the market is entering a typical accumulating stage, which necessarily will be dull. However, he avers, the ground work will be laid for an upswing starting some time during the summer and running, possibly, throughout the fall.

Piggly Wiggly Signs Big Store Contract

CINCINNATI, June 23.—The Piggly Wiggly Corporation, a subsidiary of Kroger Grocery-Baking Company, has completed arrangements with the Almar Stores Corporation whereby Almar is given exclusive rights to operate Piggly-Wiggly stores in 1,000 of its units in the metropolitan district of Philadelphia and eight surrounding counties in Pennsylvania, and in 11 counties in Central and Southern New Jersey.

BROKERS' VIEWS ON MARKET

Redmond & Co.—World sentiment appears to have undergone such a sudden and complete metamorphosis as a result of America's latest move on reparations that it is difficult to determine how far this enthusiasm will carry in the world's speculative markets. At the close on Monday, it looked as though the rally would carry further, but the very rapidity of the advance suggests the need of caution in following the rally from this level. Accumulation of powerful financial interests in anticipation of bull markets never takes place in such markets as we witnessed Saturday and Monday.

Hornblower & Weeks — We continue to believe that the risk involved in holding stocks already owned is warranted on the assumption that the market has already seen its lows for some time to come. Although it is not to be expected that the recovery from here out will continue at the rapid pace witnessed during the short session Saturday and again yesterday, we do feel that any corrective movement will not carry beyond technical proportions and would be inclined to hold stocks carried down through the recent decline or bought during the early phase of the current advance.

Hemphill, Noyes & Co. — It must be appreciated that the world can not get back on its feet immediately and a certain amount of caution seems necessary at this point in the purchase of stock. But there is no escaping the fact that at last the greatest brains in the world today are making a concerted effort to solve world problems and a real start has been made. Apparently, the market had overdiscounted unfavorable factors and we look for a calmer viewpoint from now on.

C. D. Halsey & Co.—There was no indication at the close last night that the momentum will not carry prices somewhat higher before sufficient resistance is encountered to arrest the advance. However, the enthusiasm brought about by the recent news cannot be expected to continue indefinitely, and there is no doubt that the fundamental factors which have been dominating public opinion will soon reassert themselves. The best that can be hoped for when present rallying has exhausted itself is that the market establish a new trading area.

A. E. Masten & Co.—From a technical angle, it may reasonably be argued that the heavy covering activities of the past two sessions has, to some extent, weakened the market's internal structure, leaving the way open for the development of a normal technical setback. While we lean to this view and suggest profit-taking in the expectation that a subsequent decline will provide attractive re-purchasing levels. We feel that such dips as do develop will not gather serious momentum and will invite the employment of substantial investment funds.

ROADS TO FILE I. C. C. ANSWER

"The railroads anticipated the Interstate Commerce Commission order to furnish exceptions to the 15 per cent rate restoration petition. The railroads are engaged in preparation of their answer to the commission, and it is my opinion that it will be filed within the prescribed 15 days. It is too early to predict what commodities will be eliminated from the proposed general rate increase.

"Eastern, western and southern rail executives will meet in Chicago tomorrow to speed the carriers' answer to the Interstate Commerce Commission."

PRICE OF LEAD RAISED AGAIN

NEW YORK, June 23.—The American Smelting and Refining Company has advanced the price of lead 15 points to 4.15 cents a pound. This follows an advance of 25 points yesterday.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Export copper price has been advanced ¼ cent a pound to 8.525 cents, and the domestic price ¼ cent a pound to 8¼ cents.

Moderate tonnage of copper was obtained in the forenoon yesterday at 8 cents delivered, but in the late afternoon, under stimulus of insistent demand, it was impossible to buy copper for domestic shipment under 8¼ cents a pound delivered.

ST. LOUIS, June 23.—Prime western zinc had advanced to 3.40 to 3.45 cents a pound. East St. Louis, from 3.35 cents at the close of last week.

BOSTON, June 23.—General Cable Corporation has advanced bare copper wire ¼ cent to 10 cents a pound in carload lots.

STOCK SALES

HOOVER-SMOOT TALK SILVER

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Senator Smoot, accompanied by four silver producers from Utah, discussed the silver situation with President Hoover today. The Senator would not comment on the nature of the discussion, but it is thought probable that he may have also urged calling of an international silver conference. Last week Senator King of Utah urged the President to call such a conference.

NEW PACKARD CARS

New in design · New in performance · New in luxury

Old only in distinguished name, in adherence to the simplest principles of motor design, and in refusal to give up the characteristic beauty of line that has long spelled "Packard", the new Packards are new in everything else. Longer in wheelbase, wider in tread and with new frames! Such foundation changes make newness a necessity throughout.

Bodies have been redesigned for greater beauty, strength and luxury. They are now most thoroughly insulated against heat, cold and noise. Freshly upholstered and trimmed, with new pillow-top cushions, their interior loveliness will appeal to all.

The new Vee radiator provides an identifying mark of smartness. The new bonnet houses a more powerful motor, floated in rubber, and one that only purrs in its quietness. Out of the richest experience in the industry, Packard continues to present the simplicity and economy of eight-in-line design and in doing this challenges any other type on any score.

Outstanding among the many new features is Ride Control—shock absorbers adjustable from the dash to meet any road, speed, load or temperature condition. Now, instantly, you can have just the kind of ride you like best. At last, true luxury in motoring! Ride Control, the newest and most appreciated thing in motoring, is to be had only in Packard cars.

You will appreciate the four-speed synchro-mesh transmission as Packard builds it. You will marvel at the action of the Stabilizers built into the bumpers of the larger cars. You will enjoy, and we mean this most literally, the exploration of the new Packard for its many new features.

Again, come and see the new cars. Ride in them and drive them yourself and then compare them with all other cars. In spending your motoring dollar when dollars mean more, why not have the car of tomorrow instead of any car of yesterday?

Next Monday night, June 29th, Packard will present for the first time on the air GERALDINE FARRAR, famous Metropolitan soprano, beginning a series of Monday evening radio recitals in honor of its new cars.

The Packard Eight is offered in thirteen beautiful body styles — the Packard Eight DeLuxe in twelve. Prices at the factory range from $2185 for the Packard Eight Five-Passenger Sedan to $4550 for the Packard Eight DeLuxe Convertible Sedan for five.

NEW GOALS SET FOR BUSINESS LEADERS

Use of Modern Industry To Offer Masses Better, Cheaper Products Urged

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The real curse of depression is that it breeds despair and defeatism.

A proper use of the modern social tools of industry depends on a crusading confidence in the capacity of modern business to bring material blessings to peoples everywhere.

In its deflated stage, modern business needs to be Kiplingized or romanticized all over again. James D. Mooney, vice president of the General Motors Corporation in charge of overseas operations, has essayed this role in co-operation with Alan C. Reiley, retired advertising manager of the Remington Typewriter Company.

Mr. Rukeyser

In a personal foreword to their joint new volume entitled "Onward Industry," Mr. Mooney outlines now goals for business men. There is a note of practical idealism behind his energizing trade doctrines.

HIGHER LEVEL

The thesis is that modern industry for the first time in history offers to the average man the promise of being raised above a life of privation and squalor.

"The final task of industry is to organize participation in these activities, even in the most backward communities and countries, through which alone can purchasing capacity be created and extended. Such participating activities have hitherto been regarded by industrial management simply as operating necessities. Their higher necessity, as the only means through which markets and true industrial service can be extended, will be considered. . . . "Industry must seek profits, but such profits can come legitimately only through some form of human service. It is of historical record that throughout the ages prior to the advent of the inrustrial era the great masses of humanity lived in what, according to advanced modern standards, was the extreme of want, privation and wretchedness.

ADVANCE SEEN

"It is reasonable expectation that large organizations will continue to advance in their technique of production and distribution and thus make goods available at ever decreasing price levels. There is thus a true inspiration in the prospect of offering the masses of the world better food, better clothing, better shelter and more of the comforts and even the luxuries of life.

"Here then is the inspiration, and here, too, is the challenge to industrial and commercial leaders. Our machines, our tools, our technique, are all available. But can we supply the elements that will accelerate the movements of large human groups toward these objectives; toward these better standards of living?"

Attorney-at-Law,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

In the District Court of the United States for the Western District of Pennsylvania, in the matter of Colonial Candy Company, a corporation, bankrupt, No. 16411 in bankruptcy.

ORDER OF COURT

And now, to-wit, June 19, 1931, the foregoing petition having been presented in open court upon consideration thereof, and on motion of M. L. Avner, Esq., Attorney for Petitioner, it is hereby ordered, adjudged and decreed that a meeting of the creditors of the Old Colonial Candy Company, a corporation, and the within alleged bankrupt, be called at the office of Watson B. Adair, Referee in Bankruptcy, 1230 Nicholas Bldg., Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on the 7th (seventh) day of July, 1931, at two (2) o'clock p. m., eastern standard time, for the allowance of claims, the examination of said alleged bankrupt, the presentation by said alleged bankrupt of its offer of terms of composition to its unsecured creditors, and the taking of a vote of creditors upon the composition offer there to be submitted; that the said Referee shall preside at said meeting, and within four (4) days after said meeting shall have been held, shall report to this Court the claims of creditors allowed by him, the terms of the composition there offered, and the action of said creditors upon the said offer of composition, his findings and conclusions upon all matters and all proceedings had before him in said matters, and the said Referee, if the said terms of composition shall have been accepted by the requisite number of creditors, shall file with said report of creditors, if any represented at said meeting, that the terms of composition will be presented to this Court for final confirmation on the 27th day of July, 1931, at 10:00 a. m., eastern standard time.

It is further ordered that notice of this Order shall be given by the Clerk of this Court by mailing a copy thereof to each of the creditors and by publishing a copy thereof in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and in the Pittsburgh Legal Journal, as provided by law.

PER CURIAM.

Gratton Voices Views of Jennifer to Rarick

(This famous story has been made into a talking picture by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer with Marion Davies in the leading role.)

CHAPTER XL.

There came the time, in one of those tall, somber twilights, the kind that Rarick loved as they came stalking as if on stilts into the voultings of his library, when the pile of his writings, which he had kept stacked in a high and shaggy manuscript on a side-table, was replaced by a single piece of typewritten paper, held in place by a paper weight of alleged B. C. limestone, in cursive Egyptian writing.

At 5 o'clock Gratton Davies, who had walked his wire-haired terrier up a twilit Fifth avenue, vaulted the snowless stoop of the house with the Campanile doors, gave over his dog to the keeping of Peacock, and was promptly admitted to the presence of Rarick.

"I am glad you sent for me, sir," said Gratton.

"Sit there."

"Shall I remove this array of lapidarian loot of yours?" he said, as, seating himself, his arm brushed a ring of Pectunculus shell and sent it scurrying toward the hearth.

"Say, that's an aquamarine there, isn't it? My birthstone."

He scooped the stones into his hand, pouring them into Rarick's. "I once had a pretty fine pair of aquamarine cuff-links. Traded them for an Oxford Dictionary. I'm a great trader, Mr. Rarick. Belong back in the days when men bartered merchandise. Must seem strange to a man like you, who has built his fortune on the modern rudiments of big business.

"I'll trade my aquamarine cuff-links for an Oxford Dictionary much more quickly than for cold cash. That disqualifies me, doesn't it, as too unimaginative for business?"

"Perhaps you do yourself an injustice. One of the most outstanding business dickers of all time was that of a soul in exchange for a mess of pottage."

SPEAK ABOUT AVERY

"That is one kind of trade I don't expect to fall for, Mr. Rarick."

"I believe that."

"What is it you want most out of life, anyway, Gratton?"

"That's a large order. You mean it in specific relation to what you've sent for me about, or—"

"Rather."

"Good! But before we get to it, there is something I have wanted to say to you ever since it happened. I tried to put it into a message at the time. No one could understand better, Mr. Rarick, what the death of your son means to you than I.

"It's because, of course, I realize the workings of that boy so well. I fought his same kind of losing fight back in those years; only, where he went through the door, I managed to jump back. I—won't bore you; but I could have been that boy of yours, Mr. Rarick—I think I know what his kind of aloneness meant, and the kind of black waters it can put between even those who need most desperately to clutch to one another—well, I know what it means—I know Avery—"

"Yi." He had wanted to say "Yes."

DESTINATIONS

"Avery wasn't able to swim across to you, and you didn't see his hands go up for the third time. I made my swim to an island of sanity. I've clung to it ever since. Avery couldn't—make it— You would have been his island . . . ."

"A thought like that helps one to keep on living."

"Well, anyway, Mr. Rarick, that's out of my system. I've spilled it like a ton of coal. But I've always felt strangely entitled to say it to you. Now, to get back to what I want out of life. Don't know as I've ever thought of that concretely, but I suppose I'm rank enough hedonist to ask nothing more than a certain ability to create within myself, and in turn endow, a certain amount of happiness. Why do you ask?"

"I have always thought of you as a young man who knows precisely where he is going."

"I haven't always known that, I do now. As I tried to tell you a moment ago, my feet haven't always been on the ground. They are now. I may not reach my destination, but I am hell-bent for it."

"I like that. Chiefly because most of my life I have always been hell-bent for a destination that I've never cared whether I reached or not."

"Strange, to hear you, who would seem to have reached a high peak of destination that few men achieve, say that."

"We won't discuss that. The point of interview is a strange one, Gratton. I am informed by my daughter, that you, to use her own picturesque phrasing, do not care a tinker's dam for her. That interests me. I want to know why."

"Now, look here," said Gratton, without surprise, but unfolding a knee and sitting forward, "aren't you accepting evidence without hearing both sides?"

"That is what I intend to do now."

"I don't know just what your daughter may have told you, but it is just possible, considering the amount of adulation that has been Jennifer's since you brought her into an ornate world, that the slightly tempered qualities I bring to bear upon our friendship may by token of comparison, appear frigid to your high-handed young daughter."

HIS INTENTIONS

"I don't know by what metric system you weigh up tinker's dams, but I do know that my regard for your daughter is quite unrelated to a tinker's approbrium."

"Am I to understand, Mr. Rarick, that the young man is being asked his intentions?"

"It is embarrassing and astute for you to put it that way. As a matter of fact, however, you are being asked just that. Your intentions."

"To remain, I hope, in so far as it going to be possible, one of your daughter's well-wishing friends."

"I see. I suppose you are aware, Gratton, that my daughter entertains a disturbing set of feelings toward you."

"On those occasions when that fact does seem more or less apparent, it is embarrassing to one who is so keenly on to himself as I am."

"I see. I'm sorry. Jennifer likes me, Mr. Rarick. I'd be a fool not to see it. She may be in love for the first time in her life, if you will permit me to say so, both of us knowing Jennifer as we do, with some one besides herself."

"No doubt of it. That is my justification for opening this subject with you."

"That being the case, her being in love is no special tribute to me, but rather to herself. Jennifer, of course, thinks otherwise. She has told me, bless her funniness, that her self-esteem is being enormously bolstered by the fact that she likes me. That is poppycock. A big sweeping energy like Jennifer, intelligent, gregarious creature that she is, must have outlet."

"But?"

"I hate like the devil to say it to you, particularly since it does not convey to you to what extent I am in danger of being in love with your daughter, but Jennifer does not quite come through, Mr. Rarick."

"It's fine of you to be this honest."

HIS VIEWS

"One of the reasons I have tried not to see much of Jennifer since her return from her cruise, Mr. Rarick, is practically an admission of my own weakness. She fascinates and amuses and delights me more than any other woman I have ever known. She is full of the power to be pretty nearly everything she is not . . ."

"Right."

"On the other hand, she is arrogant and without a certain type of pity. She is sophisticated without taking the time to use her fine brain to be wise. She is super-critical without being profound. She is without great accomplishment and intolerant of others. She has a genuine intellectual curiosity, but pretends to despise what she and the rest of her set term 'highbrow.'"

"Perhaps. I do despise the picture of Jennifer and her set. It has always been a facetious credo of mind, Mr. Rarick, that great personal wealth, even fabulous wealth like yours, is a maligned institution and that in private fortunes there lurks great power for good. In my heart, though, I am coming not to believe it.

"The very things I despise in Jennifer are the things great wealth should have corrected in her and somehow didn't. Look at this room. Kings, artists, dreamers, contrived its magnificence for her. This home. Beauty, prodigality, dignity, peace, and out of this conspiracy of the so-called better things of life has come a flimsy Jennifer caring passionately about few of the things that make life so passionately worth living. Hang it. If I were not so afraid that it would mean that I am dangerously near loving her, I would hate her."

"I think I see clearly everything you have said."

"You can't. Diametrically different as you are in some things, you and Jennifer are fundamentally alike in others. She's yours."

DAILY SHORT STORY

'Have It Your Way'

Luck Is With Detective in Capturing Murderer

Creighton was one of the cleverest detectives who ever laughed over detective stories—and as all real detectives do laugh at them, this gives you an idea of Creighton's talents.

He might have gone with the Whitington agency or with Hearns, but he liked the department. He had started out as a rookie cop, showed talents in running down petty crooks and went into the plainclothes branch.

For 10 years he had been an under-cover man.

Mighty few people, outside of the big shots at headquarters, suspected that the somewhat scholarly dressed tall thin man with the pince nez glasses and black ribbon knew any more about the detective business than could be gleaned from newspapers and detective story magazines.

George Munson had left the box party at the opera and gone down to his office in a taxi. The night elevator man took him up, and wondered why he remained there so long.

He then got hold of the night watchman and discussed it.

INVESTIGATION STARTED

"Send Creighton," he ordered, and added: "No, I'll get him myself."

Examination showed a few things, such as Mr. Munson's fingerprint on the little button that opened the gate into the cashier's office, and a mark on the tall safe where someone had started to drill. The mark of the drill showed that whoever started it knew just where to drill to be able to make the easiest approach to the apparatus controlling the tumblers in the rather old-fashioned combination lock.

There was no weapon to be found. No powder marks about the bullet wound.

Further investigation disclosed that Munson had excused himself from his friends and said that he would be gone no more than 15 minutes. Munson's finances were at the very peak of affluence, his health excellent, his family affairs without a ripple of unpleasantness.

"He was going to get money. Perhaps his friends were planning a stiff poker game later," Creighton said.

This Munson's friends admitted to be true so far as planning a poker game was concerned.

"Some pete man was starting to crack the can when Munson came in, so he let him have it and beat it. There are rubber sole marks on some of the stairs. He could have done a sneak in and used the stairs easy enough. The watchman uses the elevator."

POOR CLUES

Creighton said a lot more, but this was the gist of it.

Munson's partners were no help. But they said openly that they intended to put the very best detectives on the job, real detectives from a great private agency.

Creighton made one more discovery after this. A young clerk went to headquarters and explained that he had been out with a certain woman, a married woman. They took a taxi up to that corner and dismissed the man and stepped into the doorway of this block to wait and talk a while and get another taxi as they were afraid they were being trailed. They saw a tall thin man enter. He had a brief-case under his arm. This might help the police. He didn't want the woman brought in, but if necessary he could arrange it. The clerk said he wanted to do what was right.

Creighton talked to the woman because he knew her eyes would see more, she had more to risk, she would look first to see if the man were her husband.

She said the man was tall and thin and hugged a brief-case under his arm. He startled them, for they didn't see him until he was right on them and his feet made no noise.

Creighton got a car the next day and toured around in the hills, especially around the lakes and streams. He figured that the man, the guilty man, was afraid he had been recognized and would go into hiding.

He passed a small camp on a wood road and saw a tall thin man going in. Creighton came back that afternoon, wrapped his left hand in a bandage, broke one of the spring holders on his old car and stopped at this camp. It had started to rain.

The tall man invited him in. The rain proved to be a downpour. The man said he had just arrived and hadn't been fishing. This rain would spoil the fishing for a couple of days. Creighton gave him a phony story and told about the broken spring holder.

WRONG TRAIL

"I could fix it if I hadn't sprained my wrist, but I can't hold my drill to make a new hole," Creighton explained.

The man said he'd help him after the cloudburst of rain stopped and invited him to have luncheon. He opened a closet door to get out some provisions. Creighton saw a black brief case in there!

Later he went out with Creighton, examined the car, said that it was a new break and asked how he could help.

"Take this and make a hole right there," Creighton said, marking the spot.

He was a flop—he couldn't work the drill, he couldn't hold the point steady or scarcely make an impression.

It contained some manuscripts. A hasty glance showed them to be detectives stories. There was a portable typewriter at the bottom of the closet. Creighton came back with the fat. The man had made a bungling start and then broke the small drill.

"You're not much of a machinist," Creighton said.

"I can fix typewriters—I'm a writer. I write airplane thrill stories, Western bad-men stories and detectives stories just now. I was never in an airplane, never west of Columbus, O., and never met a detective. But these pulppaper editors buy my stories and cry for more. Say, why not take some wire and tie that up until you get to a garage?

Creighton said that it was a good idea.

He was disgusted.

He went in to wash up and the tall thin man showed him some magazines with his name in the tables of contents, "Jasper Parker."

When Creighton drove away he was disappointed and ugly.

It had seemed to him that he had tumbled on to the right man, tall, thin, dark, and the black brief-case, but he doubted if any pete man who would shoot on sight would be the sort of a man able to get up such a perfect omelette and luncheon. And he was sure that no pete man could possibly handle tools so awkwardly.

The initials on the brief-case and the detective story typed manuscripts with the author's name clinched it.

"Tell the commissioner that Mr. C. called," Creighton said, "and that it's a flop—nothing doing."

Creighton was having his car repaired. A shambling man was sent over to do the job. He looked over the broken part.

He got it. Then he drilled the hole and asked where the eighth-inch bolts were. He asked where a half-dozen other tools were.

A LUCKY CATCH

The school has stopped there. Creighton had an idea. He whispered to a boy, "Lend me this just a minute. I won't even open it. I want to play a joke" and he gave the lad a quarter.

The man's eyes poped, he turned as if to run and reached for his pocket at the same time.

He got the Commissioner.

"Too bad you got a wrong trail, but keep after it," the Commissioner said.

"I was just kidding your secretary, Commissioner; didn't want it to get out. I've got my man up here at Crag Lake manacled to a big truck," Creighton said. "Isn't that luck?"

"Luck? Hell, no, Creighton; it's brains—just brains," the pleased Commissioner said.

"Have it your way, Chief," answered Creighton.

American Taxpayers Should Not Be Asked to Pay Any Further the Price of European War Frenzy, Says Hearst

The following article was written in reply to questions submitted to Mr. Hearst last week by a representative of the London Daily Express on general topics, including America's stand on war debts revision, American high tariffs, American gold hoarding and the effect of the present crisis on the capitalistic system.

The answers to the questions were not what the Daily Express desired, and consequently, they were not printed.

In fact, nothing is printed in European countries these days which might possibly interfere with the marvelous opportunity now offered Europe, through debt reduction, to dip into the American pocketbook.

America, for no sufficient reason, entered into this European war, violating the injunction of our great president, George Washington, to keep free from foreign entanglements.

America paid her own way in this European war. America, through cancellation of debits due her by foreign nations incurred for their expenses in the war, paid a great part of the cost of the war to these foreign nations, although, I repeat, the war was not our war, but their war and their customary kind of war, inspired by envy and hatred, and waged for purposes of greed and aggression.

EUROPEAN nations and their bankers now come forward with a proposal for further "revision of war debts"—which means nothing more nor less than that Americans shall be asked to pay still more of the cost of a war which was not their war, and that foreign nations which precipitated the war shall be still further relieved of the costs and consequences of their evil and unholy war habit.

I say that American taxpayers have enough taxes to pay on obligations they have already incurred, and that they should not be asked to pay any further the price of European war frenzy, and that any American politician who asks them to pay for past European wars or supply funds for future European wars should be impeached by the Congress of the United States and tried for treason to his people and his country.

This plan for revision of war debts with America paying the piper while war-mad Europe dances, is purely a plan of international bankers, who make money through commissions out of spoliation of their countrymen. One of these bankers wrote me the whole plan months before it was made public and asked my support of it.

I refused support, and I pledge unending opposition to this plan to plunder the American people in the interests of foreign nations, for which most of these international bankers are financial agents.

The international bankers and unpatriotic politicians who openly propose this plan to despoil America to secure for themselves a share in the spoils, are sure to learn in a way that they will never forget that Americans are not the dupes they are supposed to be.

AMERICAN citizens, although they would gladly see England pay less and France pay more, will refuse to have any additional burdens piled upon themselves, and will see to it that the unscrupulous politicians who propose such an injustice are properly penalized for their unpatriotic plans.

I, for one, subscribe wholly and heartily to the patriotic declaration of Mr. Coolidge, who denounced this scheme for the outrageous piece of robbery and snobbery that it is.

The American people want a vigorous American in the White House, and they are going to have one—either a Coolidge or a Roosevelt.

Not all the subsidies of foreign nations, lavishly spent in American politics by international bankers, are going to prevent American voters from electing the next time an American president who will stand staunchly for the interests of his own country and the welfare of his own people first, last and all the time.

AMERICA has a high protective tariff because she wants it and thinks it is to her advantage. England has free trade because she wants it and thinks it is to her advantage. Neither country is so altruistic as to regulate her tariff policy for the benefit of other countries. Personally, I believe in a tariff, but with reciprocity agreements with other countries for mutual advantage.

Let us not be hypocrites and assume that any countries are actuated by any motive except individual or mutual advantage.

Personally, I believe that the British empire should have free trade between its component parts, but an imperial tariff to protect the empire against foreign competition. The English, as well as Americans, have a high standard of living to defend. The imperial tariff, like the United States' tariff, could and should be modified by reciprocity agreements with other nations for mutual advantage. But if the British empire has no tariff, it cannot take advantage of reciprocity agreements and secure foreign markets. England would be better employed in improving her own industrial and trade conditions instead of complaining because America is trying to improve hers.

AMERICA is not hoarding gold to any large extent—not to the extent that France is. So, if hoarding gold is to be advanced as a reason for canceling debts, why does not France cancel the German debt? But oh, no! France does not cancel any debts and DOES NOT PAY ANY.

She piles up gold and has more gold per capita than any nation in the world because she keeps everything that comes in and allows nothing to go out—not even her honest debts to the nation which kept her from becoming a subordinate province of the German empire.

One of our most able and most patriotic and most beloved statesmen—a man who may be president and who would make a good one—said to me the day before I left America:

"You will find that the great trouble with Europe is that FRANCE IS STILL MAKING WAR ON GERMANY. The Versailles treaty was not a peace treaty as far as France is concerned. It was merely the betrayal of her enemy into her hands."

There will be no peace in Europe until France is compelled to cease creating wars.

LET the international bankers, I say, become upset over this menace to the peace of the world and the prosperity of the world. Here is a nation preparing every day to plunge the world again into war to destroy more of the wealth of the world, to create further and more aggravated conditions of exhaustion and depression, to devastate Europe as it was devastated after the Hundred Year War, and to interfere with the prosperity of EVERY nation, for nations are mutually dependent in their prosperity one upon another.

Here is a nation which should be haled before the high court of assembled nations of the world and bound over to keep the peace or suffer the violent consequences to those "that live by the sword."

Here is a bullying nation, a swaggering nation, a swashbuckling nation, which has grown rich through plunder and repudiation, and is brazenly preparing to increase its hoard to the injury of all the rest of the world through further practices of the same piratical character.

Let the international bankers be upset over THAT.

"Will present conditions end the capitalistic system?"

No. But another world war would universally and overwhelmingly end it, and would Russianize Europe and America, too, unless America had intelligence enough this time to keep out of the war. I do not know of anything else that would end the capitalistic system except, perhaps, the senseless folly of the capitalists themselves in trying to impose additional burdens upon people in times of depression and deprivation.

CERTAINLY the failure of Bolshevism in Russia is not much of a menace to capitalism. And Bolshevism is a failure—almost as much of a failure as the despotism which preceded it and almost as much of a tyranny.

There is no success in a government which does not secure liberty. The object of government, as Thomas Jefferson phrased it, is "the greatest good of the greatest number," and the greatest good is liberty. After that comes opportunity and then prosperity.

Russia has none of these; neither liberty, nor opportunity, nor prosperity. Bolshevism is a complete and a completely obvious failure.

The recent ridiculous trial of alleged conspirators in Russia was merely a perfectly plain attempt to excuse the deficiencies of Bolshevism to its own supporters, and to lay the blame for its failures upon foreign conspiracies which all except the ignorant Russian peasantry knew perfectly well did not exist.

BOLSHEVISM is not now a danger to the world. It is merely an inconvenience and annoyance. A man becomes an inconvenience by expiring on your doorstep, but he is not a danger. Bolshevism is not a peril as it exists today. But, beware of another war.

Bolshevism is bred in the blood of battlefields. Cannon fodder fertilizes the seed of anarchy. Let capitalism take care not to excite nor permit another war, and not lay further burdens upon the bent backs of an impatient people. The commissions the capitalists might secure will not pay for the disaster which will then surely overtake them.

Desperate Miners

The strikers' march on the Wildwood mine yesterday, in violation of Judge Rowand's injunction, suggests the recklessness of despair.

One man was killed and nine wounded in the battle with the deputy sheriffs. That was not surprising. It would have been surprising if there had not been casualties. The experience of many years has shown that the coal companies of the Pittsburgh district will not submit to intimidation, and that the police, when called upon to protect the mines, will not hesitate to shoot.

Additional evidence—perhaps the most significant of all—of the desperation of the strikers may be found in the active part that women are taking in the riots.

Women do not resort to such tactics unless at their wits' end. Violence is as contrary to the nature of miners' wives and their other womenfolk as it is to that of women less exposed to the rough things of life. They do not dare bullets and clubs and horses' hooves, as the strikers' women have been doing during the last few weeks, unless frenzied to the point of madness.

The casualties of yesterday may direct national attention to the seriousness of the coal situation and so lead to renewed efforts to relieve it.

Value of Police Radio

The police radio system gave an impressive demonstration of its usefulness yesterday by effecting the capture of men accused of a daring downtown holdup.

The case attracted much attention because of the spectacular quality of the crime and the quickness with which the suspects were caught after a description of the robbers' car had been broadcast.

The radio system is daily proving of service in other cases which are not so exciting, but are equally important. It is helping to recover stolen property and aiding people in trouble by getting policemen to the scene speedily.

The Sun-Telegraph takes no little pride in the fact that it sponsored the proposal that Pittsburgh adopt this system and showed how valuable it would be.

Tips for Women

A woman is still "a girl" until she begins wearing "out-sizes" and comfortable shoes, and stops wondering what color to dye her hair, each season.

* * *

* * *

A man's winter loves, like his winter hat, may be carried over from year to year; but his summer love, like his bathing suit, is just a one-season affair, and is usually faded and going to pieces before that is half over.

Why does a bachelor always feel SO sorry for a spinster, just because she hasn't got somebody as selfish and fussy as he is, to coddle, pick up after and wait up for nights?

* * *

* * *

A little applesauce, like a little liquor, may stimulate a man's love; but feeding him too much merely gives him indigestion of the vanity and makes him wonder why he should waste all his charms on a simple little thing like you.

The most useful book to give a bride is not a cook-book, but a book of philosophy.

* * *

In the average man's nature there is somewhere an odd, perverse streak, which makes him prefer a little bit of the wrong woman's love to all the right woman's devotion.

* * *

THE ASTRONOMER ROYAL

By Archibald Henderson

The astronomer royal is a fine, mouth-filling title. It inspires us with curiosity regarding the office and how it came into being. We know that the astronomer royal in Great Britain is an important official associated with Greenwich Observatory. And Greenwich Observatory, of course, is associated in our minds with the official record of exact time.

The problem of locating one's position on the ocean, of knowing where you are, has always been one of vital importance for navigators. For this purpose, it is necessary to know both latitude and longitude. The determination of latitude presented no serious difficulties of the sun at midday or of the Pole Star at night. The problem of longitude, however, presented some grave difficulties. During the century following the discovery of America, so many navigators sailed in that way that the need for determining longitude scientifically grew ever more pressing. The interest in this problem by scientists attracted the attention of Philip III of Spain, who in 1598 actually offered the huge prize of 100,000 crowns to anyone who could solve it. The Dutch, a maritime people, also felt a need for the information, and offered 30,000 florins for a solution.

The problem baffled almost all of the scientists. Galileo worked out a solution based on the occultations of the moons of Jupiter; but it was not found to be feasible in practice. It is necessary to know the time exactly in order to determine longitude; but this was before the days of chronometers. A plan was put forward to use the position of the moon among the stars, and thus locate one's position. As Bridges and Tiltman say in Master Minds and Modern Science: This plan came to the ears of Charles II of England, who was extremely interested in scientific matters, and he at once desired some of the leading scientific men of the time to examine it and see if it were practicable. The Rev. John Flamsteed was selected to inquire into it, and presently reported that the scheme was a good one but that at present there was no table of the fixed stars sufficiently reliable for the purpose. Whereupon the King appointed Flamsteed his Astronomer Royal and ordered the building of Greenwich Observatory.

Flamsteed was born in 1646, and early exhibited great precocity, especially in mathematics and astronomy. So marked were his talents that he received the appointment as astronomer royal at the age of 29. The observatory he caused to be built, extremely modest in proportions, was designed by Sir Christopher Wren. From the Royal Society and other sources he received aid, and built the instruments that were first used. It must be borne in mind that this was before the time of telescopes, as we know them; and Flamsteed's principal instrument was a mural quadrant of 50 inches radius.

This first astronomer royal had a very difficult time of it, and on the whole lived a somewhat unhappy life. He had to eke out his very small salary with earnings from teaching privately. But he labored unremittingly at his official duties. An illustration of this is the fact that, during the 30 years ending with 1689, he made no fewer than 20,000 observations, and revised the whole of the star tables then in use.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

You say he's dead,
You say so surely
"He will live no more"—
How can you know?

How can you be so sure
About the thing called Death,
When you know nothing
Of the thing called Life?
Death is no greater
Mystery than Life—
Veils shroud the living

A little while ago
You said—"He lives."
You held his hand,
But never once did you
Behold his Self.
His body was a shell,
As much a shell while living
As when dead.
The Self you loved
But hid within that form
And spoke to you
Through binding walls of flesh.

And yet you said, "He lives,"
Although you never Saw the man himself,
Nor knew from whence he came,
Nor how he lived and thought,
Nor of what secret essence
He was made.
All this was veiled in darkness—
Still—you felt he lived,
And walked, without a question,
By his side.

And though between you
There were silences,
And constant strangeness—
Deep as any grave—
You still had faith
That he was always there,
Though hidden from you
By blank walls of flesh.
THEN HAVE FAITH NOW!
If spirits can surmount
The walls of flesh,
Why should they perish
In the halls of death?
A man may leave a house
And walk, once more,
Along a trail—
And yet we do not say,
"The man is dead."

Then do not cry—
"My loved one lives no more,"
Say rather—"He has gone
"Along the trail
"To wider ventures
"And a freer air."
And put aside
Your bitterness—your tears,
You dared to love,
Dare now to pay the price,
Look down on his face
And say—"I'm glad
"We found each other
"In life's mystery—
"Glad that we knew
"The miracle of love—
"Then go, my darling,
"Go, as I shall go,
"With head held high
"On grateful memory
"And heart set on
"The greater chances
"Yet to come.
"God bless you, dear—
"Go free!
"I'll carry on."

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 23.—During the past two years New York's taxi service has made a decided spurt for the better. Before that most taxis were comparable to those kitten-powered, ram-shackle chariots flooding the boulevards of Paris.

Such cities as St. Louis, Cincinnati, Los Angeles and Chicago far excelled in taxi comfort. The New York taxi was often chauffeured by beetle-browed, insulting ruffians who looked upon every passenger as fair game. There was a definite link between them and the underworld.

Late wayfarers around the large terminals were often taken to isolated spots and beaten and robbed. The police seem to look upon their depredations with an astonishing indifference. The bespatted Grover Whalen was the first commissioner to recognize the taxi's alliance with crime.

He instituted reforms that have been continued to the present state of improvement. After midnight visitors should still select a cab carefully, choosing those over which is a supervision. This precaution often averts a dire consequence.

The most dangerous cabs are those parked around night club doors in the early morning hours. They are often manned by excriminals who specialize in "rolling drunks." The wise New Yorker walks a few blocks away from such haunts to select his cab.

There are some 30,000 taxis in New York and at the moment about 21,000 are in first class condition. A large number are comparatively new and spruce. The drivers are well dressed, keeping their vehicles clean inside and out.

* * *

A New Yorker is rarely conscious of faces along the street. They are a blur. It is largely responsible for the apparent coldheartedness of the town. The most curious yokel will after a time acquire this mask of impersonality. There is no accounting for it. Just New York.

* * *

There is fun in a prowl about a bath shop in the Grand Central region with its bottles, soaps, towelings, scales and salts to match in pastel shades. A gadget to hold your novel and turn the pages while you read. A crystal shaving stand flung up like a cenotaph, fitted with magnifying mirrors and receptacles for razors and myriad shaving accessories, flesh brushes and massage creations.

* * *

It strikes me that a bathroom should be the most comfortable spot in the home. Everything should be on hand to make the shave a leisurely morning rite. The most constructive thoughts for a business day are formed at such a time. Somehow a man is shorn of smug self-deceptions and can look at things as they are with a satisfying detachment.

As a matter of fact the nucleus for my present job was evolved from a fugitive thought while scraping my face with a razor in an uptown hotel years ago. I was still dizzy following a swift bounce from a newspaper and my melancholy reflection ran like this: "After years of working hard, here I am broke and without a job. There must be a way to make a living without work." And so I became a columnist.

* * *

Also I find a humorous nip in the window of a Lexington avenue dog shop. A mongrel puppy, with lop ears, awkward legs and amazingly long tail looks out wistfully upon passing crowds. A window card reads: "Buy me and I'll do my best to outlive the scandal in my family."

* * *

No one has the flair of Irvin Cobb for salvaging quaint philosophy and high comedy out of window shopping. Catch him in an irrelevant mood on such a pilgrimage and you'll be sliding up side streets doubling with laughter. He is at his very best before a display of fashionable riding togs.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Immortality

Some are content to think they will arise
To greet the sun again long ages hence
In distant regions and in other guise,
A part in rose-red sea-weed may entwine

But other immortality I ask;
One having source in old, familiar ways.
I would take up again the cherished task
That filled my hours in bright, earthly days.
And any heaven would be a barren place
